PARIS MAY END FINANCIAL AID FOR GERMANY

Denunciation Prevailing on Trade Protocol of Teutons.

FRANCE SEEKS VIEWS OF ENGLAND ON PACT

Italy's Entrance Is Held Possible as Balkans Mark Time.

Paris, March 24 (A.P.).—Denunciation of the commercial treaty with Germany and a decision to abstain from all financial aid, constitute the possible policy of France toward Germany if she persists in carrying out an economic pact with Austria, the Associated Press was informed tonight in official quarters.

Inquiry among diplomats accredited to France shows a prevalence of belief that the Austro-German move is one of the most important political developments since the war, embodying a possible attempt to form a central European bloc of powers just as the naval accord between France and Italy had given optimistic conviction that the war clouds of Europe had been dissipated.

It is now admitted that the French representation to Vienna has taken the form of a resolute, though "friendly," protest, and it was learned that at yesterday's meeting the French cabinet judged the affair so potentially grave that it devoted the entire session to the question.

Pact Held Inacceptable.

After receiving detailed reports of the nature of the Austro-German agreement, which is generally regarded as the first stage of a political union, France has decided, this correspondent was informed, that the agreement is entirely inacceptable.

What concrete steps will be taken will be elaborated after consultation with other powers, including especially Great Britain. Aristide Briand has begun to exchange views with the British foreign minister.

France does not accept the explanation that nations having the most favored nation treatment with Germany and Austria can not profit by this clause by having free entry for their merchandise into the two countries.

Entering Critical Period.

So strong is the feeling in France that several writers, doubtless reflecting official views, admonish readers that Europe now has entered a critical period, which recalls that at the end of the second empire when Napoleon III neglected to take notice of successive warnings.

Delegates to the Pan-European Commission studying Aristide Briand's plan for a United States of Europe today got down to the business of arranging a program for its meeting next May at Geneva. Not a word was said about the projected Austro-German customs union, although that new issue must have been uppermost in the minds of all.

Among other things they decided to admit Soviet Russia to participation in the discussion of all economic problems on the program for next May. The Free State of Danzig was admitted on the same terms at the suggestion of Poland's foreign minister.

When the German delegate supported the suggestion, it marked the first time in several years that Germany and Poland have agreed on

Calvin Coolidge Says:

The direct practical interest of the United States in the customs union of Austria and Germany can not be large. Our exports to Austria are small and her products can not interfere in any important way with our exports to Germany. Probably our legal interest is about the same as that of the allied powers, for our treaty of peace provided we should have the same rights and privileges as if we had ratified the Versailles Treaty.

It is not so easy to assess our indirect interest. Whatever disturbs the political tranquillity of Europe is injurious on this side of the Atlantic. It is not lightly to be assumed that Germany and Austria are putting a chip on their shoulders. They are entitled to the presumption of good faith. They are justified in taking any legal action to protect their joint economic interests. It is generally agreed by experts that European tariff barriers have reached the destructive point. But action in relation to them should be taken in a way not to alarm the sensibilities of others. Perhaps, before the final consummation of the union, suitable declarations will be made and guarantees given which will allay the fear that more is intended than the agreement discloses.

Sargent, Saved in Viking Blast, Describes Horror and Confusion Mingled With Groans of Injured

American, Only Member of Film Trio Located, Tells Story.

HENRY JACKSON SARGENT.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, March 24 (U.P.).—A graphic, human story of the last moments on board the shattered sealing ship Viking, destroyed by an explosion a week ago Sunday in the ice off Horse Island, was told today by Henry J. Sargent, of Boston, who was among the 29 survivors arriving here on the rescue ship Sagona.

Mr. Sargent, one of three Americans in a motion picture party on board the Viking, was the only one to return. The others were Varick Frissel, young New York explorer and film producer, and Arthur E. Penrod, cameraman. In all, 127 men were saved by rescue ships dispatched to Horse Island.

The story of the last night aboard the veteran old sealing ship, as told by Mr. Sargent, follows:

"That Sunday night between 8 and 9 p. m., I was in a cabin with Capt. Kean, Frissell, Penrod and the wireless perator. Penrod was loading a film magazine. We all were talking when the boatswain came in. He said it was a damned shame and dangerous to have powder exposed down in the powder room below.

"Turning to Frissell, he said: 'Why not paint a sign and give it to me to take down and hang in front of the

40 PERUVIAN REBELS DIE IN BRIEF REVOLT

Four-Hour Uprising in Lima Is Quelled After Wild Firing in Streets.

Lima, Peru, March 24 (A.P.).—After a brief period of peace, Lima was again under martial law tonight after loyal troops had put down a revolt of part of the Fifth Infantry Regiment late last night by directing cannon fire against the Santa Catalina Barracks. Some 40 or more rebels were killed.

The surprise uprising, which followed establishment of peace under the new Junta headed by Lieut. Col. David Samanez Ocampo, lasted four hours. The insurgents attempted to storm the palace and fired wildly into the air. A number of persons were arrested and will be summarily court-martialed.

While the purpose of the new revolution was not announced, there were numerous reports as to its aim. Some say the revolters claim not to have received their pay, while others connect the movement with activities of supporters of Augusto B. Leguia, overthrown as president last fall.

Another report is that the uprising had communistic connection. Communistic pamphlets were in the possession of several soldiers who participated in the revolt.

In announcing that all strength at hand would be used in punishing attempts at disturbances, the government decree stated that the siege also existed at Callao. It authorized loyalist forces to break up any groups of four or more persons not obeying orders to disperse.

Lieut. Col. Gustavo Jimenez, minister of war, who paved the way for the provisional presidency of Samanez Ocampo by overthrowing the government of Judge Ricardo Elias and himself heading a junta, took an active part in putting down the newest revolt. He directed the loyalist forces who shelled the Santa Catalina Barracks, an old colonial fortress, after the attackers had been repulsed from the streets leading to the palace.

The government decree said court-martials will apply the heaviest penalties possible, which will be executed immediately after sentence is pronounced.

The main attack against the palace was led by Sergts. Huapaya and Meza and other noncommissioned officers after their chief officers had been seized while at supper in the barracks. Those revolting were only the troops remaining in the old fortress as one company of the Fifth Infantry joined with the Loyalists in defending the executive mansion. All other troops of the Lima Garrison were reported to have remained loyal.

The public first became aware of the disturbance when sparse shots were heard from the southeastern side of the city at 7:30 p. m. last

Boy, 9, Forgets Speech; Gives Copy to Hoover

San Juan, P. R., March 24 (A.P.).—This was a big day in the life of Lazaro Rivera, a 9-year-old schoolboy, who was selected to make a speech of thanks to President Hoover at a rural school near Cidra, deep in the Porto Rican Mountains.

"Mr. President," he began firmly, "I want to thank you for this school, for the honor of your coming, and for—and for——"

He had forgotten his speech. He dropped his head, then looked up at Mr. Hoover, grinned and shoved an envelope into the President's hand. It was the manuscript he had prepared.

The President smiled, put his arm about the boy's shoulders, patted him on the back and thanked him for a fine reception.

HOOVER CONTINUES CARIBBEAN CRUISE

Floating White House Sails for Virgin Islands; Due at St. Thomas Today.

U. S. S. Arizona, March 24 (A.P.). Back aboard this "floating White House" at the end of a strenuous day in Porto Rico, President Hoover continued his Caribbean cruise tonight toward the Virgin Islands.

Before morning the Arizona is due at St. Thomas, but the President will not debark until after breakfast. One of the first of his activities thereafter will be a conference with Dr. Paul Pearson, the new civil governor.

Gov. Theodore Roosevelt, son of the last President to visit Porto Rico, was at the pier to bid Mr. Hoover farewell, as he left Ponce tonight. The governor had been with him all day, and was at his side when the President spoke at the new Porto Rican Capital Building.

The President heard the people cheer when he paid tribute to Porto Rican progressiveness, declaring, "I know of no finer achievement than that of the people of this island, who rose from stagnation to a high place in the march of progress in a single generation."

The $3,000,000 capitol building, where he spoke, is a "magnificent example of what a capable and intelligent people may accomplish under free institutions," the President told those who stood and sat under a hot sun in front of the capitol while he spoke.

There are grave problems still confronting Porto Rico, Mr. Hoover said, and one of these is the danger that the population may increase more rapidly than available industry may provide for.

After his address he conferred at

PARIS TO WELCOME GOOD-WILL ENVOYS

The Washington high school boy and girls winning the good-will trip to Paris and London as "Envoys of Friendship" in the contest now being conducted by the United States Flag Association, with the cooperation of The Washington Post, are assured of a hearty welcome at Paris, both by the children of France and by their parents, according to M. Paul Claudel, French Ambassador to the United States, who has added his indorsement to the plans for the trip. Boys and girls of the city's senior or junior high schools, public or private, who are 14 years of age and who will not be more than 18 on Flag Day (June 14), are eligible for the contest.

Writing to Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association, M. Claudel says:

"I was most interested to learn of the plan of the United States Flag Association to send the winners of its flag project to Europe, carrying greetings of good will from the boys and girls of America to the children of the countries visited.

"This idea of stimulating friendly feeling among the children of different nations is excellent, and will help, in a most effective way, to promote understanding and good will among the people of the world.

"I know that these youthful American messengers of friendship will be heartily welcomed by the boys and girls of France as well as by the adults, and that their friendly greetings will be sincerely reciprocated.

"I have much pleasure in sending you my heartiest good wishes in this splendid undertaking."

America's "Envoys of Friendship" will reach Paris at a time when the great International Colonial and Overseas Exposition is in full progress, and in addition to being welcomed by C. Bascom Slemp, U. S. commissioner general to this wonderful fair, will be guests of honor for one day's visit to the exposition. On the grounds of the exposition, in front of the replica of Mount Vernon, home of Washington, now being erected in America's space at the fair, the good will mass meeting will take place, at which it is expected that the "envoys" will be greeted by thousands and thousands of French children.

Burial of Pickett Widow Is Refused in Richmond

Relatives at Loss to Explain Action of Patriotic Women's Association; Body Not to Rest Beside Husband's; Remains to Be Cremated.

Plans to bury the body of Mrs. LaSalle Corbell Pickett, widow of one of the most famous figures in the South's history, beside that of her husband in Hollywood Cemtery, Richmond, were canceled yesterday following point-blank refusal of the cemtery authorities to permit the interment.

The family of Mrs. Pickett said they were at a loss to account for the refusal, word of which was received here last night in a telegram to Lieut. George E. Pickett 3d, grandson of Gen. Pickett, from the Hollywood Cemetery Co.

"Regret to advise that the Ladies' Memorial Association, who have entire jurisdiction over the soldiers' section of Hollywood Cemetery, decline to bury Mrs. Pickett beside Gen. George E. Pickett," the wire stated.

Action of the association was partially explained in a statemnt from

2 Killings Laid to Boy Accused in 100 Thefts

Missouri High School Youth Admits He Shot Pair to Death, Police Declare; Lawyer-Father Questions Son on Escapades.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 24 (A.P.).—A 16-year-old high school boy, Michael Burke, already charged with 100 St. Joseph burglaries, confessed today, county authorities announced, to the slaying of John Brown, a former peace officer, and John Fisher, Armour Packing Co. employe.

Brown, a colorful figure, who usually carried a pistol, was shot to death at his home last December 29. He had been shot, authorities said at the time, by a man who "beat him to the draw." Fisher was shot in an attempted holdup last January as he alighted from a street car with Miss Minnie Wende.

The son of Edward C. Burke, St. Joseph attorney, the youth also was quoted by Frank Kirdley, prosecutor, as having confessed today to the wounding of Harry Rash, Savannah, Mo., restaurateur, the night Brown was killed.

The prosecutor said the three shootings took place in the course of attempted holdups.

Young Burke is a high school freshman. He was arrested last Friday night as police found him burglarizing the home of Emmett J. Crouse, State senator.

For three hours Saturday he was questioned by his father, who announced his intention of "turning the light" upon the boy's crime career.

The Very Rev. P. J. Carney, of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, said he had known the youth since he was 7 years old and expressed belief the boy had "the mind of a child of 6."

A sanity hearing may be arranged.

NEW DICTATOR HINTED AS RIOT IRKS ALFONSO

Spanish King Returns to Find Shots Spattering in Madrid's Streets.

ZAMORA, REPUBLIC'S BACKER, LIBERATED

Santiago Alba, Exile Over, Calls for Convention; Paraders Wounded.

Madrid, March 24 (A.P.).—Bullets spattered in the streets of Madrid today as King Alfonso, returned only this morning from a visit to his mother-in-law in London, sat in his palace worrying over the riots which three days of liberty had brought to his capital.

These were the highlights of an exciting day:

Alcala Zamora, who proclaimed a republic last December, was released from prison under suspended sentence of six months and a day. Several of his companions in the December movement were liberated with him.

Santiago Alba Returns.

Santiago Alba, powerful Liberal leader, came home after eight years of self-imposed exile, placed himself at the head of the Constitutionalists, and in an uncompromising manifesto declared political war on Premier Aznar and called upon the king to take a vacation while a constitutional convention decides whether Spain shall remain a monarchy or become a republic.

University students here, in Salamanca and elsewhere, deserted their classrooms and police, breaking up their parades, fired into rioting groups, wounding 3 seriously and injuring 20 or 30 others.

These were the things Alfonso thought about as his men brought him reports of the day's developments. Those close to him said he was reluctant to abandon his efforts to give the nation real constitutional liberty, but in view of what three days of freedom had brought there was a possibility that he would not hesitate long to restore the iron hand of dictatorship.

30,000 in Mass Meeting.

In Valencia this afternoon 30,000 men and women gathered in a mass meeting to demand amnesty for political prisoners. There was no violence, but police had some difficulty keeping the throng under control. At Cordoba a mob of unemployed raided the groceries and butcher shops, giving battle when police rode them down. Two men were wounded and many were arrested.

Alcala Zamora, released from prison today, declared in an interview tonight that his recent experiences have not dampened his republican ardor.

"Tell the United States," he said, "that Spain will be a republic. We are not cowed and we are not afraid. Our ideals and our objective are unchanged. We will overthrow the monarchy and establish a republic sooner than many people think."

$200,000 Fire Damages Summer Home of Ryan

Roslyn, N. Y., March 24 (A.P.).—Damage estimated at $200,000 was caused by flames which today destroyed the upper part of the summer home of John D. Ryan, chairman of the board of the Anaconda Copper Mining Co. Cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Much of the furniture, which was not destroyed, was badly damaged. Large portions of valuable wood paneling also were damaged.

WHEAT MARKET UPHOLDS BOARD, HYDE DECLARES

Abandoning of Stabilizing Discounted as Factor in Price Cut.

3,000,000-BUSHEL COMMITMENT CITED

Leaders Discuss Plans for Relief in Light of Present Situation.

(Associated Press.)

The effect upon the market of the Farm Board's decision to abandon wheat stabilization operations on this year's crop was discounted yesterday by Secretary Hyde.

In a formal statement, the Secretary of Agriculture said the Chicago market was only slightly lower at the close yesterday than on Saturday, and open commitments increased nearly 3,000,000 bushels to a total of 48,689,000 bushels.

The statement said:

"There seems to be a general impression that the bottom has dropped out of wheat prices."

No Change on March.

"The fact is that the Chicago market at the close today was three-eighths of a cent lower on May wheat than it was at the close Saturday; no change whatever on March wheat; only 2½ cents on July; and 2⅛ on September. The last two futures are the new crop.

"An erroneous impression has spread due to the fact that June wheat dropped yesterday from 76½ to 67 cents, or 9½ cents in one day. This drop was due to the fact that the price of June futures had been riding along at 76½, close to the price of the stabilized futures, and, of course, had to be adjusted to levels of the next crop. The volume of trading in June is very insignificant.

"There is also an impression that the buying power on the market is declining. In futures on the new crop, open commitments today increased nearly 3,000,000 bushels to a total of 48,689,000, a high percentage increase."

Relief Plans Discussed.

Meanwhile, various farm relief proposals were discussed on Capitol Hill with Chairman Fess, of the Republican national committee, frowning upon the equalization and export debenture plans which have been urged anew to aid agriculture.

"While I am not expressing more than an individual opinion," Mr. Fess said, "I can not subscribe to the equalization fee or the debenture plan or any other that looks to increasing the surplus rather than reduction, which would inevitably aggravate the problem."

Chairman McNary, of the Senate agriculture committee, said while he felt in the past the fee plan was the most sound way of dealing with the surplus problem, he must be shown "that we have markets abroad which will take our surplus wheat before I undertake again legislation of that kind."

Market Menace Discounted.

Senator Dickinson (Republican), Iowa, chairman of the agriculture committee of four set up by the Republican national committee to disseminate pro-administration farm information in the wheat and corn belts, discounted arguments that the Federal wheat holdings constituted a menace to the market.

He said the 20,000,000 bushels were merely in the hands of a board agency, whereas before, the surplus had been held by speculators and no more wheat was facing the market than normally.

Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, contended the board should have continued its stabilization operations. Northwest farmers who raise nothing but spring wheat would be hardest hit by the decision not to buy any of the 1931 crop, he said, adding Congress should be in session to deal with farm relief and unemployment.

Senator Harris (Democrat), Georgia, said the debenture or equalization fee would be the ultimate solution. He added he preferred the debenture plan.

ANGLE PARKING BAN IS VOTED IN DISTRICT

New Act Becomes Effective in Ten Days, With Other Changes Later.

A great many of the traffic changes proposed by Dr. Miller McClintock and the Traffic Advisory Council last summer will be placed into effect before the end of this fiscal year, June 30, when the authority to initiate traffic regulations is transferred from director of traffic to the District Commissioners.

This was revealed yesterday by Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby when the Commissioners approved several of these amended regulations upon the recommendation of Traffic Director W. H. Harland. The director of traffic stated in a letter to Commissioner Crosby that other changes, as suggested by Dr. McClintock, would be submitted shortly.

Angle parking will be unlawful throughout the District at the end of ten days as the result of one of the amendments approved yesterday. This was recommended both by Dr. McClintock and the Traffic Advisory Council. Its purpose is to eliminate hazards to motorists driving along a row of parked cars and to facilitate the movement of traffic.

The parking, stopping or standing of an auto between any safety zone or loading platform and the adjacent curb or "within 25 feet of the points of the curb immediately opposite the ends of a safety zone or loading platform" were also banned.

M street, from Water street southwest to Eleventh street southeast, was declared a boulevard. Stop signs will be erected at all intersecting streets, but the speed limit will remain the same.

Because of the improvement in traffic movement resulting from the elimination of the U turn on F and G streets, the Commissioners voted to ban the same turn at intersections on the following streets: Fourteenth street, between Pennsylvania avenue and New York avenue and between Park road and Monroe street; Thirteenth and E streets northwest; Florida avenue, from Sixth to Ninth streets northwest, and U street, from Ninth to Eighteenth streets northwest.

11 Offer Blood To Save Gingell

Transfusions Are Planned for Victim of Oil-Can Explosion.

Eleven persons yesterday appeared at Emergency Hospital in response to a call for volunteers to submit to blood transfusion in an effort to save the life of J. Stanley Gingell, former deputy sheriff of Montgomery County. Seven volunteers were county policemen.

Policemen who offered their blood were Sergts. Guy L. Jones and Leroy Rodgers, Corpl. Roy Bodmer, Officers Joseph Nolte, Charles Barnes, Robert Howes, Roy Davis. Civilians who appeared were William Burrows, Rockville barber; Warner E. Pumphrey, Rockville undertaker; Francis Lyddane and Oliver H. Perry.

Mr. Gingell was seriously burned in the explosion of a coal oil can at Poolesville, which took the life of his companion, former County Policeman Lawrence Clagett, an attendant at the National Training School for Boys on the Bladensburg road.

SHELBY, BURKE TO GET HIGHER POLICE PLACES

Inspector to Be Direct Administrator of Department.

CAPTAIN TO BECOME CHIEF OF DETECTIVES

Changes Listed Following Order to Retire at 64, Effective July 1.

Inspector William S. Shelby and Capt. Frank S. W. Burke will be promoted in a change of organization in the Police Department that will accompany the retirement of an inspector and three captains as a result of an order adopted by the District Commissioners yesterday which makes compulsory the retirement of members of the Police and Fire Departments at the age of 64.

Inspector Shelby, who is ranking assistant to Maj. Henry G. Pratt, will be direct administrator of the department, relieving Maj. Pratt of many of his duties. Capt. Burke will take Inspector Shelby's position as chief of the Detective Bureau.

The retirement order does not become effective until July 1. Apart from the changes that will result from the retirement order, additional changes in the structure of the department will be made.

It is understood that the District will be separated into divisions with an inspector in charge of each division, who will be under direct supervision of Inspector Shelby.

Burke to Take Course.

Capt. Burke is one of the members of the Police Department who will be sent to the course in scientific crime detection at Northwestern University which is conducted by Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert.

When the retirement law becomes effective it will relieve Inspector William H. Harrison, Capt. Charles R. Brennerman, of the Fourteenth Precinct; Capt. J. M. Walsh of the Fifth Precinct; and Capt. J. E. Wilson, of the Ninth Precinct.

Capt. Walter Emerson, of the Thirteenth Precinct will reach the compulsory retirement age in October.

The vacancies created by Inspector Shelby's elevation and Inspector Harrison's retirement will be filled by Capt. Burke and another captain still to be selected by the Commissioners and Maj. Pratt.

In all, five captain vacancies will be made when the order becomes effective, and another vacancy will occur upon the retirement of Capt. Emerson.

From Civil Service List.

These ranks of captain will be filled from the civil service list. Those highest on the list are Lieut. J. E. Bowers, F. M. Dent, M. L. Raedy, Joseph Morgan and Acting Capt. Edward J. Kelly.

Acting Capt. Kelly has been assistant to Inspector Shelby for several months and will retain the same position and acting captaincy as assistant to Capt. Burke when he takes charge of the Detective Bureau.

Inspector Shelby was appointed to the force January 12, 1902. He was made a sergeant in July, 1917, and was promoted to acting lieutenant in February, 1919, and six months later was given the full rating of lieutenant.

During this time he organized the police school. In February, 1922, he was made captain and placed in charge of the Eleventh Precinct. After serving there for one month he was made an administrative assistant to the superintendent.

In Charge of Bureau.

In August, 1911, he was promoted to acting inspector and two years later was made inspector. In 1927 he was elevated to the rank of assistant superintendent and was placed in charge of the Detective Bureau in April, 1929.

Capt. Burke was appointed to the department in July, 1902. In July, 1917, he was made acting sergeant and was given the full rank six monthhs later. In September, 1924,

Son Here Wins Court Fight To Control Leiter Millions

English Heirs Lose 8-Year Battle as Chicago Decision Upholds Joseph as Trustee for $30,000,000 Estate Amassed by Former Marylander.

Chicago, March 24 (A.P.).—Control of the late Levi Leiter's millions remains in the United States.

The appellate court today upheld Joseph Leiter's right to serve as trustee of the $30,000,000 estate of his merchant-prince father, turning back the demand of British nobility heirs that he be ousted for mismanagement.

Representing many pages of Burke's peerage, the appellants from Judge Dennis Sullivan's superior court approval of Leiter were his sister, Lady Marguerite Hyde, Countess of Suffolk and Berks; Lady Cynthia Mosley, the Baroness of Ravensdale, and Lady Alexandra Metcalf, daughters of the late Mary Leiter Curson; another sister and wife of the former Viceroy of India.

Throughout the eight years of litigation over control of the millions amassed in Chicago merchandising he was placed in charge of the police school.

In July, 1926, he was made lieutenant as liaison officer for the Civil Service Commission and also made special investigations.

In April, 1929, he was made captain and was placed in charge of the Second Precinct. He served only two days in this capacity and he was shifted to the First Precinct as captain.

$20,000,000 in Loans To Farmers Approved

(Associated Press.)

Nearly $20,000,000 in loans have been approved for farmers in the drought area. G. L. Hoffman, chief of the Farmers' Seed Loan Office, said yesterday thousands of applications are reaching the Agriculture Department daily. He expressed the belief the total of $57,000,000 available for loans direct to farmers will be taken up.

Mr. Hoffman said only a few of the loans approved from the $10,000,000 fund for agricultural rehabilitation are for food.

Antitrust Inquiry Urged at Meeting

Industrial and Legal Chiefs Confer on Sherman Law in New York.

New York, March 24 (A.P.).—Congressional inquiry to determine the Nation's attitude toward the Sherman antitrust law was favored by industrial and legal leaders at a conference today. No vote was taken.

The conference was the first step of the National Manufacturers Association to reveal industry's position toward the old Federal law. President John E. Edgerton said the trend was toward changes in the administrative features of the act rather than repeal or modification.

The proposal most favored was for legislation to set up a new advisory board to inform the industrialists whether their proposals were in conflict with the criminal provisions of the Sherman act.

Mr. Edgerton said the organization has no intention of usurping leadership of Congress to give industry relief, but its members hope it can go before the next session to express the composite view of industry.

Policeman Leisurely Nabs Murder Suspect

Joseph Sawyer, 32-year-old Negro, was munching a sandwich on the corner of First and N streets northwest yesterday and complacently watching the automobiles go by. He was so preoccupied that Policeman Robert H. Furlow, of the Second Precinct, strolling on his beat, had a good opportunity to look him over.

Now Sawyer, who lives on Missouri avenue near Four-and-a-half street, is charged with the murder of Jake Coleman, 35, of the same address, who was stabbed to death Sunday. Furlow placed him under arrest on the strength of the slayer's description, which had been broadcast.

George Ackman's Rites to Be Held

Funeral for Lifelong City Resident Is Set for Tomorrow.

Funeral services for George Ackman, 73 years old, who died yesterday at his residence, 713 Fifth street northeast, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the funeral parlors of W. H. Sardo, 414 H street northeast. Interment will take place in Glenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Ackman was a lifelong resident of this city, and for several years had been connected with the firm of W. B. Moses & Sons Co. He had at various times been charged with the decoration of the White House during the administrations of Presidents Cleveland and McKinley. He was a member of the Order of Elks, and of the Upholsterers Union, of which he was an officer for a number of years.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Minnie Ackman; two sons, George, Jr., and Milton Ackman, both of Washington, and two daughters, Mrs. Harry F. Flynn, of Newark, N. J., and Mrs. Ferguson Fague, of this city.

CEMETERY REFUSES MRS. PICKETT'S BODY

Richmond by Mrs. John F. Bauer, president of the association. She said the plot of ground in which Gen. Pickett is buried and over which the Memorial Association has erected a monument, has been reserved exclusively for "Pickett and his men." The association debated the question for a considerable period and arrived at a final decision more than a year ago, she said.

Another member of the association said that the group felt they would be establishing a precedent in permitting the burial of Mrs. Pickett's remains in the plot, that every other Confederate widow whose husband was in Pickett's regiment would be justified in making a similar request.

The family of Mrs. Pickett last night was making alternative plans for the cremation of her body this morning in the New Fort Lincoln Crematory at the Fort Lincoln Cemetery. Arrangements for services and interment of the remains were to be announced later.

Provision for her interment beside her late husband in Hollywood Cemetery was made in Mrs. Pickett's will, which was filed for probate yesterday.

The will showed that Mrs. Pickett had been the author of a number of books, most of them dealing with her husband and his adventures in the Civil War. Among her books were listed "Pickett and His Men," "Heart of a Soldier," "Battle of Gettysburg," "Across My Path," "What Happened to Me," "Literary Hearthstones of Dixie," and "In de Miz Series."

Mrs. Pickett owned a substantial block of shares in the Miller Train Control Co. To a grandson, George E. Pickett 3d, she left 500 such shares, five lots in New Colonial Manor, L. I.; rights to several of her books, and a portrait of the general. Another grandson, Capt. Christiancy Pickett, U. S. A., she left another 500 shares of Miller stock; property in East Seattle, Wash., right to several books, and a portrait of Gen. Pickett.

Ida Pickett, Detroit, Mich.; Annie Corbell, of Sunbury, N. C.; Mrs. Samuel Picklen, Mrs. Francis Hill and June Pickett are also named as beneficiaries.

Mrs. Pickett's great grandchildren are given Miller stock, and Mary E. Torrance, of this city, is given cash in two banks, the Riggs and Washington Loan & Trust Co. The remaining estate goes to George E. Pickett, 3d, who with Frank L. Stephens, is to act as executor of the estate.

INCOME TAXES' DROP STIRS VARIED VIEWS

Party Leaders Speculate on Plans to Make Up Treasury Deficit.

(Associated Press.)

Diverse views on what to do about dwindling income tax receipts were expressed yesterday by Republicans and Democrats. Senator Hull, of Tennessee, a former chairman of the Democratic national committee, predicted an increase in taxation would be necessary unless the administration wanted to extend a deficit over a long period.

Chairman Fess, of the Republican national committee, however, took the view it would be unnecessary to increase taxes, although he viewed the Treasury situation as "somewhat alarming."

The opinion that a tax increase would be unnecessary also was expressed by Senator Harris (Democrat), Georgia, who added there must be a sharp reduction in expenditures.

Meanwhile, the latest Treasury statement showed another decline in income tax receipts, making the total collected this month $299,435,576, compared with $491,700,996 for the same period last year.

Mr. Hull called for a reduction in "swollen expenditures" and inauguration of a program to "gradually increase economies." Mr. Fess said the decreased returns were not surprising in view of business conditions, and pointed out that the deficit would be larger than under normal conditions because of increased appropriations to relieve unemployment.

"But I don't think it will necessitate new taxation," Mr. Fess said. "But I can't help believe there will be a comeback in industry to increase our revenue, and in the meantime the Treasury will doubtless be able to bridge the interim under short term certificates. Whatever be the demands, however, Congress will meet them frankly and courageously."

Robert Edeson, 62, Dies in Hollywood

Veteran Stage and Screen Actor Succumbs to Heart Disease.

Hollywood, Calif., March 24 (A.P.). Robert Edeson, 62, the last of the four men who turned their backs on golden careers of the stage in 1914 to risk their fortunes in the untried films, joined his old cronies in death at dawn today.

Seventeen years ago, the four—Edeson, Theodore Roberts, Dustin Farnum and James Neill—listened to the persuasive tongue of Cecil B. de Mille and threw up their careers to go to a dusty little town named Hollywood. The passing of the years proved their foresight and they became historic on the screen and wealthier than the stage ever could have made them.

Heart disease ended the life of Edeson, who as the star of the famed Indian play "Strongheart," became one of the best known actors of the last half century. At his bedside were his widow, Aida de Martinez Edeson, his fourth wife; and a bosom companion, Edmund Breese, veteran actor.

Shorthand Man Seeks U. S. Branch of Society

Dr. John Robert Gregg, originator of the shorthand system named for him and president of the Gregg Publishing Co., is in Washington to see Government officials and educators in relation to the establishment of an American branch of the International Society for Commercial Education.

"The underlying purpose of the movement," said Dr. Gregg, "is to bring about closer cooperation between the great social agencies of business and education to the end that each may better serve the other and that both united may better serve the public."

FRENCH CHILDREN TO GREET AMERICAN FLAG WINNERS

not only from Paris, but from the whole of France. They will also meet the President of France.

Will Learn of America.

Paradoxical as it may seem, the American children will have an opportunity to learn a great deal about their native land at this exposition, as the U. S. exhibit consists of people in their native dress and products from all parts of the country and its possessions. Samoans, Filipinos, Eskimos from Alaska, Hawaiians, Virgin Islanders and others who rejoice in the protection of the Stars and Stripes, will be present in their varied costumes, with products of their native lands on exhibition. Coupled with exhibits from practically every State in the Union, it will go far toward showing the vast scope and resources of the United States and will furnish a proud background for the welcome to be extended by the "envoys" to the children of France.

Contestants are required to write an essay of 300 words, the boys on "The Typical American Boy" and the girls on "The Typical American Girl," these essays to be handed in to the teachers not later than noon of Tuesday, March 31. These essays will be used as a basis for the selection of one boy and one girl from each school who will compete in the preliminary test on April 11.

In order to acquaint the students with the kind of questions that will confront them at the preliminary test, officials of the United States Flag Association have prepared some typical questions which are all answered in a book on the flag prepared by the association, which can be located at any library.

Typical Flag Questions.

The typical questions follow:

When and where was the flag of the United States adopted?

How many stars and stripes did the first flag contain and what States did they represent?

In what part of the flag do we find the growth of the Nation indicated?

What was the reason for selecting red, white, and blue as the colors of the American flag?

Why are there seven red stripes and six white instead of six red and seven white stripes in the flag?

Is it permissible to wash or dry clean the flag?

What is the proper way of displaying the flag of the United States; (a) on automobile? (b) when displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs; (c) when displayed over the middle of the street, as between buildings?

What was the first great document to be adopted that is symbolized by the flag of the United States?

What three great truths does this document hold to be self-evident?

In your judgment what are the three most important events in the history of the United States, and state why?

What do you understand by "American ideals and institutions?"

What, in your opinion, are the four greatest American ideals?

State why the flag of the United States is not only a badge of war, but also a great emblem of peace.

Mrs. Ruth Partin Rites Set Today

Husband in Grave Condition After Car Crash Kills Woman.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ruth Kelchner Partin, 25 years old, of Rockville, Md., who was almost instantly killed Monday when an automobile driven by her husband overturned on the Rockville pike near Grosvenor lane, about 2 miles from Bethesda, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence on Rockville pike at Baltimore road. The services will be conducted by the Rev. B. M. Osgood, of the Rockville Baptist Church. Burial will be in the family plot at Forest Oak Cemetery, Gaithersburg.

The husband, Ambrose E. Partin, 40 years old, is in a serious condition at Georgetown University Hospital, with little hope of his recovery.

The young wife is survived by a 5-year-old daughter, Marjorie, and a brother, Paul Kelchner, well-known Rockville aviator. She was the daughter of the late James F. Kelchner, pioneer auto dealer, of Rockville.

Capital Firemen Work to Save Boy

Give Artificial Respiration to Son of Comrade and Restore Breath.

Success appeared to be crowning the efforts of Rescue Squad No. 2 of the Washington Fire Department in its fight against death for a comrade's son. Late last night it was reported that the youth was rallying under their artificial respiration.

The squad was called to the Silver Spring, Md., home of Lieut. R. D. Crompton, of No. 24 engine company, yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when George Crompton, 15 years old, son of the Fire Department official, ill with pneumonia, fell into a stupor and was unable to breathe. Dr. H. H. Howlett, of Silver Spring, called the rescue squad in an effort to save the youth's life.

The firemen worked on the boy in shifts all afternoon and last evening until shortly before 10 o'clock, it was reported at the Silver Spring substation of Montgomery County police that the boy was improving. The squad was still standing by at 10 o'clock, however, in case of a relapse.

Maj. D. C. Hutton Expires in Arizona

Death of Medical Corps Officer Announced by War Department.

The War Department yesterday announced the death in Phoenix, Ariz., Monday, of Maj. Daniel C. Hutton, Medical Corps, U. S. A., who was stationed at Fort Mason, San Francisco, but who was visiting in the Arizona city at the time of his death.

He was born in Washington, December 18, 1893, and graduated from the Medical School of the University of Maryland in 1916. He served as a first lieutenant and later as a captain in the Medical Corps of the Maryland National Guard from 1916 until 1920, when he was commissioned as a regular captain in the Army Medical Corps.

Maj. Hutton was promoted to his present rank in 1929. His wife, Mrs. Eddie R. Hutton, was with him at the time of his death. No funeral arrangements had been learned in this city last night.

Fall Down Stairs Fatal.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 24 (Special).—While descending a flight of stairs, Frank Lover, 82, a retired coal miner, was stricken with a heart attack today and fell to his death from a fractured skull. At the same time, Thomas B. MacGregor, 76, a coal company bookkeeper, died in another part of the city of injuries suffered in a fall. Both leave families.

SURVIVOR OF VIKING DESCRIBES HORRORS OF EXPLOSION ON SHIP

door to warn those fellows of their danger?'

"Frissell replied: 'Good. I'll do it right now.' And he began immediately to letter a sign. The conversation continued in a general way. The boatswain said he would wait until Frissell had finished the sign.

"'You're a good hand at making letters,' he remarked as Frissell continued his work on the sign. Frissell laughed and said that he had learned that against his will. 'I had to learn it at school or get licked twice a day.'

"At that moment his dog, Cabot, jumped up behind him, laying his paws on Frissell's shoulders and nosing his neck. Frissell turned from the sign and patted him. 'Down, Cabot,' he said, and the dog resumed its position at Frissell's feet.

"Cabot had scarcely returned to Frissell's feet when the ship trembled and screams were heard from the magazine. There was a louder thud. After that pandemonium reigned.

"My next lucid moment was when I found myself on the ice with the captain, who had left the cabin in a mad rush to the bridge at the first explosion. He was without boots. He had scarcely time to reach the bridge when the last and greatest explosion occurred."

Mr. Sargent said he believed the first shock was caused by the explosion of a single keg of powder. Then several more kegs exploded, and finally the whole magazine. He said Capt. Abram Kean was thrown from the bridge. He was unconscious, but came to on board the blazing ship. He groped his way along the deck calling for help. Mr. Sargent said he hauled Capt. Kean to a place of safety.

"The captain's face was covered with blood," Mr. Sargent continued. "He was groaning terribly. Capt. William Kennedy, the navigator, near-by on the ice, was crying out: 'Some one help me; I am dying.' He seemed delirious. His face was cut and blood and powder completely blotted out his features. He lay in a reclining position without moving or uttering a word for some time. Then he roused and sat up.

"'I'm all right,' Kennedy said. We decided to get on part of the wreckage. The captain moved away. Kennedy, the wireless operator, King, and myself got onto a piece of the broken ship lying on a big pan of ice. After being there a while, Kennedy said he feared that piece was attached by wire to the mizzenmast, so we left it, fearing it would go down with the ship.

"Later we found it did not go down and we climbed onto it again. We stayed on it, floating with the ice, until we were picked up by the Sagona. There was a heavy swell by the time we climbed back on the wreckage. I heard Frissell's dog howling continuously as if hurt or under some restraint. I heard him almost all night, until we drifted away about daylight. I had got some jackets and blankets among the debris. These kept us from freezing to death. We sighted the Sagona the next day.

"We waved to them constantly from the time we sighted them, but the ship passed by before sighting us. It turned then and picked us up."

Mr. Sargent was met by relatives and driven to a hotel.

Injured Taken to Hospitals.

The other survivors are arriving on other rescue ships. The Sagona brought most of the injured men, several of whom were hurried to hospitals at once, including Capt. Kean.

Among the tales told of the last night on board was one relating that John Wheeler, master of the watch, who is among the missing, just before going on deck got the men to sing the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee." They all joined in the song and when it died away, Wheeler went on deck. That was about ten minutes before the disaster. He was not seen again alive.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, March 24 (A.P.).—While Bernt Balchen and his companions returned to Cornerbrook, Newfoundland, after a three-hour flight to the eastward, Robert Fogg flew back today to Hampden, Newfoundland, in the plane which he repaired earlier at Horse Island.

Fogg said he would remain at Hampden overnight. His plane was damaged in landing yesterday on Horse Island.

Balchen is seeking some trace of Vareck Frissell and others missing from the Viking. The purpose of Fogg's flight is to obtain pictures of the disaster.

Upon his return to Corner Brook, Balchen reported that the flight had covered the vicinity of Horse Island from the coast of Notre Dame Bay and thence outside of White Bay for a distance of about 50 miles but that no wreckage or trace of the missing men was located.

He will fly again tomorrow.

MELLON BUYS FARM IN VIRGINIA FOR SON

Rokeby, 400-Acre Estate, Is Deeded to Paul; Mrs. Mellon Plans Trip There.

(United Press.)

Rokeby, 400-acre race-horse farm in the heart of America's most famous fox-hunting fields, in Virginia, has been purchased by Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon for his son Paul.

Disclosure of the purchase came yesterday as Mellon entered his seventy-seventh year quietly and without celebration. He spent the day at his office working on the Government's fiscal situation, which involves the first deficit in his decade as Secretary.

Mr. Mellon's divorced wife, Mrs. McMullen Mellon, of England, will spend hunting and polo seasons with her son at the Virginia estate, which is located near Upperville, Fauquier County, within sight of the Blue Ridge.

The purchase was made in the name of Paul Mellon, who is now working in a Mellon bank in Pittsburgh, from Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, retired, Woodrow Wilson's personal physician, and the estate of the late Samuel E. Ross. Ross and Grayson, both famous as horse breeders, bought it from the late H. P. Oxnard, a sugar magnate, who bred there some famous racers of an older day, including King James, Vulcan, and Fayette. It was known as the Blue Ridge Stud. Grayson's famous My Own also was kept there.

Rokeby estate includes a large stone country house and ample stables. The house, built before the Civil War, has been remodeled and enlarged in recent years.

The Secretary's daughter, Mrs. David Bruce, the former Ailsa Mellon, and her husband are expected to be frequent guests at Rokeby, but as far as known the Secretary does not intend to join in the vigorous pursuits of the hunting set.

The son and daughter spend considerable time with their mother each year. Mrs. Mellon, formerly Mrs. Nora Mary Lee, was the wife of the Secretary prior to 1912. She now lives in Herfordshire, England.

Electric Rate-Cut Nearing Decision

Directors May Select One of Four Plans for Reduction.

Directors of the Potomac Electric Power Co. are expected to reach a decision today regarding their policy in the electric rate controversy. They have before them four proposals of procedure for effecting a reduction in their revenue, and subsequently a decrease in the rates for consumers in the District.

So far officials of the power company have stood steadfastly against any proposal to modify or abrogate the consent decree under which rates are now adjusted. They recently withdrew from negotiations with the commission, because People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech stated that he would oppose any plan that did not include the scrapping of the court agreement.

Upon request of Mr. Keech, they agreed to place before their directors his proposal to set up a bilateral agreement which would exclude the court. Later the commission submitted three other alternative proposals.

Man Dies in Gallinger From Wood Alcohol

Frank Nalley, 23 years old, of New York avenue near Ninth street northwest, died at Gallinger Hospital yesterday from drinking wood alcohol believed stolen from the hospital, where he was working as a trusty of the District Jail.

Nalley was sent to the jail for a ten-day sentence on a charge of intoxication. Nalley is said to have taken the alcohol while hospital attaches were away from the medicine chest in which it was kept.

4,980,000 Jobless in Germany.

Berlin, March 24 (A.P.).—Germany's unemployed on March 15 totaled 4,980,000, which was 8,000 more than on February 28.

U.S. SOON TO DEPORT 100,000 ALIEN TARS

Order Follows Decision of High Court; More Jobs for Americans Seen.

(Associated Press.)

Orders for immigration officers to begin the deportation of nearly 100,000 alien seamen illegally in the United States were prepared yesterday at the Labor Department.

Action will be taken as quickly as possible as the result of a Supreme Court decision Monday holding such deportations legal.

Meanwhile, Senator Harris (Democrat), Georgia, announced he would propose a 90 per cent reduction of immigration at the next session of Congress to relieve unemployment.

He estimated one out of every eight workers in the United States is looking for a job and that his proposal would give 200,000 work.

Secretary Doak estimated nearly 100,000 seamen who had deserted their ships were in the country illegally and could be deported. He expected this action would provide many additional jobs for American citizens.

The Labor Department has been increasing its force of inspectors in an effort to deport as many as possible of the 400,000 or more aliens Mr. Doak has estimated are in the United States illegally.

Action against the deserted seamen will be taken along with the general deportation program.

Many of the seamen shipped on alien vessels and deserted, officials said, in an effort to beat the quota provisions of the immigration law. Their occupations included sailors, firemen, engineers, musicians, waiters and other skilled and semiskilled help.

"Most of the deserting seamen," Mr. Doak said, "take employment in the United States, thereby depriving citizens and lawfully resident aliens of jobs and Department of Labor officials are confident that it will be possible to expel many who had evaded arrest."

Hotel Operators Sued For $22,622 Insurance

The Washington Brokerage Co., 817 Fifteenth street northwest, yesterday filed suit against H. C. Maddux and the Maddux Hotels, Inc., for $22,622.22, alleged by the brokerage company to be the unpaid balance due because of insurance placed on several buildings here in 1928 and 1930.

The petition claims that the insurance company placed insurance on eleven buildings, and that only a portion of the premium has been paid. The buildings named were the Stanley Arms, Fairfax Hotel, the Cavalier, the Jefferson, the Hamilton Hotel, James Madison, at Orange, Va., Fairfax, at Buffalo; Chatham Apartment Hotel, Philadelphia; the Fairfax, Philadelphia; Law and Finance Building, Pittsburgh, and the Fairfax, Pittsburgh.

Elderly Resident Reported Missing

John R. Hagenbuch Fails to Return Home on Eve of Nebraska Trip.

John R. Hagenbuch, 72, left his home at 518 Lamont street northwest yesterday morning to get some medicine which would relieve an irritating cough. In a few hours he was to entrain for Sargent Nebr., to visit relatives there and he did not wish to be troubled with even the slightest indisposition during the long trip. Coatless, he went out to get the medicine.

Mr. Hagenbuch did not return to the house. He is now listed, on police records, as a missing person.

He had $100 when he left the house, where he made his home with Earl E. O'Meara, his grandson, and Mrs. O'Meara. A checkup of nearby drug stores disclosed that he had not been seen in any of them. Mr. Hagenbuch sold his farm in Leesburg, Va., several years ago and came to Washington to live. He has a sister in Cherrydale but inquiries revealed that he had not gone there.

When Food SOURS

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless liquid; pleasant, efficient and harmless. But it kills excess acids. It has remained the standard with physicians for more than 50 years.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for over fifty years in correcting excess acids, 25c and 50c bottles—any drugstore. The genuine is always a liquid—never made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips on wrapper and bottle.

DELCHER CONVICTED OF BANKING FRAUDS

Former Official of Defunct Institution Found Guilty by Baltimore Jury.

Baltimore, March 24 (A.P.).—Milton B. Delcher, vice president of the defunct Chesapeake Bank, was convicted today by a criminal court jury of 9 of 28 charges of fraud and peculation, totaling more than $94,000. Sentence was postponed, and he was released on $20,000 bond. The jury, which had heard evidence all last week, was given the case early last night.

The charges were that Delcher bought stock for his personal use with bank funds, and approved loans and honored overdrafts for two Baltimore concerns with which he was connected. Nine directors of the bank, it was testified, were officers or directors of one of the concerns, Young's System, Inc., and Delcher was said to have received $50 a week salary from the firm, a loan agency.

The Chesapeake Bank, an institution with assets of approximately $5,000,000, closed its doors December 9 and its affairs were placed in the hands of a receiver. The bank was not connected with the clearing house. It had two branches.

The loss to depositors was estimated at $1,700,000 by William Curran, attorney for Delcher.

Mother of Two Killed By Train Gets $5,000

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., March 24.—Mrs. Florrie Ponton, of Highland Park, near Frys Spring, whose two sons, Linwood and Carroll, killed last New Year's Day by a Southern Railway passenger train at Bingler's Crossing, has been given $5,000 by the railroad company.

The settlement definitely ends a suit for $20,000 brought by the mother against the railroad.

Dawes Expresses Hate For After-Dinner Talks

London, March 24 (A.P.).—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes has heard enough after-dinner speeches to last him a lifetime and he wishes there were such a thing as a silent banquet, he told the Kinemetograph Renters Society at a dinner tonight.

"When I was Vice President of the United States," he said, "I suffered from banquets and long speeches for four years and I find I can't escape them over here. I wish banquets were supervised as strictly as the talking films, where if a man coughs everything he says is cut out. I am fervently in favor of silent banquets."

FORMER CUSTER AID DIES IN CHARLESTON

Marcus P. Dame, 80, Indian Fighter of Early 70's, Taken by Death.

Charleston, W. Va., March 24 (A.P.).—Marcus P. Dame, 80, to whom "Custer's last stand" was something more than an incident in American history, is dead here.

Dame, an Indian fighter of the early 70's, was a member of one of the detachments that arrived just too late to prevent the massacre of the Little Big Horn in 1876, when Gen. Custer and his men were wiped out by Sioux Indians.

During his long residence in Charleston, Dame often related how before the massacre Custer divided his forces into three groups. One Custer commanded and the others were in charge of his aids. Dame was assigned to one of the two other groups.

As Dame often told it, the three groups advanced against the Sioux, with Custer's command in the center and the other two groups across the mountains on either side of him. Custer's command was surrounded by 3,000 Sioux and wiped out, Dame said his division reached the scene a short time later.

The former Indian fighter became ill suddenly yesterday and died a few hours later.

Power Company Agent Loses $8,500 in Holdup

Roanoke, Va., March 24 (A.P.).—Two bandits held up J. G. Brittain, agent of the Appalachian Electric Power Co., here today and escaped with $8,500 in cash and checks.

While on his way to a bank to deposit money for the power company, Brittain was ordered at the point of a pistol to get into a car which had been driven into an alleyway so as to block the sidewalk. He was driven several blocks by the bandits and then ordered from the car.

OBITUARY NOTICE
JOHN W. DANIEL

Member of Prominent Family Dies at an Advanced Age.

John W. Daniel, member of a prominent Virginia family, who had been a resident of Fredericksburg for the past ten years, died at his home on Prince Edward street, Fredericksburg, Friday, March 6, at 9:50 p. m., after a short illness.

The deceased was one of the oldest residents of Fredericksburg, having been born at Crows Nest, in Stafford County, on August 23, 1838, the son of the late T. C. Daniel and Elizabeth Bronaugh Daniel. He was a great-great-grandson of George Mason, of Gunston Hall.

Mr. Daniel was a veteran of the Civil War, having served in the Confederate army with distinction, and rising to the rank of lieutenant.

Following the war Mr. Daniel was for several years auditor of the Memphis, Birmingham & Atlantic Railway. Later he was chief clerk of the special assessment division of the tax collector's office for the District of Columbia, a position in which he served for many years. Ten years ago Mr. Daniel was retired because of age, and within a short time came to Fredericksburg, where he had since made his home.

He is survived by his wife, who, prior to her marriage, was Miss Betty Fitz-Hugh, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Fitz-Hugh, of this city. Their only son, John Daniel, died some years ago.

Mr. Daniel was a gentleman of the old Virginia type, courteous, affable and pleasant and had a large number of friends. Throughout his life he was a devoted sportsman, and until after he was six years of age had rarely missed a day or so in the field during the hunting season.

The funeral took place from St. George's Episcopal Church on Sunday, March 8, with services by the rector, the Rev. Dudley Boozher.

FIREMEN SET DATES OF FETES IN FAIRFAX

Carnivals to Begin in June as Series of Events for Various Companies.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The Fairfax County Firemen's Association at its last meeting selected the dates for carnivals of its various member companies for this summer. The Herndon Volunteer company will hold its annual carnival on June 11, 12 and 13; Fairfax company during the last week in June; Vienna company on July 1 to 4 inclusive; McLean, the first week in August, and the Falls Church company will hold its celebration some time in July, the date to be decided later.

The association plans to hold a county firemen's get-together banquet on the evening of April 18 in the auditorium of the schoolhouse at Herndon. The banquet will take the place of the regular monthly meeting of the association. The entertainment for the evening has been placed in the hands of the following committee: Leon L. Freeman, of Vienna, chairman; George B. Robey, of Fairfax; George F. Harrison, of Herndon; Robert E. Kendrick, of Falls Church, and John W. Preston, of McLean.

The report of L. L. Freeman, the association's chairman of the legal committee, included a compliation of the laws of Virginia concerning volunteer fire departments.

J. A. Deuterman, manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac company, which includes Fairfax County, addressed the association relative to the methods of handling fire alarm calls in a more efficient manner.

An agreement was reached between the fire companies and the telephone company whereby the telephone operators in the Clarendon exchange will relay fire calls from the Langley and Chain Bridge neighborhoods to the McLean and Falls Church fire departments. Mr. Deuterman also promised to prepare plans so the apparatus responding to an alarm of fire can notify the office of County Engineer F. N. Larkin, at Fairfax.

Fairfax County has the distinction of being the only county in the State of Virginia to have a "4-H Leaders Club." This club was formed by the leaders of the 4-H Clubs of the various sections of the county at the last meeting of the club leaders training class held by Miss Sarah E. Thomas, the county home demonstration agent. The purposes of the newly organized club is to assist Miss Thomas in securing supplies for demonstration purposes, to help farm girls and to aid in carrying out plans for the various county 4-H Club events.

The newly elected officers of the club include: Mrs. Glenn Cunningham, of Oakton, president; Mrs. J. M. Hirst, of Annandale, vice president; Mrs. J. A. Hallman, of Fairfax, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Bladeb, of Annandale, reporter.

Fairfax County Agricultural Agent H. B. Derr, who has charge of the local branch of the Federal emergency drought relief seed loans, has been notifying the local dairymen and poultrymen that under a new arrangement with the Department of Agriculture they can obtain such loans. Previously this class of farmers were not eligible to a Government loan.

With special permission from the Federal department the farmers can feed all or part of the crops raised on the farm to their cattle or poultry by signing an agreement to make monthly payments from their milk or egg checks or other income from the farm. By signing the agreement and living up to its provisions, the time of payment can be extended to March 31, 1932, with interest at 5 per cent.

If the live stock is other than dairy cattle, thus making monthly payments impracticable, the farmer agrees to furnish the Secretary of Agriculture a first mortgage on such live stock before beginning to feed the 1931 crop to them, and making a full statement to him when the full payment of the loan can be made.

L. E. Arnold, of Falls Church, was fined $10 and costs in the mayor's court after pleading guilty to a charge of setting fire to trash in his yard and letting it get beyond his control. The warrant was sworn out by the Falls Church Volunteer Fire Department. Officers of the department stated that they were forced to take this action as a warning to the householders of the town.

With an especially dry winter and the spring cleaning season starting the number of fire calls in the past few weeks have jumped to four and five a day, most of them being brush fires, which have endangered homes and buildings, and could have been prevented by the persons starting the fires if they had used caution. The local fire department is a volunteer organization and must depend on its running expenses from contributions and what the members can earn through entertainments and carnivals and the expense of these runs to unnecessary brush and trash fires have been a severe drain on its treasury.

Mrs. Gertrude Thorpe, 24, and Miss Helen Minin, 17, both of Queens Village, N. Y., were injured when the car they were driving skidded on the soft shoulders of the Washington-Richmond highway near Pohick Church and turned over three times. The women were taken to Fort Humphreys Hospital by passing motorists, where they were given first-aid treatment. They were afterward transferred to the Alexandria Hospital, where they were treated by Dr. M. D. Delaney.

Early yesterday morning Sheriff E. P. Kirby was notified that there was a dead man in the ditch along Providence road near West Falls Church. Sheriff Kirby quickly dispatched Deputy Sheriff Paul Herrman and Falls Church Town Sergt. Walter Mitchell to the scene. Arriving there they discovered a man who gave his name as A. J. Hinson, of West Falls Church, Va. The man was taken before Justice of the Peace Thomas P. Chapman, at Fairfax, where he was fined $10 and costs on a charge of drunkenness. He was held for the action of the grand jury of the Fairfax County Circuit Court on a charge of possession. He posted a $500 bond on the latter charge.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Crossman Methodist Church at Falls Church will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. H. Holland on the Masonville road.

Miss Eliza Cummins will address the meeting of the Kings Daughters Circle at Falls Church which meets this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Thompson in Falls Church. She will speak on the phases of communism. Mrs. E. Franklin Lord will assist Mrs. Thompson as hostess.

The 4-H Club at Annandale will hold a business meeting this afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Charles Bladen and Mrs. Mason Hirst.

MARYLAND TO HONOR ITS FOUNDERS TODAY

Special Exercises Planned as Montgomery Joins in Celebration.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4206.

Montgomery County will join with the other Maryland counties today in celebrating Maryland Day, a legal holiday in the State. All banks and financial institutions will be closed and special exercises will be held in the schools. Under provisions of a bill adopted at the 1927 session of the Assembly, it is compulsory to hold patriotic exercises in public schools on all patriotic holidays, thus making it necessary to keep the schools open.

Maryland Day commemorates the date, March 25, 1634, when the two small ships, the Ark and the Dove, symbolizing hope and peace, which bore the Maryland colonists, led by Leonard Calvert, first governor of Maryland under terms of the will of his brother, Cecilius Calvert, the first Lord Baltimore, moored at Blackiston's Island and first touched Maryland soil. Lord Baltimore two days later purchased an entire Indian village by the payment of a half dozen hoes and axes and a piece of cloth. The colonists named the village St. Mary's in honor of the Virgin Queen. Aboard the two ships were 20 "gentleman adventurers" and about 300 laborers.

Many Maryland patriotic societies will journey to the town of St. Mary's today to participate in exercises at the shrine of Maryland's vaunted personal liberty.

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday heard 8 appeals from assessments on the third assessments appeal hearing day at Rockville. This makes 19 appeals from assessments which have been heard, and completes the assessment hearings. A special hearing on appeals from new assessments on buildings returned by County Assessor A. Hempstone Griffith will be held later.

The appeals are divided as follows by election districts: Laytonsville, 2; Clarksburg, 1; Poolesville, 1; Bethesda, 4; Gaithersburg, 2; Barnesville, 3; Olney, 1 and Wheaton, 3.

It was announced that the counsel to the county commissioners has not completed the resolution regarding the application for a permit to open a cemetery at Aspen and action was postponed. Notice will be given interested parties before the decision of the commissioners is announced.

A public hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance for Rockville, county seat of Montgomery County, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock. The hearing will be conducted by the special committee on zoning of the town council, Donald A. DeLashmutt, Julian W. Whiting and Porter G. Ward.

Copies of the proposed ordinance and a map showing the location of the various proposed zones will be on view at the meeting at the firehouse.

The committee will make a study of the views expressed by the citizens at tonight's meeting and then will submit recommendations to the mayor and council.

Alexandria Water Rate Views Heard

Testimony on Real Estate Values Also Before Commission.

Richmond, Va., March 24 (A.P.).—Testimony as to depreciation of the Alexandria Water Co.'s plant and regarding real estate values in the city was heard today by the State corporation commission which is considering the company's application for a 40 per cent increase in rates.

John G. Graham, of Alexandria, realty man, spent most of the afternoon on the stand, interrupting G. W. Briggs, jr., New York engineer, who had been testifying and who will be questioned further tomorrow. Permission was given to put Mr. Graham out of order to prevent holding him here for an additional day. His testimony dealt with property values in his city while Mr. Briggs told of depreciation details which went into the valuation of the company.

The company, which reported a net revenue last year of $84,000, asks for the increase to bring the net income up to $120,000, which it claims will be a return of from 5.5 to 6.7 per cent on its value. The city of Alexandria contends that the company's valuation of $2,050,000 is based on "fictitious values" and opposes the rate increase.

Manufacturing Gains In West Virginia Area

Charleston, W. Va., March 24 (A.P.).—Howard S. Jarrett, State labor commissioner, today said that manufacturing in West Virginia had improved between 10 and 50 per cent since January 1.

Mr. Jarrett said he based his statement upon reports from six of his department's factory inspectors, all of whom have completed recent inspection tours of their respective territories.

SON WINS IN FIGHT OVER LEITER ESTATE

and finance, the third daughter of Levi the astute, Mrs. Nancy Leiter Campbell, supported her brother until her death six months ago.

As the appellants' counsel indicated there would be no further appeal, today's decision apparently was the denouement of the world-wide sweep of the Leiter family fortunes—a sweep that started in 1854, when old Levi left Leitersburg, Md., to grow up with Chicago.

Levi's children soared over the Atlantic—marrying into England's aristocracy. Only one—Joseph—stayed in Chicago, to enter business with his father. Joseph's first big "deal" was a failure. Old "P. D." Armour broke young Leiter's corner on the wheat market—putting a dent of $9,000,000 in the Leiter fortune.

The three appellate judges—Kickham Scanlan, Otto Kerner and Martin Gridley—also upheld Judge Sullivan's ruling that Leiter should make an accounting of Wyoming ranch lands, management of the Leiter stores and his purchase of the Ziegler Coal Mines from the estate.

In the 26 years of his management Leiter has increased the working capital of the estate from approximately $13,000,000 to more than $17,000,000.

The Wyoming ranch lands were the chief bone of contention in the litigation. The English heirs charged, among other things, that Leiter wasted approximately $7,000,000 in developing the ranching interests.

The court ruling cited that Joseph had been trained by his father to manage the widely diversified interests and that since he was the only member of the family still in the United States it was the tendency for him to assume control of the estate.

The old Leiter home in Chicago has long since been razed. The only family residence remaining is Joseph's apartment, which he seldom occupies. He spends most of his time in Washington, D. C.

WENDEL CHARITIES FAIL TO DAUNT PAIR

Baltimore Claimants Hope to Get Share in Estate of $100,000,000.

Baltimore, Md., March 24 (A.P.).—The announcement that the will of Miss Ella Wendel, last of her line, bequeaths her $100,000,000 fortune to charity, has diminished little the hopes of Charles W. Soop and his sister, Miss Joan Jennie F. Soop, of getting a share of the wealth as legal heirs of the New York recluse.

"We are related to the Wendels on both our father's and mother's side," Miss Soop said today.

"The Soops, or Shoops, as they were then called, came to this country in 1660 at the same time the Von Wendeling family arrived, and both families were political refugees from Germany."

Invalid for Years.

Miss Soop has been an invalid for the past three years. Her brother, who works for a theater advertising company, is an amateur artist whose water colors have been exhibited in New York and Chicago galleries. Both have resided in Baltimore at intervals for the past 30 years.

The Wendel will, made public yesterday, revealed that five charitable institutions had been bequeathed the bulk of the estate builded on furs, pelts, and real estate. However, the executors said that months will probably elapse before it is probated, as a determined search will be made to locate any possible legal heirs.

Miss Soop said she put little credence in the claim of a Rhode Island woman that she was the granddaughter of John Gottlieb Wendel, jr., son of the founder of the family.

Many Claims Possible.

With a wealth of genealogical data at her finger tips, Miss Soop, small and frail, traced her ancestry from pre-Revolutionary days. There are probably 50 persons in this country, she said, who are as closely related to the Wendel family as are she and her brother.

She revealed receipt of a communication from a Washington attorney, who informed her a client of his, a Mrs. Morgan, believed she also was descended from the Wendel family. The attorney asked Miss Soop to cooperate with him in establishing his client's claim.

Her brother, Charles William Soop, referred inquirers to his sister. "The women in our family always take charge of these things," he said. He said his father and members of the Wendel family used to visit one another's homes in New York years ago.

Fire Destroys Church In West Virginia Town

Special to The Washington Post.

Keyser, W. Va., March 24.—The Methodist Episcopal Church at Sulphur, near Eak Garden, this county, was destroyed by fire early yesterday. It is thought the flames originated from a stove.

Residents of the neighborhood made a vain effort to save the structure, but only succeeded in carrying out many of the pews. It was a house of worship for many years.

RISE OF SPECIALISTS SCORED BY DOCTOR

Clinic at Baltimore Is Told More General Physicians Are Needed.

Baltimore, Md., March 24 (A.P.).—"Too many generals and not enough privates in the medical army" is one reason for the present cost of medical care, the American College of Physicians was told tonight.

Dr. George E. Follansbee, of Cleveland, Ohio, said there are too many expensive specialists and not enough general practitioners among physicians. He spoke before the symposium on public health, medical practice and medical economics, at the annual clinical session of the college.

Because of the cost of medical care "the tide of public opinion against the profession is rising and is already a distinct menace," he declared. "The number of self-styled specialists is ridiculous. It should be unlawful for a physician to pose as a specialist unless he is adequately trained for special work."

The public has come to believe the "family doctor" is not competent to handle many ailments and is turning more and more to specialists. Many cases taken to specialists could be treated equally well by a general practitioner and confidence in the family doctor must be reestablished, Dr. Follansbee said.

Says Family Doctor Capable.

Much medical work will be taken over by Government, philanthropic or business agencies, unless cost of medical care is lowered by reducing the number of specialists and increasing the general practitioners.

Necessity for employing specialists in child birth cases has been overemphasized. The family doctor is as capable as the specialist to supervise prenatal care, arrival of the child and its health after birth in most cases.

High charges for diagnosis often are unnecessary, Dr. Follansbee said. Expensive tests to confirm existence of a disease should be made only when necessary, and not merely to satisfy a doctor's interest in research.

Dr. Winford H. Smith, director of John Hopkins Hospital, urged better coordination of medical, hospital and public health facilities as the best way to reduce cost of medical care.

He said three remedies have been suggested to lower the cost: Cooperative guilds to provide medical and hospital service, health insurance, either compulsory or voluntary, and control of medicine by the State.

Modern hospital charges are high because special diets, treatments, research facilities and other services formerly unheard of now are considered essential. A modern hospital needs at least two employes for each patient. Hospitals provide much more service for a given fee than do hotels charging the same price.

Termed as Haphazard.

Hospital development in this country has been haphazard; the State or city should decide when a new hospital is needed, where it should be located and how supported, just as development of public schools is planned, Dr. Smith said.

About 40 per cent of the patients in New York and Philadelphia hospitals are treated free, but only about 7 per cent of the support of most hospitals comes from public funds. Dr Smith urged the city or State should contribute more money for free hospital treatment.

Health of the general public can be improved most effectively through expert prenatal care and supervision of health of young children, said Dr. Haven Emerson, of Columbia University, New York. He declared less than one-fourth of the expectant mothers in the United States receive proper medical guidance.

The family doctor should convince the public of the importance of periodic health examinations and immunization against diseases rather than having these services made compulsory.

government house with Gov. Roosevelt, who said later that he had told the President of Porto Rico's potential importance as a link between the two American continents.

The automobile trip from San Juan to Ponce was a triumphant progress punctuated by receptions at the various towns and accompanied throughout by the cheers of school children lined along the route.

Text of Hoover's Speech To Porto Rican Residents

San Juan, Porto Rico, March 24 (A.P.).—The text of President Hoover's address to the Porto Rican Legislature here today follows:

Gentlemen of the Legislature, my Fellow American Citizens:

I am grateful for the courtesy and generosity of the reception which I have received in Porto Rico. It is indeed a great pleasure for me to be here and to have this opportunity of meeting you personally.

Ever since I became President of the United States I have wished to visit this part of the Union and have an opportunity of that fuller acquaintance with your problems which comes of personal contact. The time at my disposal is unfortunately too limited to visit many of your communities and inspect all of their various activities and institutions. I wish it were possible for me to do so. I should also like to see more of the beauties and resources of the island of which your are so justly proud.

I want you to realize that it is not lack of interest or of good will on my part that prevents more extended visit and the making of larger acquaintance, but simply the limitations of other responsibilities.

Long Acquainted With Island.

Though I come for the first time to Porto Rico, my contact with the island and my opinion of her people do not date merely from the time when I assumed the position of President. More than a decade ago, as food administrator during the troublous times of the war, I came to know Porto Ricans, to become acquainted with their abilities, and, above all, to realize their splendid devotion to our country in time of national danger.

Our Nation is proud of the progress made by the people of Porto Rico. Endowed with liberty, freedom, with self-government and individual opportunity through incorporation under the American flag, the island, by the efforts of its citizens and the cooperation of the whole United States, has in a single generation emerged from stagnation to a high place in the march of progress.

Porto Rico, is, indeed, a magnificent example of what a capable and intelligent people may accomplish under free institutions. You have, indeed shown courage and initiative under these impulses of freedom and liberty. In proof of this progress I need but recall a few evidences. You have in this single generation since joining in our citizenship, increased more than 60 per cent in population, increased over 500 per cent in material wealth and over 800 per cent in attendance upon public schools. You have decreased illiteracy by almost 59 per cent and the death rate has been diminished by more than 60 per cent.

Achievements Are Lauded.

I know of no finer achievement than that of the people of this island who from their gaining wealth have builded up from a few public schools with but 25,000 scholars at the time of the occupation to a great system of several thousand schools, colleges and universities, which today gives instruction to over 200,000 scholars.

You are temporarily suffering not alone from the aftermath of the devastating hurricane of 1928, when a tenth of all the property of the island and a much larger percentage of the tools of livelihood were destroyed, but you are involved with us all in the world-wide business depression. Discouraging as these disasters may be for the moment, we know that they are but passing events in our history; that with the courage of your people and under benevolent institutions which have been builded here, their effects will be overcome and the Nation and this island will resume their march in prosperity and progress.

In Washington we are sensible of these many serious difficulties with which you are struggling at the moment. We also realize not only these difficulties with which you are confronted, but we realize also your possibilities for future progress. This administration has given proof of the continued solicitude of our citizens on the mainland for your welfare by the measures recommended to the Congress and authorized by it. It has been the policy of the Federal Government to contribute even more liberally to the development of Porto Rico in this period of her upgrowth toward freedom and liberty than has been given to our States.

Included in Economic System.

Not only has the island enjoyed the invaluable privileges of full inclusion in our economic system but all of the Federal revenues from the island have been assigned to the island treasury, and now a large measure of the Federal welfare services in public works, public roads, education, agriculture, and in public health, are being extended to the island without costs to its people.

The suffering of the people of the island from the great hurricane found a generous response not only from the contribution of your fellow citizens in the United States but by large measures of relief from the Federal Treasury. The American people have been glad to cooperate in this upbuilding and in the reconstruction from present difficulties, and they take great pride in the progress you have made.

Basically what we are all striving for in our economic life is to provide for all of our citizens on this island as well as the mainland, the opportunity to gain for themselves and their families by their own effort a fair and adequate livelihood. We have confidence in the advancement of your part of our nation through economic development, through the education, and through the ordered liberty, which have created the great sister Commonwealths upon the mainland.

We wish to see every Porto Rican with the same opportunities in life to which we believe every American citizen is entitled. Economic advancement is not necessarily the foundation of moral and spiritual advancement, but it can be made so if we so conduct our institutions that prosperity shall be diffused among all our citizens. If we use its surplus to advance the cultural, the moral and spiritual welfare of our people, then economic advancement serves not alone these purposes, but becomes the bulwark of liberty and freedom itself.

Impressed by Progress.

I have been particularly impressed with the splendid efforts that you are making in the education and in health and care of children. They are the responsibility of every man and woman of the community, for in them as a whole lies the future. If each generation of youth enter upon the responsibilities of life and of the nation better equipped in body and mind and in character than their parents the nation will advance. If we fail in that no amount of legislation, no amount of wealth, no amount of culture or scientific discovery will assure progress.

I would be remiss if I should not on this occasion refer to the distinguished and devoted services to the people of Porto Rico of your governor, Theodore Roosevelt, jr. Not only has he devoted himself with success to the problems of reconstruction and development in ever proper direction, but he had realized, as we all must realize, the peculiar and grave problems presented by the increase in your population more rapidly than adequate livelihood can be gained from the older and established industries. His efforts to secure new industrial development and to expand your markets are of the first importance to the people of the island. He has proven himself the true friend of the Porto Rican people.

I should wish to convey to you a word of encouragement for the future. The achievements of your past should be your assurance. You have shown splendid ability at cooperation, building the institutions of government, and in disaster, magnificent courage. That courage and that spirit of cooperation will bring to you the blessings of prosperity. You are endeavoring, as all our people are endeavoring, to build a system where men may have an opportunity of livelihood, where insecurity is no longer a specter in the home of those who have the will to work, and where upon the soil of this prosperity you shall find richer fruits of culture and wider opportunities of mind and spirit. Those possibilities are before the people of Porto Rico. Your fellow citizens upon the mainland will cooperate with you to those ends.

Dartmouth Head Feted by Alumni

150 Graduates Gather at National Press Club for Banquet.

President Ernest Martin Hopkins, of Dartmouth University, was honor guest of 150 Dartmouth graduates from Washington and Baltimore at a banquet last night at the National Press Club.

President Hopkins was introduced by Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat, of the District Supreme Court, who in turn was presented by John Henry Bartlett, president of the Alumni Association. College songs were sung under leadership of Paul Hannah.

Guests included Senators James E. Watson and Henry W. Keyes, Representatives E. H. Wason and Carroll L. Beedy, Justice Wendell P. Stafford, Theodore G. Joslin, secretary to President Hoover; the Rev. James H. Ryan, president of Catholic University; President Lucius C. Clark, of American University; James W. Remick, war claims arbiter; George R. Wales, Civil Service Commissioner, and James A. Hill, assistant director of the census.

Sleep in Morgue Costs Intoxicated Man $10

James Cole, Negro, 22 years old, walked to the District Morgue, stowed himself in the vestibule and went to sleep, he testified in Police Court yesterday when he was brought up on a charge of intoxication.

Cole was fined $10 after he told Judge Given that if he had taken any more drinks he might have been a subject for the morgue instead of an unsteady visitor.

Counterclaim Set Up To Suit by Countess

Alleging that she had attempted to return to the A. M. Rizik store clothing valued at over $1,000 and that the store had refused to accept the goods, the Countess J. D. de Banqua yesterday, in an answer to a suit by the Rizik Co., declared she owed the store nothing.

On the contrary, she claims, Rizik owes her more than $1,000 for work she performed in negotiating a lumber deal in which he had an interest. The countess said that she had bought $80 worth of goods from the store, and she is willing to have this amount deducted from the amount she asserts Mr. Rizik owes her.

ARGO LODGE HONORS FOUNDERS TONIGHT

Fortieth Anniversary to Be Observed at B'nai B'rith Unit's Celebration.

The fortieth anniversary of the founding of Argo Lodge No. 413, B'nai B'rith, will be observed by members tonight with speeches, entertainment and a ladies' night cefebration at Jewish Community Center, Sixteenth and Q streets northwest.

Richard E. Gutstadt, diretcor of the National Bureau of Membership for B'nai B'rith, an international order of Jews with 80,000 members in 22 countries, will address the lodge.

The bureau of membership was recently created to make a scientific study of B'nai B'rith in America, with a view to increasing the number of members and enhancing their usefulness in civic activities.

Entertainment numbers will include vocal and instrumental music, and exhibition dancing, according to Simon Hirshman, chairman in charge of arrangements. Those appearing will include Mrs. Katherine Hertzberg, Margaret Levy, Rose Novak and Eleanor Blum. Dr. Abram Simon, Julius Reis are scheduled to make brief addresses. Dancing will follow the program.

Drys Fight Stand Of Mary Norton

W. C. T. U. Assails Speech of New Jersey Woman Before Democrats.

(Associated Press.)

The Women's Christian Temperance Union issued a statement yesterday assailing the statement of Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, recently to the Democratic national committee that "every decent" woman she knew desired a change in prohibition.

"Mrs. Norton was inferring to the Democratic national committee that decent women of America want a return to the legalized liquor traffic which was put out of business largely by the women because of its powerful intrigue with vicious commercial interests in commercialized indecency," the statement said.

It listed as opposed to Mrs. Norton's position Mrs. Henry Ford, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Vic Dohaney, Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, Mary E. Woolley, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, Mrs. Clarence Marshall Busch, Evangeline Booth and Jane Addams.

Shouse Replies To G. O. P. Critics

Hints New York Corruption Charge Was Brought to Defend Hoover.

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Shouse, of the Democratic national executive committee, yesterday replied to the Republican national committee's description of New York City as a "sink of corruption unparalleled even in the days of Tweed and Croker."

"It had not occurred to the Democratic national committee," he said in a statement through that organization, "that the handling of Chicago's affairs by the Big Bill Thompson-Al Capone combination was proof positive that Mr. Hoover had failed in his Presidency. In fact, the Democratic organization has thought that the cleaning up of Chicago might well be left to the people of Chicago, who are now conducting a municipal campaign to succeed Mayor Thompson with a respectable Democrat.

"However, it is easier and safer for the Republicans to point to New York's local complications than to defend the policies of the President or to explain to the country why two years of failure have left every problem he promised to solve in greater confusion than ever."

Zone Fare System Indorsed by Keech

Sees Solution to Downtown Parking Problem Under Suggested Plan.

Richmond B. Keech, the people's counsel, yesterday indorsed suggestions of the Public Utilities Commission to the street railways that they institute new methods and reduced fares in some instances to increase their passengers.

The zone system was singled out particularly by Mr. Keech, who sees in the plan a solution of the ever-growing parking congestion in the downtown area. Zone fares, he pointed out, would enable a person to drive his auto to the outskirts of the business area and to board a street car at that point.

Cleveland was cited as an example of a city that has tried the zone fare system and found it satisfactory.

Nurses Rarely Over-Fat Because They Know

Doctors, nurses, druggists and others in touch with modern medical practice are rarely over-fat. Nor are people who consult good doctors. They know that a main cause lies in a gland weakness. And they combat it with the factors used in Marmola prescription tablets.

Marmola is made for those who wish to employ this new-day method at small cost. It is prepared by a world-famous medical laboratory to fit the average case. People have used it for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others, and the use has grown and grown. Now all can see on every side that excess fat has met a foe it rarely can resist.

All because science has found the gland weakness which lets too much food go to fat. It has found the right treatment in feeding what that gland fails to supply.

That is what Marmola does. A book in each box gives the formula and tells how and why it acts. No abnormal exercise or diet is required. Simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal and vitality comes up.

Let Marmola fight your over-weight in this right way. Do it to look normal and feel normal. Don't wait longer while so many enjoy its good effects. Telephone your druggist now for a $1 box.

POSTAL CLERK HELD FOR STEALING MAIL

Admits Opening Letters of Catholic Mission and Taking Money.

Norman R. Nolen, a postoffice clerk, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling and opening letters addressed to the Right Rev. Mgr. William Hughes, director of the Bureau of Catholic Indian Missions, of 2021 H street northwest. He was committed to jail by United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage in default of $2,500 bond.

Nolan was taken before the United States commissioner on complaint of Smith W. Purdum, a postoffice inspector. Witnesses against him were Clarence E. Schooley, an official of the postoffice, and John Downey, Mr. Schooley's assistant.

The clerk, whose salary is $2,400 a year, confessed at the arraignment that he had taken letters addressed to the mission. Thirteen such letters were found by the postoffice inspectors. The arrest came through a letter sent as a "test letter," which contained $2. When the clerk took this test letter he was immediately arrested. The amount of money thought to have been lost through the opened letters is not yet known, though, if any proves to be missing, it is likely to be of a small amount.

anything affecting the status of Danzig.

The Soviet ruling means that Russia will take part not only in discussions concerning economic improvement, but will participate also in consideration of the wheat surplus problem and the issue of agricultural credits, all of which come before the commission in May.

At the afternoon session Briand warned the commission against building too ambitious a program, and this evening the meeting adjourned until tomorrow.

Italy's Entrance Possible.

Rome, March 24 (A.P.).—Italy's entrance with some of the Balkan countries into the Autro-German customs union was considered by authorities today as reasonably possible.

The government's comment momentarily was limited, officials saying they were inquiring into all aspects. Observers outside the government profess to be confident that Italy is strongly interested in the idea and quite conceivably may join what is described as "a practical United States of Europe made while Briand was dealing in words."

Italy is expected to make a commercial treaty with Hungary during Count Karolyi's presence at the grain conference here.

Four Nations Interested.

Vienna, March 24 (A.P.).—Pending developments in the projected Austro-German customs union, four nations have suspended negotiations aiming at favorable commercial treaties with Austria.

Austria has been conferring with Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Jugoslavia, and Hungary, seeking to secure a favorable revision of her expired trade treaties. Announcement of the new protocol interrupted the negotiations.

Hungary alone is showing a disposition to enter into an Austrian agreement. Others of the little entente are marking time and awaiting a cue from France.

Man Robs Bakery Woman of $157

Intruder Flees in Car After Taking Concealed Bills of Mrs. Annie Eich.

An armed colored robber early yesterday held up Mrs. Annie Eich, of 1013 Maryland avenue northeast, while alone in her bakery shop at 537 Eighth street northeast and robbed her of $157 in bills which she had concealed in the store.

After he took the money Mrs. Eich saw him leap into an automobile parked near the store. She was unable to obtain the license number. Mrs. Eich recognized the robber as a man who had come into her store on Saturday.

At that time, she said, he acted in a suspicious manner. She furnished police with a description of the intruder.

L. & N. TRAINMASTER SUSPECT IN ROBBERY

Warrant Out for Alabama Man After Arrest of Two Others.

Birmingham, Ala., March 24 (A.P.).—A warrant for the arrest of S. J. Brock, Louisville & Nashville Railroad trainmaster, for the holdup and robbery of an express messenger on a Louisville & Nashville train near here March 14 was sworn out today by T. H. Jackson, of the Birmingham Police Bureau of identification.

The warrant for Brock's arrest was issued after two others, implicated by Arthur Burnap in a confession in Chicago last night, were taken into custody. They gave their names as J. R. Brown, 33, and Hiram F. Williams, 27, both of Birmingham.

Burnap was arrested in Chicago after he had been traced through a rented automobile in which he escaped after leaving the train with $5,000.

The messenger, P. Meyer, was held up as the train was leaving Magella, a Birmingham suburb.

Brock, who was in the express car at the time of the robbery, reported he was forced back into the car as he unlocked the door and started into a coach. He said he was struck in the face and forced to tie up Meyer as the robber rifled the strong box containing the money.

OIL HEAT costs less to operate

"... A close check-up on the installation and operation costs of my Oil burner proves that I made a wise selection. I relieved myself of a lot of drudgery, and saved money in the bargain." Your Satisfied Patron, N. E. RYON, President N. E. Ryon Co., Inc.

¶ Just as there are different types of man-made heat so are there different types of automatic heat. Quite naturally, you want to choose the most economical method. And as you study the advantages of automatic heat you will be impressed by the superiority of Oil Heat.

¶ Economical operation is one of the reasons why the use of Oil heat for homes and large buildings has increased at such an astounding rate. It is no longer a secret that Oil as a fuel gives greater heat for each dollar spent. Further, in the home that is heated automatically with Oil, not so much as an ounce of fuel is consumed when the house is warm enough. Certainly it is a waste to run a fire twenty-four hours a day when it is actually needed only five or six. With Oil Heat this waste is no longer necessary.

¶ When you weigh the advantages of automatic heat from the standpoint of economy, Oil Heat will be your logical choice. There is no substitute today which has all the advantages of Oil.

MORE TAXES OR MORE DEBT.

Either higher taxes or an increase in the national debt next year is inevitable. Tax receipts for the first quarter of this year have slumped far below those of 1930. Treasury officials have lowered their estimates of receipts by $100,000,000. It seems probable that the March payments will not amount to more than $350,000,000, which is $209,500,000 below actual receipts for the same period last year.

Unofficial estimates place the deficit for this year between $700,000,000 and $800,000,000. The Treasury will have to borrow to meet the Government's obligations. It is hoped that business will pick up during the summer and that the low ebb of revenue will not be of long duration. But there is no ground for anticipating a rapid improvement, and revenue probably will continue to trail behind expenditures in 1932.

The surprising thing is that Congress took no notice of this prospective deficit in framing its program of expenditures. While this enormous deficit was accumulating Congress appropriated more money than it has ever done before in peace time. It is estimated that expenditures of the Seventy-first Congress, which adjourned this month, will amount to more than $10,000,000,000. Relief measures put an extra burden upon the Government, but many bills, such as the soldiers' bonus loan, were adopted in utter disregard of the status of the Treasury.

Congress made a gesture of paying nearly $400,000,000 on the national debt, but in reality the indebtedness of the Government will be increased this year. The Treasury had to borrow money to fill the sinking fund. Instead of cutting down the obligatory payment on the debt, Congress allowed an additional current obligation to accrue against taxpayers.

An increase in taxation next year would be extremely unfortunate. The administration may be expected to do everything in its power to obviate the necessity for it. Business is recovering from a serious depression. Neither individuals nor corporations are in a position to pay higher taxes without prolonging the depression.

MR. HOOVER IN PORTO RICO.

All reports agree that President Hoover received an extraordinary welcome in Porto Rico. The feeble pipe of agitators for "independence" was drowned in a roar of cheers for the President and for the United States. The official utterances of the chief justice of Porto Rico and other leading natives left no doubt that the people of the island are appreciative of what has been done for them in promoting health, education and economic betterment. They share in the honors of government, and their advice is given due weight by Gov. Roosevelt and the Government in Washington.

Mr. Hoover laid his finger upon the problem of Porto Rico when he stated that the dense population could not be expected to thrive upon the single industry of agriculture. The introduction of other industries is a necessity, in view of the rapid increase of population. The healthy and intelligent appearance of the native children was noted by the presidential party in its trip through the island from Ponce to San Juan and return. Porto Rico could easily support its population, with a normal increase, if the people could be enabled to develop varied industries. A market for their output is available in the other islands, which are now supplied largely from the United States.

A comparison of conditions between the beginning of American occupation and the present time illustrates the great progress that has been made. Education is becoming available to all children, and public health agencies have performed remarkably good work. The standard of living is rising in spite of economic difficulties. If Congress would give heed to the well considered recommendations of Gov. Roosevelt the island would be still better served. One result of President Hoover's visit is the assurance that Porto Rico will not suffer from neglect in Washington, as has been its fate heretofore.

DEPORTABLE ALIEN SEAMEN.

Alien seamen who desert their ships to stay in the United States can not remain here with immunity from deportation even if they succeed in eluding immigration officials for three years. The Supreme Court in handing down a decision to that effect has added strength to the deportation law by which the country can rid itself of undesirable aliens.

It is estimated that 40,000 or more aliens slip through the immigration bars every year under the guise of seamen. It most cases they are not seamen at all, but immigrants who have paid large sums for the privilege of coming here under that disguise. This is the most serious loophole in the whole immigration structure.

Justice Holmes in writing the opinion said the court could not accept the conclusion that deserting alien seamen are "made a forward class to be retained in this country when other aliens would be compelled to leave." Under this decision alien seamen may be deported even though they have been in the United States more than three years. The statute of limitations offers them no protection.

Unfortunately the King bill, which would have erected a barrier to the smuggling of immigrants as seamen and would have facilitated their deportation, was lost in the legislative jam at the close of the recent session. The measure to cut down the immigrant quotas during the depression suffered a similar fate. Congress had an opportunity to relieve American working men of competition by foreigners, but instead it wasted its time talking about a dole for the unemployed.

Reintroduction of the King bill at the next session may be expected. The decision of the Supreme Court will hasten the work of deporting bogus seamen, but the problem will not be solved until this loophole in the immigration laws is plugged up.

FALSE HOPES FOR THE FARMER.

A stampede toward an uneconomic panacea for the wheat problem is following close upon the heels of the Farm Board's failure to stabilize prices. Wheat prices have suffered a decided slump. Politicians from the agricultural States are predicting disaster for growers of this cereal. In view of the pending election of 1932 they are falling over each other in a scramble to offer something to exempt farmers from the law of supply and demand.

Senator McNary, chairman of the Senate committee on agriculture, doesn't see how the equalization fee "will help solve the present situation in the face of the world wheat surplus," yet he favors it. Senator Borah points out the necessity of reducing wheat acreage, and he has previously taken note of the dangers attendant upon a wheat dumping program. Yet he still holds to the export debenture nostrum, which would stimulate production and pay the farmers a premium for dumping wheat abroad. Even Senator Watson has permitted himself to be stampeded into the view that "we would have to come to the equalization plan as the only remedy for the present farm troubles."

These schemes to tamper with the law of supply and demand offer an actual menace to the farmer. Wheat acreage was abnormally expanded by high prices during the war. Since that time farmers have kept on producing in the belief that some arrangements would be made to take care of their surplus. The Farm Board has just demonstrated that no such arrangement is practicable, and has withdrawn its efforts to stabilize wheat prices. Now politicians step in and hold out hope to wheat growers that some panacea may be adopted by the next Congress. On the strength of political promises, thousands of growers will probably go ahead with their surplus production. The effect of this play upon the farmers' credulity is only to prolong the agricultural depression and to postpone the day when wheat growing will again reach an economical basis.

Not one of the legislative schemes for solving the wheat problem offers any solution. The effect of any one of them, if adopted, would be to stimulate production in spite of the world surplus. Any measure which encourages farmers to keep on producing a surplus is too absurd for serious consideration.

Farmers ought not to be taken in by this sophistry. It is very apparent that a bounty on American wheat in any form would result in foreign bounties and embargoes against American exports. Every wheat-exporting nation has a problem similar to that of the United States. If this country resorts to export subsidies other countries will take measures to protect their own growers. The ultimate effect would be an enormous overproduction of wheat, which would be a detriment to growers in all parts of the world.

There is a strong temptation for politicians to rush to the aid of the farmer at this time. It will take real courage for statesmen to turn their backs upon price-boosting nostrums and hasten the return to economic law. But in the end they will be recognized as the true friends of the farmer.

MEXICO'S REVISED LABOR LAW.

Mexico has undertaken the revision of its drastic labor laws, which contain regulations so severe and which grant such unusual privileges to labor that many concerns have suspended or materially reduced operations rather than submit to them. The new measure before the Mexican Congress is most exhaustive, containing over 600 clauses. The minister of industry and commerce, Aaron Saenz, considers it a "most complete and up-to-date contribution in the field of social welfare."

Contrary to the existing rules, which give laborers rights in the direction of companies where they are employed and also to a division of profits, with dictatorial rights relative to the number of employes, Dr. Saenz gives assurance that the new code "seeks to understand the viewpoint of capital, without the cooperation of which efforts for the welfare of workers become useless."

The new code deals at length with strikes or "temporary suspensions of work due to coalitions of workmen." Before a strike can be called a petition stating grievances must be sent to the employer and to the regional board of conciliation, which may authorize a strike after six or ten days, according to the industry involved.

One article provides that wages may never be less than a minimum, which is to be established in each municipality by an agency composed of an equal representation of labor and capital. The wage is to be sufficient to satisfy the normal necessities of the workman.

The many clauses are grouped under eleven heads, seven being devoted to the substance of the proposed law and the other four to administrative regulations. The entire bill will form an amendment to article 123 of the Mexican constitution.

It is predicted that the new measure will be approved by Congress with very little change. If its provisions work out as harmoniously as its sponsors hope it will go a long way toward removing the friction that has existed for some years between capital and labor in Mexico.

HELP FOR THE BLIND.

A year ago President Hoover issued invitations to 50 countries asking them to send delegates to a world conference on work for the blind. Thirty of these countries have already signified their intention of being represented at the meetings to be held in New York next month. Washington will entertain the delegates on April 21-22 in connection with a tour the delegates will make to inspect institutions for the blind.

The conference has for its purposes the promotion of international comity by bringing together for more intimate acquaintance the leaders in work for the blind in the various countries, to effect a more rapid interchange of information regarding developments in work for the blind and generally to promote international cooperation and secure much needed help in less advanced countries.

In the United States there are about 114,000 blind people and for their aid there exist 54 residential and 21 city day schools, with about 6,000 enrolled. Owing to the comparatively limited demand the printing of books for the blind has never become commercially profitable, but the Matilda Ziegler Magazine for the Blind, published in New York, is sent free to any sightless person in the United States.

Efforts to help the blind are to be commended and aided in the fullest manner. Persons afflicted with many other deficiencies or ailments learn self-help, but the blind must have assistance before they can help themselves.

Rev. Ware, of Louisiana, thinks that what the country needs is more "first-class funerals for the enemies of prohibition." That would certainly create a lot of vacancies for the unemployed.

Norman Thomas, socialist leader, is demanding an extra session of Congress. It's amazing to note the faith of the socialists in that "agency of capitalism."

BIG TREASURY DEFICIT

By W. L. BRUCKART,
In the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The Treasury can look forward to income tax receipts for March of no more than $350,000,000 as it enters the most crucial period of financing it has had to face since war days.

An official estimate was given today (March 23) that the shrinkage had gone so far that the first installment of taxes on 1930 incomes may be expected to be more than $200,000,000 below the total collected in March, 1930, a loss of almost 40 per cent. And that loss, it must be remembered, will continue to obtain in the June payments and will cut into the next fiscal year in the September and December payments.

So it is obvious that its greatest strain is yet to come. It is confronted with meeting maturities of more than $800,000,000 in the next three months and with the borrowing of at least $300,000,000 for financing current requirements of the Government. Indications now point to another long-term issue of bonds, probably for about fifteen years, although the terms will not be settled for several weeks.

In making known the Treasury expectations the official statement was authorized that the decline in March receipts thus far has been, roughly, $85,000,000 below the estimate which the Treasury made at the turn of the year. That estimate, it can now be stated, anticipated that the revenues from taxes on 1930 incomes would be about $100,000,000 below the $559,000,000 collected in the first installment last year. This makes it appear that the decline is going to run just about double what the Treasury thought would happen.

The official statement today indicated that the cold figures on increased outgo failed fully to reflect the serious character of that situation. For instance, it was shown that estimates as to the requirements to meet the loan applications by veterans on their bonus certificates was falling short of what Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, the administrator of veterans' affairs, had advised the Treasury to expect.

Gen. Hines told the Treasury he thought $100,000,000 a week would cover the outgo between March 14 and April 11. The estimate was given on March 14 and since that time actual calls for money have shown the estimate to be too conservative. The week ended March 21 ran over the expectation by more millions than officials cared to disclose, and the latest advices received by the department from Gen. Hines was that there was no hint of a slowing up in the number of applications received.

Coupled with this is the falling off in miscellaneous revenue and duties collected at the custom houses.

Taking all of these factors into consideration, even the responsible officials of the Treasury now are ready to admit a deficit of three-quarters of a billion, whereas they figured the shortage a month or so ago would run around half a billion. There is no doubt in the minds of observers that the deficit will be greater than the Treasury is willing to admit, because there is no source from which an increase in receipts may be expected during the remainder of the fiscal year.

In discussing the problems of refinancing an official explained that the department was faced with the necessity of using extreme care in offering new securities, because of the already overloaded condition of the short term or floating debt.

While it is obviously too early for the Treasury to arrive at a conclusion on terms to be used in its next offering, it appears to be certain that the operation will have to take the form of notes or bonds carrying the maturity into the next decade. There are not many unused dates for long-term maturities short of 1940 and the idea of spreading out the future demands seems to have become fixed in the minds of the department officials.

POST HASTE.

Senator Jim Davis rejects a movie engagement because he "couldn't even play the lover opposite any actress." About a million young fellows would be glad to double for him in that scene.

Suggestion for an international trade maxim: Neither prejudicial barriers nor sentimental favors last long against cheaper prices.

Official information shows that every one of us now has a per capita interest in the United States of $2,977, but carelessly and unlike the bonus news, it is not clearly indicated just where we can cash in.

Among the trivialities it must be chronicled that Congress has passed an average of two and one-third laws for every day of the last 30 years.

Mr. Raskob in demanding party platforms in language that a 14-year-old child can understand shows his disdain for the moron vote.

Still some country, this, that can confront a $700,000,000 deficit and know that it can still borrow any amount at the world's best interest rate.

Traitorous tip for the Equal Righters: Women can get anything they want from men easier by any other argument than demanding it as a right.

The Maryland wife beater was flogged so gently that there is danger that he left jail with the idea his wife enjoyed it.

The beauty of the equalization fee is that it will prevent overproduction of farm votes against the G. O. P., says Jim Watson. F. H.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

NOT FOR HOME CONSUMPTION.

As a writer of books with a brilliant mind
He lauded the follies of human kind.
"Respectable people," wrote he, "are flat
And as dull to see as a last year's hat.
They live by mottoes and age-old saws,
They go to churches and keep the laws.
They work for wages and pay their bills.
Leave money to charity in their wills.
But they're morons all, for they still believe
In Santa Claus' visits on Christmas eve."

As a writer of books he battered down
The names of all who had gained renown,
He ran through the list of the Nation's dead
And this you would learn if his work you read
They were no better for all they'd done
Or the faith they'd shown or the fame they'd won
Than the commonest digger of ditches here
Who chases the women or gumdes beer,
For he could prove on his printed page
They had all the faults of their day and age

Now a son is traveling the town around
Who is greatly disturbing this mind profound.
And this author of books has taken the whim
To speak, not as writer, but father to him
This urge for wildness is causing him grief;
In original folly he's losing belief,
And he says to the boy: "It would please me best
If you'd practice the virtues I seem to detest,
So cut out the nonsense—you know what I mean——
Be honest, be manly, be fair, be clean."

The Most Efficient Factory Can't Compete With Goods Made in the Penitentiary.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN Russia is mentioned as a menace to America's future prosperity, the average man is unimpressed.

He fears nothing because he doesn't realize what is happening.

If he will study the simple facts that are known and undisputed, he must come to the conclusion that present-day Russia threatens the living of every man in America—not because the Russians are mad and wicked monsters, full of evil designs, but simply because their effort to improve their own condition conflicts with the system that makes America prosperous.

The whole story can be told in a few paragraphs.

The new Russia is like a giant corporation in which everybody works for the government at wages fixed by the government. Everybody works to one end and purpose, as Americans did during the war.

That purpose is to industrialize Russia in five years—to do in five years what no other nation has done in less than a century—to change an agricultural nation into a manufacturing and exporting nation.

The task will require and is requiring thousands of technical experts and billions of dollars.

By no possibility could it be accomplished without the aid of America and other nations.

America is furnishing the greater part of the technical knowledge and the machinery.

These services and supplies must be paid for in gold, for Russia has no credit.

To obtain the necessary money, Russia must produce and sell something.

Therefore the Russian people are allowed the bare necessities of life while everything that can be produced and spared is sold abroad.

As a merchant in need of cash will cut prices, so Russia sells her exports at a low figure regardless of the cost of production.

The result is that no other people can possibly compete with her, for the others must make a profit or go out of business.

Now consider what that means to America.

Already Russia is selling wheat, lumber, pulp wood, manganese, gelatin, matches, tires and other articles at prices Americans can not meet.

America's prosperity depends upon foreign markets. Close foreign markets to American goods and half of our factories would shut down.

Yet Russia's success will mean, within a few years, the invasion of every market with goods offered below the American cost of production.

And American brains are equipping Russia to steal the markets on which America depends!

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

A Faulty Diagnosis.

Minneapolis Journal.

When Senator Borah made his bid for leadership of the Progressives at the recent Washington conference, he based his diagnosis of present-day economic conditions on the assertion that "4 per cent of the people control 80 per cent of the Nation's wealth." His program of political action is built around the claim that such is the ownership of wealth in this country.

Senator Borah's prescription is based on a diagnosis so demonstrably erroneous that the public can well be excused for viewing skeptically his remedies.

Ownership of the great business enterprises of the Nation is today more widely distributed, and the national wealth, along with it, than ever before in American history. And the tendency is for the general diffusion to increase, not decrease.

Progressive Cowardice.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The conference of self-styled "Progressives" made much ado about economic issues, but, with a cowardliness not at all one of the characteristics of the great leader of progressive thought who led them through the only campaign in which they figured as a "third party," they steered away from the dominant social issue of the time.

Some say they are willing to stand a certain amount of Congress because it feels so good when it adjourns.

Texas and Raskob.

Peter Molyneaux, in the Texas Weekly.

What the Democratic party needs in 1932 is a candidate who will unite the party, not a factional candidate who will divide it on the liquor question, whether that candidate be wringing wet or bone dry.

In Texas we need a real uniting of the party, something more solidly based than the adoption by the Legislature of carefully phrased resolutions professing loyalty to the party in glittering generalities. This can not be promoted by those who are ready to follow Mr. Raskob's leadership and who still regard Senator Love and the Democrats who followed him in bolting the presidential nominee two years ago as Republicans or mugwumps. On the other hand, it can not be promoted either by a too narrow factionalism on the part of the so-called Hoovercrats. Unity requires that party interests shall be placed above mere factional interests. Mr. Raskob and his followers would make the Democratic party a "wet" party. On the other hand, there are those who would make it a "dry" party. Historically and traditionally it is neither, and any attempt to make it either, if successful, must inevitably destroy its chances of success in 1932.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Silver Must Be Stabilized or Must Overproduction and Russian Dumping Will Result in World Slump.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Every important factory in the United States is geared up for mass production. Mass production means overproduction unless there is a sale of the excess over local demands in foreign countries.

Mr. Deterding, the big English oil man, says there is no overproduction so long as one-half of the world suffers with underconsumption.

Mr. Darling, the famous English banker, says one-half the world is unable to buy what the other half has to sell because their silver money has been filched from them by gold standard fanatics rushing India to a gold basis.

Rushing Mexico, the Central and South American nations and India and China to the gold standard has caused silver to drop like a plummet in the past two years. The Mexican dollar current for years in the Orient at the rate of two Mex for one American gold dollar is now exchanged at the rate of about five Mex for one gold dollar.

When one discusses the present silver question, which is fundamentally different from the Bryan 16-to-1 craze, one is dismissed by bankers and big business men as a silver crank.

Nevertheless, something has got to be speedily done about this silver question, because there is a bigger menace in the offing. This is Communist Russia's five-year plan, which is being rapidly pushed to completion. Once Russia gets into production on a mass scale in the big factories now being built by certain American manufacturers and engineers the whole foreign market may be lost forever to America.

The solution of the silver question lies in getting all the leading nations to agree on a ratio between silver and gold. As a compliment to Mexico, it may as well be the old rate of exchange, two Mex for one gold dollar. If all the nations agree, the Gresham law that an inferior coin drives out the superior coin will be rendered inoperative, all countries being equal so far as monetary values are concerned.

Something had better be done quickly, otherwise, pfoof! away will go the Wall Street market; and if the Russian menace gets in its work of dumping goods for almost nothing in China, India and South America, a depression will set in that may cause serious trouble. I am no Socialist nor silver crank. I believe in the existing order of things.

JEREMIAH JOHNSON.

Scrap Between Dreiser and Lewis a Mere Throwback to Mid-Victorian Days—Nothing Modern About It.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have always agreed with those who assert that the human beings of one generation are only superficially different from what they were in the past. It seems to me that all this talk by "advanced" thinkers about how our twentieth century is more "sophisticated" than the Victorian Age is only sour applesauce warmed over from the good old days.

There always has been a good deal of good mixed with the bad of humanity, even among savages, and whether fine or foolish, our reaction to the play of primitive emotion is pretty much what it has been since the days of Cain.

This line of thought is suggested by what happened at the recent dinner in New York in honor of Boris Pilnyak, Russian Communist writer, when Theodore Dreiser, misanthropic modernist, planted two slaps on the face of Sinclair Lewis, satirical author of "Babbitt."

So it seems that even sophisticated modernist writers are an envious and irritable tribe, and in my mind's ear those Dreiser slaps have a distinct mid-Victorian sound. Subsequent remarks by Lewis also have a lingering smack of the days of injured innocence and Dickens.

"Dreiser's a pretty big fellow," he said, "and must weight close to 200 pounds. I'll bet he could have put up a pretty good scrap if they'd let us go."

These naive words show that the winner of the Nobel prize is after all quite human—quite like Babbitt. If he would devote his unquestioned talent to the writing of a novel in this spirit, he might yet produce something lasting.

Writing that is for all time is always modern. It must reflect the truth that in every age and clime all people, modernists included, are brothers and sisters under the skin, as illustrated by the misunderstanding between Dreiser and Lewis.

PATRICK SPENCE.

Plain Citizen Disappointed at Showing of Socialists Who Want Extra Session of Congress.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I attended the meeting of the several organizations in Senator Frazier's committee room on Monday as "an innocent bystander" when the speakers asked that the leaders in Congress request the President to call a special session of Congress for the purpose of enacting legislation to ameliorate the unemployment situation. Except for Norman Thomas, candidate for President on the Socialist ticket in 1928, I saw no one sitting in on the conference who is a national character, although the organizations they represented probably are more than local in membership. There was one faction at the conference which was very anxious to have the special session of Congress take up the international economic and World War problems as a remedy for our own troubles. Joining the world court and canceling the war debt was the remedy of this faction. Thomas was for issuing bonds by the Federal Government to be used as a "dole" for the unemployed. This was to be recovered to the Government through an increased income tax in the higher brackets.

There was a noticeable amount of idealism and a great lack of practical constructive ideas at the meeting. So far as I could understand, those attending accept without question all factors in social life "as is," and with that foundation seek to change the world's manner of living and doing business—using a little of the money Uncle Sam can dig up to bring the change about.

I was quite disappointed.

CITY CONSTRUCTION OF MEMORIAL URGED

Capital Business Bodies Insist Upon Local Builder for Doric Shaft.

Award of the contract for construction of the Doric Memorial to Washingtonians who lost their lives in the World War to a local contractor, was urged yesterday in letters to the Buy-in-Washington Council, Inc., from the Washington Board of Trade, the local Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants and Manufacturers Association.

A local architect has drawn the plans for the memorial, but reports have circulated that there was a possibility of the contract being awarded to an out-of-town contractor. This evoked the flood of protests from the trade organizations.

Writing to E. J. Murphy, chairman of the Buy-in-Washington Council, George Plitt, president of the Board of Trade, observes that if the work is given to an outside contractor "the whole spirit behind the movement for the memorial will be violated."

"Construction of the war memorial by out-of-town agencies would violate the principle and do injustice to the people of our city," Harry King, president of the Chamber of Commerce, averred.

Mark Lansburgh, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, points out in his letter to Mr. Murphy that a large part of the funds for the memorial was given by local labor union members. Letting the work to Washington general and subcontractors is of both financial and moral value to the city, Mr. Lansburgh added.

$505,000 in Cash Left by Widow

Mrs. Frances Cragin's Estate Listed at $645,263 in Florida Court.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 24 (A.P.).—Personal property, appraised at $645,263, of which $505,000 was cash, was left by Mrs. H. Francis Cragin, Boston and Palm Beach, who died intestate at Jacksonville, February 5.

This was shown by court proceedings filed here today in which Mary A. Chapman, sister of Mrs. Cragin, and W. E. Frost, grandnephew, both of West Palm Beach, were appointed joint administrators of the estate under $400,000 bond.

Mrs. Cragin's personal assets as reported by appraisers included $495,579 cash in the Philadelphia National Bank and about $7,000 in Jacksonville banks. American Telephone & Telegraph Co. stocks valued at $74,774 and bonds appraised at more than $48,000. Approximately a score of legal heirs in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, St. Louis and Chicago were listed.

Four Perfect Bridge Hands Dealt on Ship

Prince Rupert, B. C., March 24 (A.P.).—Four perfect bridge hands were dealt in the smoking room of the steamer Catala, en route from Vancouver to Prince Rupert.

The hands were not played and there was no shooting.

M. A. Marley, of Prince Rupert, held 13 spades; Capt. W. F. Armour, of Prince Rupert, 13 hearts; D. C. Scott, commercial traveler, 13 diamonds, and A. Rothstein, Vancouver, 13 clubs.

40 REBELS ARE SLAIN IN BRIEF LIMA REVOLT

night. Rebel troops started through the streets, firing into the air.

The rebels commandeered taxicabs and omnibuses in their advance toward the palace. Loyalists of the Fifth and Seventh regiments and other guards, with machine guns and rifles, fired from the balconies and roof and checked the attackers.

Under direction of the minister of war the Loyalists started in pursuit of the rebels when they retreated. Many shots were exchanged as soldiers and tanks dashed through the streets.

After the rebels returned to their barracks there was comparative calm in the city. Shortly before midnight War Minister Gustavo Jiminez drew his forces up before the Santa Catalina Fortress.

Barracks Are Stormed.

Jiminez and two aids entered the barracks after ordering his officers to open fire against the fortress if he did not return in ten minutes as this would mean he was being detained.

When he did not come out after ten minutes the loyalists waited seven minutes longer and at 12:12 a. m., they attacked the barracks from all sides.

A cannon shot destroyed the main door of the fortress and the attackers swarmed in and subdued some of the rebels. At first they were repulsed by a volley of shot, but on their second attack the remaining rebels surrendered.

Jimenez was cut off inside the barracks by the attack of his own men. He and his two aids sheltered themselves behind a wall until the firing ceased. He tried unsuccessfully to persuade the rebels to surrender. They told him they had not been paid and that their complaint against bad food had not been heeded.

Buildings Damaged by Fire.

Several artillery shots, fired at the fortress went astray. They damaged nearby buildings. One shot fell into a room of the Chamber of Deputies, smashing furniture.

Both Lima and Callao were quiet tonight.

A medical board, consisting of Dr. McCornack, an American, and three Peruvian surgeons, has decided to operate on Augusto B. Leguia, deposed Peruvian President, who is serving a prison sentence for mishandling funds during his administration. He has been in ill health for some time.

The doctors agreed to perform the operation inside the penitentiary, where the former president is confined, although Dr. McCornack objected that this would afford insufficient facilities.

Morrows View Naples.

Naples, Italy, March 24 (A.P.).—United States Senator Dwight W. Morrow and Mrs. Morrow spent this day seeing the sights of the city. They leave for Palermo on Thursday.

Indian Cunning Finds Body Of Wealthy Pennsylvanian

Seminoles Solve Riddle of Everglades as Dim Track From Wrecked Car Is Followed to Victim of Exposure, Injuries and Starvation.

Miami, Fla., March 24 (A.P.).—Seminole Indian hunters today solved a riddle of Florida's trackless Everglades by finding the body of Thomas H. Wentz, 47, wealthy Norristown, Pa., business man, after police science and airplanes had failed.

Willie and Mack Osceola, veteran hunters of the tribe, and a lad known as Young Buck answered the call of white friends Saturday. Today they found Wentz's partly decomposed body slumped in a lonely open savanna of the glades, a victim of starvation and exposure during his dazed hunt for assistance after an automobile accident.

With other braves under the direction of Chief Cory Osceola, the hunters started their trail-seeking after white searchers peering through binoculars from an airship, located Wentz's automobile bogged in an Everglades marsh 6 miles west of Homestead. The ship continued to search for Wentz, who disappeared March 6 while en route from Homestead, Fla., to Miami, but the hunt was futile.

The Seminoles picked up the trail at the automobile. Policemen from Miami, spurred by a $5,000 reward offered by Wentz' brother, already had constructed a story of the missing man's action. Their theory indicated what they believed to be his error in the choice of highways so that he drove into the Everglades instead of to Miami. They theorized that he was injured when his automobile plunged into the marsh.

The Indians followed a dim trail, marked by infrequent prints of Wentz's pointed shoes in the marsh mud. Yesterday they found a blood-stained handkerchief, a box of matches and Wentz's eyeglasses at a point where he apparently stopped to rest.

Today they found his body, with the coat collar turned up as if for shelter from the elements. It was barely a mile from a farmhouse where he might have gained food, shelter and medical aid.

When You CAN'T QUIT

A headache is often the sign of fatigue. When temples throb it's time to rest. If you can't stop work, you can stop the pain. Bayer Aspirin will do it, every time. Take two or three tablets, a swallow of water, and carry-on—in comfort.

Don't work with nerves on edge or try all day to forget a nagging pain that aspirin could end in a jiffy! Genuine aspirin can't harm you; just be sure it's Bayer.

In every package of Bayer Aspirin are proven directions for headaches, colds, sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis, etc. Carry these tablets with you, and be prepared. To block a sudden cold on the street-car; quiet a grumbling tooth at the office; relieve a headache in the theatre; spare you a sleepless night when nerves are "jumping."

And no modern girl needs "time out" for the time of month! Bayer Aspirin is an absolute antidote for periodic pain.

Take Bayer Aspirin for any ache or pain, and take enough to end it. It can't depress the heart. That is medical opinion. That is why it is only sensible to insist on the genuine tablets that bear the Bayer cross. The pocket tin is a convenient size. The bottle of 100 tablets is most economical to buy.

THE LIFE INSURANCE TRUST PROTECTS POLICY PROCEEDS

Life Insurance is becoming more and more a part of business and finance. In fact, with the increasing advantages made possible through the Life Insurance Trust, it is included in almost every well-planned financial program as a substitute for earning power, or for the purpose of providing immediate funds for the protection of business interests and estate proceeds.

The Life Insurance Trust is a successful development in estate management. It is made effective by means of a trust agreement in which you name this Trust Company trustee. The Trustee's powers for investment and distribution of the proceeds of your life insurance are specifically outlined by you in the agreement.

Its operations automatically begin at the time when the insurance money is paid. It has as its principal purpose the conservation of these funds in order that your insurance will ultimately and definitely accomplish the things for which it was purchased.

Whitney Horse Is Favored to Win at Aintree

Easter Hero, Sir Lindsay Lead in Choices at English Race.

EASTER HERO or Sir Lindsay —which shall it be? This is the all absorbing question of the American colony in London torn between two odds as Friday, the exciting day of the grand national steeplechase at Aintree draws near. Whether t'were better to place stakes on the swift horse entered by Mr. Jock H. Whitney, of New York, Washington and Virginia, or to trust to the luck that might be offered by his stablemate with the interesting name of the British Ambassador, that is the question.

In the call-over of betting odds on the Grand National late Monday afternoon Mr. Whitney's horse was the favorite, with Sir Lindsay and a British-owned steeplechaser, Ballasport, second choices. Generally loyal to any horse that Mr. Whitney might enter, the racing fans of the smart American group in London finds the cards a bit difficult this year inasmuch as fortunes on the race track have been won and lost in the psychology of mere names.

With the Easter season almost here one good guess might dictate the choice of Easter Hero; with the popularity of the envoy from Great Britain forming a factor, odds on Easter Hero's stablemate lend distinct force.

According to their custom Mr. and Mrs. Whitney went over to England in plenty of time to get "everything set" for the all-important race. It has been their annual custom for years to cross the Atlantic at this time of year just for the Grand National. Before their marriage, which was last fall, Mr. Whitney entered horses at the Aintree track and Miss Altemus, now Mrs. Whitney, found nothing so interesting in Philadelphia, Paris or anywhere else to compare with the thrill of watching the gradual reduction of the field as the big day approached at Aintree.

In addition to their Middleburg estate, where the horse is the all-absorbing factor, Mr. and Mrs. Whitney purchased late last fall a house at Saratoga, N. Y., which will be thrown open to all lovers of good horses when the season opens in midsummer. With the rest of that little circle which "religiously" follows the tracks Mr. and Mrs. Whitney always are to be found at the Kentucky Derby.

They spend much of the winter at the Middleburg estate, in the neighborhood which, year by year, finds additional "fans." Their farm is not far from the 400-acre race horse farm, Rokeby, purchased a day or two ago by Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, for his son, Paul Mellon, who is a student at Cambridge University, England.

After the race in England the Whitneys will go to Paris for the spring season.

Capertons Arrive For Spring Stay.

Admiral William B. Caperton and Mrs. Caperton, and their daughter, Miss Margaret Caperton, have taken an apartment at Stoneleigh Court, where they will remain for the spring season.

Admiral and Mrs. Caperton for the past few years have been living in Newport, R. I., although formerly they made their home in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Livingston Hartley have arrived in Asheville, N. C. Mrs. Hartley, before her recent marriage, was Miss Louise Randolph, of Charlottesville, Va., and Washington.

Maj. and Mrs. George S. Patton, jr., entertained a party at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel last evening.

Mrs. Henry Albers will entertain a company at luncheon today in compliment to Mrs. Charles Deneen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis To See Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Ellis entertained at dinner last evening at their home on Massachusetts avenue. Next month Mr. and Mrs. Ellis will open their country home, Rippon Lodge, for the spring and later in the summer will go to Europe to attend the International Colonial and Overseas Exposition in Paris, to which Mr. Ellis has been appointed counsel.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Holcombe and their son, Mr. Marshall M. Holcombe, have left by motor for Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. They will return Sunday, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Priscilla Holcombe, and Miss Natalie Lantz, of Charleston, Ill., who will visit the Holcombes in Washington during her spring vacation.

Sweetbriar Beauty

MISS ELIZABETH VAN CONOVER, of Lake Charles, La., has been selected maid of honor to the May queen at Sweetbriar College, Virginia, for the annual festival.

Peggy Hoover Asked to Find Buried Candy

Virginia Ryman Hid It as Treasure in Blue Briar Garden.

Will Peggy Ann Hoover find the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow? For it is there, in a corner of the garden at Blue Briar Cottage near Asheville, where Peggy Ann went more than a week ago to celebrate her birthday with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, jr.

Small Virginia Ryman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ryman, of Washington, knows all about the buried treasure and has sent a letter speeding on its way to tell Peggy Ann about it.

A long time ago, the little girl's note will say, a pretty box, tied and sealed and placed in a wooden box, was buried in the garden and it is there still and Peggy Ann is to look for it. Virginia knows all about it for she was the little girl who put inside the box rose petals and brown sugar, "guaranteed to get all sweet and hard and sugary if you packed it tight in the black dirt."

Virginia is only 7 years old now, but remembers the day at Blue Briar Cottage (where her father and mother lived for years), when she coaxed the old cook to seal up her precious package. Then she stole through the garden gate and into a far corner and buried the box with its funny contents. It surely must be sugary and good by this time and since Virginia is so far away and Peggy Ann right there on the spot the little Southern girl wants the granddaughter of the President to find it.

Mrs. Benjamin Gantz, wife of Commander Gantz, U. S. N., who recently returned from China, where he has been stationed, is the guest in whose honor Mrs. Eleanor Coxe Griffith will entertain at luncheon today at the Shoreham.

The other guests will be Mrs. George W. Offutt, mother of Mrs. Gantz; Mrs. Frank Morrison, Mrs. Edward Banks Gibson, Mrs. Thomas Smith Thorne, Mrs. Frederick W. Makinney, Mrs. Christian Knudsen, Mrs. Robert V. Maralist, Mrs. Booth Black, Mrs. H. Kennedy McCook, Mrs. Samuel R. Logue, Mrs. Arnold Seymour and Miss Marion Logue.

Mrs. Alexander W. Gregg, accompanied by Miss Lucy Allen, of New York, has sailed for Bermuda, where they will spend several weeks.

Mrs. James W. Good entertained at luncheon yesterday at Wardman Park Hotel.

Miss E. Schroth entertained a party of eight for luncheon in the crystal room of the Willard yesterday, preceding a bridge party.

Gen. and Mrs. Robert C. Davis have gone to New York and are at the St. Regis. They will return in a few days.

The Italy-America Society of Washington has issued invitations for a recital at the Italian Embassy on Sunday afternoon by Signor Carlo Lecchi, pianist.

Get-Together Luncheon Held In Club Drive

Democratic Women Will Open Campaign Today to Last Week.

The members of the Woman's National Democratic Club entertained at a get-together luncheon yesterday to meet one another informally and to discuss matters of interest to the club, especially the drive for new members which will open today and last for a week.

Among those at the luncheon were Mrs. Lester Pollock, Mrs. Samuel Herrick, Mrs. George M. Eckels, Mrs. Edward A. Stuart, Mrs. Edward B. Meigs, Mrs. Charles Warren, Mrs. Burton K. Wheeler, Mrs. H. E. C. Bryant, Mrs. Frank Bright, Miss Ruth Oberly, Mrs. Luke I. Wilson, Miss Agnes Winn, Miss Charl Williams, Miss Imogene Howell, Mrs. Cordell Hull, Mrs. W. W. Cook, Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Lewis J. Battle, Mrs. Edward Keating, Mrs. Daniel Roper, Mrs. Robert K. Noble, Mrs. A. A. Jones, Mrs. John B. Kendrick, Mrs. Rose Yates Forrester, Mrs. Ogilvie Shumate, Mrs. Claude R. Porter, Mrs. Rosa M. Mulcare, Miss Mary Edith Coulson, Mrs. Edward K. Campbell, Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Miss Genevieve H. Brown, Mrs. M. A. J. Markley, Mrs. Rufus W. Weaver and Mrs. Joseph C. Trimble.

The membership drive will open today with a tea this afternoon when former Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin will make short talks. The officers and members of the board of governors will be present. The clubhouse will be open every afternoon during the drive and tea will be served.

Col. Montgomery Host at Dinner.

Col. Herbert H. Montgomery entertained at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel last evening. The guests were Col. and Mrs. Harry Cavenaugh, Mrs. Seth Cook and her daughter, Miss Marie Cook; Mrs. MacDonald and Col. Montgomery's son, Mr. Robert S. Montgomery.

Mme. Felian Garzia will conduct a salon Francaise in the Stoneleigh Court studio of the District of Columbia League of American Pen Women tonight when members may bring guests. Miss Mary Cryder will present Mme. Ralph Baker in a group of French songs, accompanied by Mme. Blandy. French poetry will be read by Mme. Andre Beneteau and interpreted by Dr. Beneteau.

Miss Margaretta Wright entertained yesterday at the National Woman's Country Club in honor of Miss Loranda Prochnik and Mr. Francis Lecompte Spalding, whose wedding will take place tomorrow. Last night Miss Prochnik, Mr. Spalding and Mr. Edgar Prochnik were the guests in whose honor Miss Belle Johnson entertained at a supper-dance at Chantecler Club. The guests included the member of the wedding party.

Additional Patrons Named for Dance.

Additional patrons for the entertainment and dance to be given by the Disabled American Veterans of the World War at the Willard on Saturday night, April 4, are Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Rear Admiral Samuel B. Robison, Mrs. Amos G. Draper, Miss Martha E. Edwards, Dr. Lulu I. Waters, Mrs. Robert S. Pickens and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes. The list of patrons is headed by the President and Mrs. Hoover, several Cabinet officials and high-ranking members of officialdom.

The dance is being given to finance the D. A. V. pillar in the new nonsectarian memorial chapel being erected by the "Gray Ladies" at Walter Reed Hospital. The memorial chapel in which one of eight pillars is to be dedicated to the D. A. V., is being erected for the purpose of furnishing a place where service men, regardless of creed, can worship.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Eynon, jr., have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Miss K. Jane Eynon, to Lieut. F. Massie Hughes, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Hughes, of Selma, Ala., which will take place on Wednesday April 8, at 8 o'clock at Wardman Park Hotel.

Miss Eynon will have Mrs. R. C. Leary as matron of honor, and Mr. Joseph Emmett Hughes, brother of the bridegroom, will be best man. A reception will follow the ceremony.

Mrs. Ralph P. Craft, wife of Capt. Craft, will entertain today informally at luncheon at her home in honor of Mrs. Harry G. Bishop, wife of Maj. Gen. Bishop.

Mrs. Brooke To Entertain Needle Guild

Dr. Lillian Gilbert Will Lecture on Work of Organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Brooke have with them at their home on K street, Miss Anne Ross, of Philadelphia, who will spend two or three days here, and Mr. Frederick H. Brooke, jr., who will be in Washington until the end of the week, when he will return to his studies at St. Paul's School.

Mrs. Bayard Henry, of Philadelphia, will arrive the last of the week to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Brooke, en route to her home after a visit to Jekyll Island, off the coast of Georgia.

The members of the first Needlework Guild of America will meet at Mrs. Brooke's home on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when a talk will be given by Dr. Lillian Gilbert on the importance of the work of this organization. Tea will be served afterward.

The guild was organized in 1889, and has now become one of the diocesan charities.

Miss Katherine Elwes Thomas, author of "The Real Personages of Mother Goose," will be the guest of honor and speaker at the Arts Club tomorrow evening. She will talk on "How I Met the Real Mother Goose." Miss Maud Burr Morris will be the hostess.

Aid of Curtis Is Sought for Indian Exhibit

Washingtonians Will Be Asked to Sponsor Art on Tour.

Planning to return to Washington shortly for another visit, Mrs. Roberts Walker, of New York, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth White, also of New York, have returned to their homes after spending several days here. Mrs. Walker was the guest of Baroness Korff.

They came here to have an interview with Vice President Curtis in connection with an exhibition of Indian art, which they hope to bring to the Capital in the course of a tour of other cities of the East next winter. The exhibition will open in New York next fall at the Grand Central Galleries. Mrs. Walker is head of the Eastern Association of Indian Affairs.

In enlisting the interest of the Vice President, Mrs. Walker and Miss White hope to find others prominent in Washington who will sponsor the project to enable them to bring the exhibition to the Capital.

They have traveled extensively through the West. Miss White owns a large home in Santa Fe, in addition to her residence in New York at 350 East Fifty-seventh street.

Mrs. Frank Anderson, owing to illness, has been obliged to recall her invitations for a tea in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Philip Barlow Hoge, at the Washington Club Friday. Mrs. Philip Barlow Hoge is visiting her mother at the Brighton.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THIS writer has recently seen the printed statement that the family name "Wingate" began with a soldier who was given that name because he won a gate from the enemy. Such a statement involves not one, but several gross errors. In the first place it implies that all the families which bear the name are descended from a common ancestor, although there is most conclusive evidence to the contrary. Such unwarranted explanations are frequently propagated by professional genealogists who are thereby enabled to simplify their work, at the expense of the truth, and who also welcome the chance to flatter the persons who bear the name, likewise at the expense of the truth. In years gone by such explanations could be excused because no trustworthy information was available. However, at the present time the science of philology combined with the careful study of early historical records affords us such accurate information as to make such "winning the gate" theories inexcusable.

The family name "Wingate" (also spelled "Wingett") is of English origin, being derived from the old English "windan," meaning "to turn" and "to wind," and "geat," meaning "gate." It indicates an original place of residence near a gate which was moved by a process of winding. Many families which bear this name have received it because of having formerly lived in one of the places called Wingate in the counties of Durham, Lancashire and Northumberland. In a few cases "Wingate" is a modern variation of the Anglo-Saxon personal name "Wingod," which means "protecting God." Three persons bearing this name are mentioned in the Hundred Rolls.

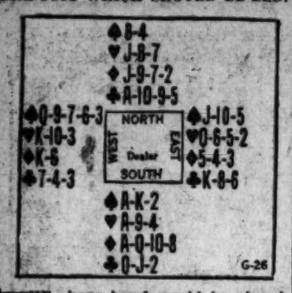
WORK ON BRIDGE

THE SUIT WHICH SHOULD BE LED.



THE above hand would be played with South the Declarer and a contract of one No Trump at Auction Bridge; three No Trumps (two bid by South, three by North) at Contract Bridge.

West leads the Six of Spades which South wins; South to trick 2 leads the Queen of Clubs, finessing in dummy. East wins with the King which establishes three Club tricks for South, and East then returns his partner's Spade. South passes the second Spade trick but wins the third.

Declarer now has two Spade tricks and three Clubs, will win with the Aces of Hearts and Diamonds, and needs only a successful Diamond finesse for game. So he leads the Jack of Diamonds from dummy and plays the Ten from closed hand. West wins with the King and cashes his two Spades; and as the adversaries already have taken the King of Clubs and one Spade, they saved game.

What's wrong with this picture?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

The correct play of the hand is as follows: South leads the Ace and another Diamond to tricks 2 and 3; establishing the suit, expecting the adverse King to win, and not caring which hand holds it. After this the adversaries establish their Spades; but South holds up the good Spade until the third round. Then East has no more to lead if the original lead was from five, and only two Spade tricks can be made by East-West if the original lead was from four; so the Club finesse can be tried with impunity and game is certain whether the finesse wins or loses. Playing in this way Declarer makes two Spades, one Heart, three Diamonds and three Clubs.

Jane Interprets the Mode

Dress of black crepe marocain with white satin top, and accompanying coat trimmed in alternating strips of fur and fabric. (Courtesy of Martial et Armand, Paris.)

Paris, March 24.

THERE'S just one reason why printed chiffons and crepes have fallen into disfavor, and when this little defect is overcome I can predict that they will return to favor.

Several years ago when these lovely printed things first arrived, everybody, including the Paris Haute Couture, was enchanted with them and, being misled by their obviously flattering effect on womenkind, thought no further than to make them up into garments. The result, as you know, was that three yards of any printed material could make a dress in a half hour or so, at great expense to smartness of cut and line.

Then when the mode became so very much more important both to the woman and to the creator, the charm of the printed fabric was not sufficient to blind us to carelessness in workmanship. Consequently, we now hear on every side that women are "tired" of prints and they say so themselves and think that their distaste for poorworkmanship means that they are tired of printed fabrics! Actually it is very improbable that one could tire of an idea which is in itself so very changeable—because there is no limit to the designs and varieties in prints.

Dame Fashion then, ever wise at heart even though seemingly frivolous, is paying a great deal more attention to how she makes up her printed fabrics than ever before. Consequently a garment is what it is this season, and whether it is made of plain or printed material is decidedly of secondary consideration.

Hurray for prints then, but as well made as their loveliness deserves!

* * * *

Every lovely lady is a princess this summer, that is if she wants to be very Parisian in her hats, and wears romantic princess bonnets of other days. We tell her how she can make such a bonnet in this week's illustrated leaflet. Juliet's jeweled bonnet, Guinevere's turquoise blue and Elaine's scarlet one were just exactly like Miss 1931's spring bonnet! Now aren't you all intrigued and can you wait another instant to send that stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of the Washington Post for the leaflet telling you how to make it?

* * * *

I have sketched for you today a very smart and extremely graceful afternoon ensemble for the older woman, trimmed with strips of fur and cloth, alternating. This type of trimming I thought was especially clever, because it gave all of the elegance that fur trimming really should give to this type of an ensemble without looking too wintry in effect.

The skirt of the dress is black crepe marocain, while the top of it is white satin with black cuffs on the sleeves striped with white incrustations, but the skirt incrustations are black, not white, which would really be too much, you see. And then the coat is three-quarter length and of black marocain, with the fur trimming in strips as you can see. Don't you find it nice?

Kotex fits securely

It is shaped to give inconspicuous protection

GOWNS fit smoothly when Kotex is your sanitary protection. Corners are rounded and tapered so that Kotex fits securely and comfortably.

Kotex is safe. It absorbs laterally. The long, delicate fibers of which Kotex is made carry moisture swiftly away from the surface, leaving the protective edges dry and comfortable. It can be worn on either side, with equal protection, with no possibility of embarrassment from wrong adjustment.

Kotex is soft, too. Not merely an apparent softness that soon becomes chafing hardness, but a delicate lasting softness. And, of course, Kotex is disposable. That's the reason millions of women first adopted this modern sanitary protection.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

GLADIOLUS FOR THE AMATEUR GARDENER.

THE gladiolus is one summer-flowering bulb which can not be surpassed in the stately beauty of its tall spikes of flowers. There are three reasons why this bulb is so desirable for planting in the garden of the person who has had little experience in growing plants of any kind. First, it is beautiful; second, it is inexpensive, and third, it is easy to cultivate.

You can arrange these bulbs among your perennials in small informal groups or you can plant them at the foot of your garden or along the edge of a vegetable patch. It is well to arrange those you mean to cut for house decoration in some less conspicuous place than among your perennials.

Gladiolus will do well, with ordinary care, in almost any soil. The best results, however, will be obtained if you plant them in well-enriched, sandy loam. The best fertilizers for gladiolus are sheep manure or bonemeal. You should incorporate this food with soil at least two weeks, but better three weeks before you plant the bulbs.

You should begin planting gladiolus as soon as the ground is workable, but the amateur had better not attempt to set out the bulbs until after the 15th of April.

A succession of bloom may be obtained by successive planting every two weeks until June 15. When setting the bulbs in rows, which is the best method of planting those which you mean to cut for house decoration, arrange the rows 15 inches apart and the bulbs about 6 inches apart in the rows. Plant the bulbs about 6 inches deep.

Some large growers advocate a top dressing of equal parts sheep manure and bonemeal. This should be applied four times a season. Where you have a rather fertile soil and have been generous with sheep manure and bonemeal before planting, I do not consider this necessary.

During the summer the beds where gladiolus are planted must be kept free from weeds. The ground about their roots must be soaked with water once or twice a week. A literal soaking once a week is much better than a daily sprinkling. Sprinkling only helps the soil to become caked and hard. When, as is frequently the case after a heavy rain, the soil does become caked, you should take a rake or a hand hoe and immediately begin to break the surface into small pieces.

Treasury to Open Bids On Trees' Change Today

Bids will be opened today at the Treasury Department for the transplanting of 45 trees and shrubs from the Mall Triangle to the grounds in front of the Department of Agriculture. The design for planting has been evolved by Frederick Law Olmstead, landscape architect of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

A fringe of trees will be allowed to remain along Fourteenth and Twelfth streets in the triangle, it was explained, at least until after a portion of the area is raised by earth obtained from excavations.

Striped bass planted in the below-sea-level Salton Sea, Calif., began to spawn after a year.

U. S. Acts to Get Lots For Justice Building

Under authority granted by Congress in the act of March 1, 1929, the United States Government yesterday moved to acquire two lots in the site at Nineteenth and B streets northwest. All the remaining lots are in possession of the Government.

The "declaration of taking" was accompanied by two checks totaling $163,000, which the Government estimated as a fair price for the two lots, which are described as being 1901 B street, and 216 Nineteenth street. The act allows the Government to take possession at once, but a condemnation jury will be appointed, if the owners object to the price, and the Government will be compelled to pay whatever this jury awards.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE.

"AIRIES."

IF March 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., from noon to 1:45 p. m. and from 4:30 p. m. to 6:15 p. m. The danger hours are from 2:10 to 3:30 p. m. and from 7:30 p. m. to 9:15 p. m.

The planetary aspects of March 25 do not indicate any immediate material advancement. They do, however, denote benefits from self-examination. Old methods will be dropped and the resolution will be formed, with eventual benefit, to do things in a different way.

Children born on this March 25 will be impatient of control, impulsive in their likes and dislikes, and always argumentative. They, in mature years, will be energetic and self-confident and in their love affairs will be impetuous and irresistible. Quick wooers, lightning workers.

You, if born on March 25, are two-sided, but not double-faced. Your nature is divided into two very different parts: The one is vigorous, aggressive, and self-confident; while the other is feeble, dependent and ultra pacific. You will suffer from a continuous inner fight between these two complexes, and your success or failure in life will depend on which complex eventually dominates.

You have a generous disposition but you must learn to say "No," as your sympathy outruns your judgment. You unfortunately, are not blessed with the ability, in so far as humans are concerned, to sift the chaff from the wheat. You are very affectionate, and extremely susceptible to the appeal of the opposite sex. Constancy is not one of your outstanding virtues.

The signs denote that in spite of many drawbacks, you may rise to a commanding position in life—either commercially or socially. This will no thappen until you have learned to dominate the weaker side of your character, and have resolved, willy nilly, to go for your goal with might and main, regardless of the seductions of indolence, and of a "laisser faire" attitude. You take offence very easily, and are unduly sensitive. You, too, must learn to give "a Roland for an Oliver."

Successful people born March 25:

1—John Winebrenner, founder of "The Church of God."
2—Stephen B. Luce, founder of United States War College.
3—John Lind, former Governor of Minnesota.
4—Gutzon Borglum (John Gutson de la Mothe), sculptor.
5—Cleveland Abbe, jr., geographer.

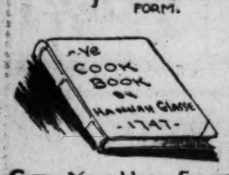
HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Sernesky

As Good As A Show

When King Charles II revived the practice of his predecessors and attended the House of Lords, he heard an amusing debate on a divorce bill which caused him to say—"it was as good as a play." The royal remark went the rounds and we still hear it in this slightly changed form.



Catch Your Hare First

Hannah Glasse, a cook of much reputation issued a cook book in 1747. In one recipe which concerned the cooking of a rabbit, she added the quaint expression which became much quoted: "You must catch your hare before you cook it."

Alexander's Alarm Clock

During his campaigns, Alexander frequently rested with a silver ball in his hand, suspended over a brass basin. If he fell asleep the ball would crash into the basin and waken him. He took the idea from the old legend that one of a flock of cranes always stood guard with pebbles in its mouth. If it fell asleep, the pebbles dropping would awaken it again.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

TOUCHING UP THE FACE.

So many fair ladies are taking a wallop at me for a recent article on powdering the nose that I want another day in court. Something can be said for the practice and I failed to say it. And then, I want to strengthen the case against it.

If a woman will dust some powder on her face without doing any rubbing, and then examine closely with a mirror, she will be able to make out what are called pores. If she can get hold of a magnifying mirror, and will study the reflection of her nose, she will see that the powder appears to be stippled. Each little hummock is the opening of a gland. These glands are of two kinds, sweat glands and grease glands. Those on the nose are almost exclusively grease glands. A dog's nose may be a sweating organ, but that of a young lady is not. It is a grease producer. That's why slick nose is so troublesome and slick nose is the reason for the powder rag.

The grease in these glands is almost fluid enough to run out without help. Massaging and all other rubbing helps to squeeze out the contents of the grease gland. It therefore aids in preventing blackheads, pimples, acne and boils. That was the kind word I wanted to say for the practice of powdering the nose. Having said it, I would like to strengthen the case of the opposition somewhat.

It is possible for a person to become sensitized to face powder. Even ordinarily harmless ingredients of such powders have been known to cause attacks of asthma and one form of hay fever. Some powders contain harmful ingredients. Some are composed of poisonous minerals, not toxic to all people, but too near the danger for promiscuous use.

In some the base powder is unobjectionable, but the pigment used for coloring is dangerous. This applies fairly frequently to lip sticks and eyebrow applications and only rarely to powders.

And, finally, I should like to restate a point. It is not the best policy to cover up the openings of the grease glands with a powder. It is just the powder ingredients of dirt and soot which get into the outer part of a mass of grease in a grease gland and color and dry it to make it a blackhead, with a black, dirty, dry, hard tip or head.

FRAIL AND TOO TALL.

Mrs. E. P. W. writes: My 6-year-old granddaughter is quite frail, but is growing abnormally tall. She is half a head taller than she should be and is pathetically thin. She is greatly troubled with worms. 1. For several months she has been taking violet rays regularly. Are these treatments conducive to growth? 2. Could there be some gland that is functioning too much?

REPLY.

1. They may be something of a factor.

2. The thyroid, the pituitary and the pineal glands all contribute toward the growth pattern. The proof as to the pineal is not equal to that for the other two. Probably she needs cod liver oil, some preparation containing lime. Exposure to sunshine and open air should help.

STATE PROSECUTORS FORM ORGANIZATION

Capital Clearing House for Unfortunate to Combat Crime Planned.

Chicago, March 24 (A.P.).—The National Prosecuting Attorneys' Association was organized today to coordinate efforts at combating crime.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson, Chicago, who called the conference, was unanimously chosen president. Vice presidents, picked geographically, head the work of the association are:

Buron Fitts, district attorney of Los Angeles; Eugene Stanley, New Orleans, and Joseph L. Smith, Essex County prosecutor, of Newark, N. J.

Committees, membership to be filled by State's Attorney Swanson, were outlined for the following:

Organization of a union of State bureaus of criminal identification and development of a national clearing house for this information in Washington, D. C.

Perfection of a liaison system between prosecutors of all States, better to procure evidence to fight a nationalized system of criminals and syndicums.

Pursuit through State legislatures for uniform laws for the proper administration of criminal justice.

The second meeting of the association was tentatively set for early autumn in Detroit.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, Tuesday, March 24—8 p. m. Forecast: For the District of Columbia—Partly cloudy and slightly colder, preceded by rain in early morning, Wednesday; Thursday, fair and colder; moderate west and northwest winds.

For Maryland—Light rain or snow and colder in extreme west, and mostly cloudy and colder, preceded by rain in early morning in east and central portions, Wednesday; Thursday, fair and colder, except snow flurries in the mountains; moderate shifting winds, becoming fresh northwest by Wednesday night.

For Virginia—Generally fair, preceded by light rain in north portion in early morning; Wednesday, slightly colder in interior Wednesday; Thursday, fair and colder; fresh west and northwest winds.

The Atlantic disturbance is moving rapidly eastward with center several hundred miles northeast of Bermuda. Hamilton, 29.66 inches. The western disturbance has moved slowly eastward to the Ohio Valley and the Lake region. Milwaukee, Wis., 29.42 inches, and it has been attended by general precipitation, mostly in the form of rain, within the last 24 hours in the lake region, the great central valleys, the southern Appalachian region, and in the interior of the Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic States. Another disturbance has developed west of the Rocky Mountains, and it now extends from southern Alberta to the Gulf of California, Yuma, Ariz., 29.64 inches, and Calgary, Alberta, 29.70 inches, and it has caused light local rains in the Pacific States. An area of high pressure is advancing eastward over the Plains States, Dodge City, Kans., 30.14 inches; another is moving slowly southward over the district of Mackenzie and Keewatin, Coppermine, 30.82 inches. High pressure remains high from Newfoundland southwestward to Massachusetts, Yarrington, Quebec, 30.32 inches, and over the northern California coast, Eureka, 30.22 inches. The temperature has risen over the Southeastern States, Montana and Wyoming, and it has fallen from the lake region and the Ohio Valley southwestward to the Rio Grande.

The Wisconsin disturbance will continue to move eastward, and it will cause rain from the Ohio Valley and the lower Lake region eastward to the Atlantic Coast Monday; and snow flurries Thursday in the lower lake region, the extreme upper Ohio Valley, and the northern Appalachian region. Otherwise generally fair weather is probable during the next two days in the Washington forecast district. Following the passage of this disturbance somewhat colder weather will overspread all sections east of the Mississippi River, and there will be a reaction to somewhat higher temperature Thursday in the lower Ohio Valley and Tennessee.

BACKACHE, PAIN IN RIGHT SIDE

—Lewison Studio.

Mrs. JAMES CAMPBELL.

Paige, Texas—"A short time ago I was suffering constantly with backache and pain in my right side. My sister knew of my condition and advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She said it had helped her, so I took five bottles and by that time I was feeling fine. All my aches and pains are gone and I have had no trouble since. Also I have gained ten pounds."—Mrs. James Campbell, Route No. 1, Box 80.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

As the regular theatrical season hereabouts rolls along toward its inevitable end, the gods have deposited on the stages of the National and the Belasco Theaters the finest samples of dramaturgy extant.

• • • •

The Belasco has yet to show a piece comparable to "Street Scene," Elmer Rice's bit of photographic playwrighting that depicts life as it is lived in the tenement houses of old Manhattan. "Street Scene" won the Pulitzer prize, and justly so.

• • • •

The National Theater boasts of having the Theater Guild production, "Elizabeth, the Queen," Maxwell Anderson's play starring Lynn Fontanne, in the title role, with Alfred Lunt as the heroic Lord Essex.

• • • •

Historic and modern drama, all the season these two plays—"Street Scene" and "Elizabeth, the Queen"—could not be matched in any one week. It makes little difference which theater the boys and girls get into now, they'll see a play.

• • • •

Back stage at the Belasco is a perfunctory notice which bears all the foreboding of an early close of the house on Lafayette Square. It means so far, there are no more bookings.

• • • •

Down at the National almost the same situation obtains. There will be only one more road show in town after "Elizabeth the Queen." This is a repeat performance of Brock Pemberton's success, "Strictly Dishonorable."

• • • •

After "Strictly Dishonorable," the following week marks the return of the National Theater Players in their seventh spring and summer stock season, the opening number "Let Us Be Gay." The ball starts rolling on Easter Monday.

• • • •

Easter Monday is going to be a great day in the theater. On that day Miss Helen Gahagan will marry her leading man, Melvyn Douglas, playing opposite her in "Tonight or Never," the Belasco production that opened here.

• • • •

Easter Monday Mr. Donald Brian will return to the stage to play the leading role in "Milk White Skin," a German comedy by Rudolph Lothar and Max Bachwitz. The adaptation is by Louise Carter, and George W. Lederer stands sponsor for the production.

• • • •

Easter Monday marks the entrance of Stanley Sharpe into the ranks of producers. For years Mr. Sharpe was Flo Ziegfeld's general manager. The play that bears the Sharpe insignia is Alma Wilson's farce, "The Third Leg," which will probably be renamed before it hits Broadway.

• • • •

Easter Monday will also witness the reopening of Boston's legitimate theaters, not a single play now on view in the downtown theater district. As H. T. P., of the Boston Transcript, put it, "Friends of the stage whose memories stretch back 30, 40, even 50 years, can recall no such condition through the last two weeks of March."

• • • •

Oh, yes. On Easter Monday, "In the Best of Families," that hectic farce that first saw the light of theater here, in the Belasco, will move from its present quarters to the Forrest Theater, in New York.

• • • •

Florence Fair, playing the highly important mother role in "Street Scene," at the Belasco, once had the honor of taking Julia Marlowe's place in the E. H. Sothern Shakespearean presentations of "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet." She was splendid as Ophelia and Juliet.

• • • •

Sale of tickets for the Metropolitan Opera, here in April, started yesterday morning at the Wilson-Greene concert bureau with a waiting line that extended from Droop's Music Store almost to the Washington Navy Yard. It means packed houses at the Fox Theater when the song birds arrive. Mrs. Wilson-Greene announces, however, that there are still a number of seats available for all of the three operas scheduled here.

Dry Report Circulates Untruth, Editor Says

New York, March 24 (A.P.).—Walter Lippmann, former editor of the New York World, charges that the Wickersham report was deliberately manipulated to circulate an untruth and to evade confession that prohibition has failed.

"The main conclusion was changed at some time very near the publication of the report," he says in an article in Vanity Fair, "and the commission forgot to remove all the clews."

BEST MEDICINE SHE KNOWS OF

Says "Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound"

Ft. Meyers, Fla.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine I ever heard of. Before my baby was born I was always weak and rundown. I had nervous spells until I couldn't do my housework. A lady told me about the Vegetable Compound and it strengthened me. Beside my own housework I am now working in a restaurant and I feel better than I have in three years. I hope my letter will be the means of leading some other woman to better health."—Mrs. Bertha Rivers, 2014 Polk St., Ft. Meyers, Florida.

ADVANCED GM FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGERATION

To a Lady

about to buy an electric refrigerator

Of course you will want the very finest refrigerator you can buy. One that can be depended upon to keep foods properly fresh even on the most sizzling of summer days . . . one that will offer every modern convenience . . . one you'll be proud to exhibit to visitors many years from today.

Did you know that Frigidaire, always in the forefront of its field, is responsible for developments in the past fifteen years that have made household refrigeration so healthful, convenient and economical?

The Frigidaire shown in the adjoining photograph, for instance, offers advantages you would possibly not expect to find in any refrigerator.

We hope that you will look into the advantages of Frigidaire very thoroughly before you decide which of the many good electric refrigerators to buy. We invite you to do so at the Frigidaire store most convenient to your home.

And, if you have a matter-of-fact, mechanical-minded husband, we will be especially pleased if you will bring him along!

In gleaming white Porcelain Frigidaire offers a new standard of Advanced Refrigeration

From their service-shelf tops to their graceful streamlined legs, the new Frigidaires represent a fine achievement in modern refrigeration.

The striking beauty of the pure all-white porcelain cabinet harmonizes perfectly with any kitchen color scheme. And these new Porcelain-on-steel Frigidaires are as brilliant in performance as they are in appearance—combining improvements and refinements that distinguish Frigidaire from all other refrigerators.

You will appreciate the faster freezing made possible by the "Cold Control" . . . ice cubes that tumble so easily from the Quickube Ice Tray . . . the crisper vegetables you take from the Frigidaire Hydrator. You will recognize at once the advantages of the seamless, acid-resisting porcelain interior . . . the elevated food shelves . . . the surplus powered, concealed unit that operates so quietly and at such low cost.

Here is Advanced Refrigeration—advanced in all that the term implies. And because of these advanced features and the savings they make possible, Frigidaire is the truly economical refrigerator to own.

14 WASHINGTON: WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 1931.

JOHNSON AND SCHACHT TWIRL 1-1 TIE IN BOX DUEL

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, March 24.—All the published accounts of the fist fight between Theodore Dreiser and Sinclair Lewis point to the need of some new arrangement for the waging of such disputes, preferably the ghost-fighter system. It has long been the custom when prize fighters, even the intellectual ones, wished to express themselves in prose to employ ghost writers because it was felt that anything which the athletes themselves might put down on paper would be likely to inflict undeserved hardship on the readers. Similarly, when Mr. Dreiser and Mr. Lewis got into their fight at the club the other night their host rushed to stop it and save his other guests from unnecessary punishment.

Or, if the two authors still insist on waging their dispute personally, it would seem more appropriate for them to attack each other with their own natural weapons. Mr. Dreiser could bore Mr. Lewis with the second volume of his "American Tragedy" and Mr. Lewis could bore right back with some of the more deadly descriptive passages from his "Main Street." Mr. Dreiser probably would win because, so far as is known, nobody yet has been able to read the second volume of the "American Tragedy," whereas there are several game endurance readers who claim to have read "Main Street" from beginning to end without skipping. These are all book reviewers, or professional readers of course, but it is not reasonable to expect an amateur reader to go the route. Professional prize fighters go fifteen rounds, but amateurs fight only three.

The betting odds in this contest would be about three to one on the old champion, the author of the "American Tragedy." But even though Mr. Lewis seems to be still a few years away from complete maturity as a bore, the boy undoubtedly is the logical contender and he deserves his chance. Fifty years ago the world would have refused to believe that any one would ever come along to surpass Charles Dickens, but Mr. Dreiser developed slowly and nowadays when the champion bores of literature are mentioned the old Solid Man of English Letters invariably ranks second.

Mr. Dreiser Developed Slowly

I have a boy whom I am keeping under cover just at present because he is just beginning to develop as a bore. He is writing proadministration stuff for some of the Republican papers out of Washington, D. C., and, to my mind, he is one of the most promising bores that this generation has produced. He wrote some really great stuff on the subject of Muscle Shoals. Washington is an ideal training spot for the development of the talent for boredom, and my boy is being brought along by sound principles of training. His explanation of the Wickersham report attracted a lot of attention, and one distinguished literary critic remarked, "There is a touch of genius here; it reminds me of 'Two Years Before the Mast.'"

Mr. Lewis' conduct shows that he is a boy who can not take it. For a long time he has enjoyed himself writing that type of material which, in the sport-writing business, is known as blasting or dynamiting, but when a couple of critics chanced to remark that they did not think he deserved the Nobel Prize, the kid got sore and lost his head. It is fortunate for him that the members of the Rotary Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce are all boys who can take it and smile.

The ghost-fighter plan is one which I would like to develop, as it seems quite unreasonable to expect to settle matters of honor by fist fighting in person considering that people who get into squabbles usually are unevenly matched. In the present case, Mr. Dreiser is as heavy physically as he is artistically and as well preserved as the second volume of his "American Tragedy," the leaves of which are still uncut. Mr. Lewis, although younger, is of the skinny type physically and people often remark on seeing him for the first time that it seems incredible that such a delicate man could have written such heavy material as he has produced.

Is as Well Preserved as Book

Therefore, if they do not wish to try to out-bore each other on the field of honor and insist upon a physical settlement, the contest would be more equal if they were to hire a couple of ghosts of equal weights and ratings. This would enable a couple of preliminary boys to earn a little money, and, although the outcome certainly would not decide the justice of Mr. Lewis' accusations against Mr. Dreiser, neither was the controversy decided by a couple of slaps in Mr. Lewis' face.

Most men are much less formidable fist fighters than they imagine themselves to be and, for my part, when a controversy is forced upon me, I would welcome the adoption of a plan which would permit me to say, "I will send my boy around to meet your boy, fifteen rounds to a decision, and we will just see who is a liar." It would be a pleasant relief and a great fillip to individual confidence to be able to meet all the little personal crises which arise between man and man with a belligerent "one more crack out of you and my boy will belt your boy on the jaw."

It may be hard to adjust people to the idea of settling rows by vicarious fights, but it would be only a matter of getting used to it. The same principle has been in use on the racetracks for many generations, and when a millionaire steps down to the judges' stand to receive the congratulations of the governor and make a speech into the microphone because his horse won a derby, he is not at all embarrassed by the fact that he personally had nothing to do with the victory. A breeder raised the horse, a trainer trained it and a jockey made the victorious ride, but the honor for the triumph goes to the owner.

Is as Well Preserved as Book

If this plan were extended to personal quarrels, I might pick up some game, clever kid with a punch and develop a reputation as the toughest guy in town.

Marine Five Eliminated, 39-36, by Uniteds in Post Court Tourney Thriller

Point Battle Between Freeman and Resio Features Game.

Scholastics Win From Bliss, 43 to 41, and Gain Semifinals.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

130-POUND CLASS—Olmsted Grill, 44; Shipley's, 18 (quarter-final round).

SENIOR GIRLS—Eagles, 33; Jewish Community Center, 20 (semifinal round).

UNLIMITED CLASS—Potomac Scholastics, 43; Bliss, 41 (quarter-final round).

United Typewriter Uniteds, 39; Quantico Marines, 36 (quarter-final round).

IN one of the greatest games in the tournament's history, the United Typewriter Uniteds defeated the Quantico Marines, 39 to 36, last night in a game which supplied the largest crowd yet to see Post's District championship tournament with thrills from one end of the pole to the other.

Excepting one point in the first half, at which time the Typos led 9 to 1, there was never a time when the eventual winners held a comfortable lead over the Leathernecks. The score at the half stood 24 to 17, but at the start of the second half's activities, with both teams going at top speed, the Marines crept up to 24 to 23. From then on it was blow for blow and basket for basket.

Big Bob Freeman, center for the Typos, and Corpl. Bob Desio, his equal in height and a bit his superior in basket shooting, waged one of the bitterest battles for the supremacy of their station ever seen. When Freeman was excommunicated from the game, with five minutes to play and the score standing 32-29 in his team's favor, Resio could not be held. Duryee and Scheele were "put" on him, but to no effect. He sank the foul shot to make it 32-30, and then flipped in a one-handed shot to tie the score.

Hunt, Burgess and Scheele boosted the Typos ahead once more, but Resio's shooting kept the score at 38-36, with 12 seconds to play. Then Duryee sank a foul shot to put the Uniteds a basket and a half ahead, the margin that held true at the end.

Resio was the sensation of the night. His one-armed shooting more than made up for the slight raggedness in his team's play.

Scholastics Win Thriller From Bliss Five.

In a battle, best described by the word "hectic," the Potomac Boat Club Scholastics, a team composed of players from Eastern and Tech High, Gallaudet and Catholic University, defeated the Bliss Electrical School Team, 43-41, in a game that one was the two features of the night.

The lead changed enough times to confuse the scorers, especially in the first half, when the advantage jumped from one club to another, but finally rested on the eventual winners, 21-19, at the conclusion of the first twenty minutes.

The Scholastics, with Big Bill Noonan, all-high center, and Everett Johnson shooting from all angles, stepped out in the second half to a 40-30 lead, with the end of the game about five minutes away. Here they appeared to slacken the pace, underestimating the reserve powers of the Electricians.

Bliss came along strongly, with 11 points before the eventual winners could score a game-saving basket and free toss.

Rovegno, Parkinson and Zirkle scored 13 points each for Bliss, while honors for the winning team were pretty well divided.

Olmsteds Draw Away In Second Half.

The Olmsted Grill basketers staged a 44-18 victory over the Shipley's, of College Park, in a game that was practically a replica of their 44-11 defeat of the Hawkins Motor Five the night before.

Exactly as was the case Monday night, the two teams battled hard in the first quarter, after which the score stood at 6-4 in favor of Olmsted. At this juncture there was little to choose between the two clubs.

Nor were the Olmsted boys clearly superior in the second quarter, after which the score stood 15-7 in their favor.

At the start of the second half a changed team, the Grillmen's passing perked up notably, their dribbling was more acute, and Bernie Reichardt, of Tech High, and Al Waters, of Eastern High, began to hit the middle of the iron hoop with deadly consistency. By the time the hectic third quarter had ended the Grillmen were leading 29-12.

The deluge of baskets continued in the final sector and nothing the Ships could do was of any avail. McChesney and Hollingsworth, the Mount Rainier High students, and forwards for the Shipley's, turned in good exhibitions of shooting and guarding, but not of a sufficient caliber to halt the Grill tossers.

The victory moved the winners into the semifinals of the 130-pound division, where they are bracketed with the Boys Club Optimists.

Eagle Sextet Gains Final Round.

The Eagles moved into the final round of the senior girls division by reason of their expected 33-20 victory over the Jewish Community Center girls. The defending champions were generally better in all departments of play, leading 10-8, 22-16 and 29-17 at the intermissions.

Most of the competition was furnished in the first half. The girls fought evenly until the middle rest period, with the J. C. C. combination of Teplitz and Press practically matching the shooting of Ewers and Alexander.

But the last half was all Eagles. Miss Ewers finally gained her eye and ran up a total of 24 points before the end of the game. One of the features of the game was the defensive play of Miss Kronman, of the losers.

Seventh Regiment Armory, New York, March 24 (A.P.).—Jean Borotra and Christian Boussus, French doubles team, won the doubles match of the team tennis competition with the United States tonight, defeating George Lott, jr., and John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, in straight sets, 1—5, 6—4, 6—4.

V. M. I. Hilltop Game Prevented by Shower

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., March 24.—The scheduled baseball contest between Virginia Military Institute and Georgetown University was rained out today. It was to have been the opening engagement for the Hilltop diamonders.

The Georgetown-Washington and Lee game, originally scheduled for Monday and since then set back to tomorrow will be played as planned, providing weather conditions permit. Whether or not the Hoya team would meet V. M. I. later on their schedule was not certain.

Five Big League Clubs to Return to Florida

Tampa, Fla., March 24 (A.P.).—Five major league baseball clubs will return next spring to their proving grounds in Florida, it was learned definitely here today.

Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, training in Fort Myers, has announced his men would train there in 1932.

Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, conditioning at Tampa, signed a contract for the use of the field here next spring.

The New York Yankees and Boston Braves, training at St. Petersburg, will return there next March, said statements from Eastern headquarters.

The Philadelphia National management has said the squad would use the field at Winter Haven as long as other major leaguers came to this section.

In addition, Clark Griffith of the Washington club, has been quoted as saying he might move his club either to California or Flordia from Biloxi, Miss.

AMATEURS CLASH.

Dick Claberlou and Abie Kline, amateur boxers, will meet Saturday night at the Green Lantern, Twelfth and Monroe streets northwest, under the auspices of the Brookland Boys Club.

Lou Spinelli, Catholic University athlete, will referee.

Dempsey-Estelle Taylor Rift Seen With Reno Residence Reported

RENO, Nev., March 24 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey is expected back in Reno within the next month, but friends here said today they had heard nothing from the former heavyweight boxing champion to bear out published reports that he planned to establish legal residence in Nevada.

When Dempsey stopped here about two weeks ago there were reports of a break between him and his wife, Estelle Taylor, film actress. She said at the time there had been a minor misunderstanding, but she considered it of no significance.

He promised to stop here on his way back to the Pacific Coast some time within a month to confer with owners of the Calneva resort at Lake Tahoe and intimated he might make an offer to buy a part interest in the establishment.

ALTHOUGH a back field man, Bob Nace failed to score a single point for his team during the three years that he played football for Chester High School. On one occasion he was downed with the ball back of his own goal line, scoring a safety which gave his opponents two points.

The strange epitaph is over the grave of S. W. Bliss, at Tekamah, Nebr.

National League Seen as Five-Club Race; Yankees Again Bow to Minor Leaguers

Only Reds and Phils Counted Out of 1931 Contention.

(This is the first of two stories reviewing major league baseball prospects as reflected by training camp activities. Tomorrow, the American League will be discussed.)

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.

NEW YORK, March 24 (A.P.).—For thrills and suspense, the approaching National League race promises to equal, if not eclipse, anything produced in a long time. It has all the appearances of a "natural."

The St. Louis Cardinals, 1930 sovereigns of the senior circuit, will open the defense of their crown three weeks hence against perhaps the most bloodthirsty crew this side of captivity. If the Red Birds escape with all their pinfeathers, as Manager Gabby Street believes they shall, it will be something akin to a baseball miracle.

Four clubs—possibly five—are prepared to give the Cards a genuine battle. At least two of them, the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Robins, are certain to be powerful contenders. With a few breaks, the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates could stay in the thick of the fight, and Bill McKechnie's Boston Braves promise to be troublesome.

Only Reds, Phils Counted Out.

By popular consensus, only two of the eight units in President Heydler's league are definitely out of the battle royal. The Cincinnati Reds and the failing Phillies, who occupied seventh and eighth place respectively last September, look good for another hitch around the bottom.

Like the Philadelphia patriarch who licked him in the last world series, Sergt. Street is standing pat with his 1930 Cardinal line-up. All he has added to an already brilliant club is a couple of sure-fire rookie pitchers, Dean and Derringer. The only cloud on Street's horizon right now is the failure of Chick Hafey, outfield standby, to get his name on a contract.

Chicago, strong enough to crowd the champions right down to the wire last fall, enters the 1931 chase definitely more powerful. Manager Rogers Hornsby, his injured heel sound again, is ready to take over second base for the season and add his big bat to the Cub chorus.

Brooklyn Depends On Vance.

Brooklyn's prospects appear to revolve about big Dazzy Vance, the mound ace who has developed a deadly fear of fountain pens. If, and when, the Dazzler signs, the Robins will be conceded a great shot at the flag. The Flatbush team has taken over some hitting power in acquiring Lefty O'Doul and Fresco Thompson from the Phils.

The shift that placed Vergez, slugging Coast rookie, on third and sent Freddie Lindstrom to the outfield, appears to have blistered John McGraw's Giants. If he gets better pitching from fellows like Donohue, Genewich and Heving, and John Berly,

Nats' Admirer, Now in Cuba, Sees Flag

WHEN The Post's "Baseball Editor" announced that he was handing out six box seats for the opening game, April 14, between the Nationals and the Athletics to the fan who wrote the best 250-word letter on the prospects of the Washington Team this year, he little realized the far-flung interest in the topic.

Clear from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, came a dispatch yesterday from Melvin A. Hunt, of the U. S. Naval Dispensary, in which Mr. Hunt resorts to verse to give his ideas on whither the Nationals are bound in 1931.

With all its talent the Nationals have the championship in the bag, Mr. Hunt believes. Nothing else could be the fate of such a team as Clark Griffith has under signature this year, starts out Mr. Hunt.

Later on, still in verse, he says the Nationals have a pennant-winning consort in Judge, Cronin, Myers and Bluege, all four having great understudies. Harry Rice is not going to break into the outfield, Mr. Hunt believes. Manush, West and Sammy Rice have their places clinched. Brown, Burke and Fischer will lend great aid to Hadley, Liska, Crowder, Jones and Marberry.

No Change Is Seen in Outfield

The Box Seat Contest is still going strong. Mr. Hunt's letter was but one of a bag that came in yesterday, mostly from local fans, but also from outlying districts. "Where will Washington finish?" seems to be one of the major issues of the day. What do you think about it? Let the "Baseball Editor" have the benefit of your views before April 1. Write only on one side of the paper.

Dempsey Loses Point In $500,000 Action

Chicago, March 24 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey took a stiff legal punch on the chin today in his $500,000 legal battle with the Chicago Coliseum Club.

Circuit Court Judge H. Sterling Pomeroy ruled that evidence of an injunction granted in Indiana enjoining Dempsey from risking his heavyweight championship in 1926 in a fight with any one but Harry Wills, Negro challenger, might be introduced into the testimony of the present suit, in which the Coliseum Co. asks $500,000 damages for "breach of contract."

Dempsey claims he was ready to go through with the contract, risking his title against Wills in 1926, but that the Coliseum company itself failed to keep its agreement by refusing to deliver guarantee money within the stipulated time.

Ruffing Weakens and Indianapolis Wins in 10th, 10-8.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 24 (A.P.).—Indianapolis and the New York Yankess again battled into extra innings today and again the American Association club won. The score was 10 to 8, Indianapolis scoring twice in the tenth on a base on balls and Bill Narlesky's home run.

Charlie Ruffing attempted to go nine innings but wilted in the ninth and allowed two runs. Phil Weinert was in the box when the two runs crossed the plate in the tenth.

Babe Ruth contributed two singles and was given a base on balls.

Phils Score First Win Over Major Foe.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 24 (A.P.).

The Philadelphia Nationals triumphed over major league opposition for the first time this season when Lil Stoner and Jim Elliott pitched them to a 4-to-1 victory over the Reds today. The Phils fell upon Al Eckert, a young southpaw, for their winning margin in the third inning.

Brooklyn Yannigans Conquer Regulars.

Havana, March 24 (A.P.).—Bunching their hits in three innings, Brooklyn's second team defeated the regulars, 6 to 2, in the fourth game of the intra-club series today. Each team has won two games here with the rubber contest scheduled for tomorrow.

Clyde "Pea Ridge" Day, a recruit up from Kansas City, held the first team to four hits in the five innings he pitched.

Farrell Says U. S. Open Winner Should Meet Jones for Title

TAMPA, Fla., March 24 (A.P.).—Johnny Farrell, "golfologist," says he believes Bobby Jones, greatest of them all, will return to tournament play by 1932, and suggested today that the winner of the national open should challenge Bobby for the world's open golf title.

"Bobby today is recognized as the world's outstanding golf champion," said Johnny. "Victory in this year's national open will be a hollow triumph without Jones as a contestant. Some one should arrange a play-off between the winner and the Georgian. What a match that would be!

"I give Bobby a year out of the game. He will be back by 1932. No doubt he is worn out from the nerve-wracking chase for the world's major titles. After he rests for a few months, however, he will feel the call again."

11 CLUBS SEEK CITY LEAGUE BERTHS

District Sandlot Body May Include 14 Unlimited Teams.

THE opening gun of the 1931 sandlot season was fired last night when the first meeting of the Capital City Baseball League found eleven unlimited teams of the District of Columbia section, represented in Room 2, District Building. This far exceeds all previous inaugural gatherings of the unlimiteds. The league, which is sponsored by The Washington Post, will start Sunday, May 3, and Tuesday, April 28, was set as the final date for entry.

Teams applying for franchises and their representatives were:

Army Medical Center, Sergt. Brown.
Phoenix-Blue Coal, I. V. Wetheral.
Majestic Radio, W. L. Heflin.
Langley, R. S. Campbell.
Woodmen, Tony Baruto.
St. Joseph's, Donald Kane.
Dixie Pigs, Hugh Waldrop.
D. C. Grocers, Harry Peraikin.
Columbia Heights, C. B. Edwards.
Congress Heights, Ted Otte.
Olmsted Grill, Bert Olmsted.

The meeting, presided over by Vice President Richard S. Tennyson, was by far the most enthusiastic gathering ever witnessed in sandlot circles.

14 Teams Expected In Section.

Indications were last night that at least fourteen teams will be in the fold in the District section of the unlimited class by April 28. Several of the representatives present reported that they had been advised by other teams that they would be present at the next meeting, which is scheduled for Tuesday night at the same place.

It is interesting to note that among the teams at last night's meeting were two that were prominent in the senior class of the Capital City League last season. Olmsted Grill was runner-up in its section and Majestic Radio put up a strong struggle for the title in the senior series in the 1930 tourney.

Two of the teams gave notice of a chasge in names. The Dixie Pigs will be known hereafter as Dixie Pigs-Berwyn and the former Palace A. C. will be called District Grocers. The Dixie Pigs will use the Berwyn Diamond.

That there will be sufficient playing fields was assured last night when six of the teams reported to Secretary Atchison, of the league, that they possessed diamonds. This was another encouraging feature of the meeting as the lack of fields has usually been one of the greatest worries of league officials.

Umpires Committee Is Named.

A committee composed of Frank Cinnotti, I. V. Wetheral, C. B. Edwards and league officers was appointed to go into the question of umpires. It was definitely settled to use either the District Umpires Association or the Capital City Umpires Association. The committee will report to the meeting next Tuesday.

Secretary Atchison announced that franchise fees, which will be $20 as in past years, and contracts would be received by him until April 28 in the sports department of The Washington Post. Each team will be limited to eighteen players.

Dates for the meetings of the northern Virginia and Maryland sections of the unlimited series will be announced at a later date. The senior, junior and midget divisions will also meet in the near future, the dates to be announced in The Post.

JEWELRYMEN GATHER.

The Ross Jewelry Co. Juniors will hold a meeting tomorrow night at 156 Tennessee avenue northeast to discuss plans for Sunday's practice session. The first game of the season will be played April 12 at Mechanicsville.

Old Timers in Rare Form, Each Giving 4 Hits in 5 Innings.

Hadley, Burke Face Orioles Today; Nats Seek 5th Straight.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., March 24.—The "game of games"—a challenge battle between the Washington "varsity" and the "freshmen," who were cocky enough to call themselves "The Killers"—took place at the Biloxi field this morning with approximately 50 enthusiastic rooters in the stands. It went five innings and ended in a 1-1 tie, the fracas proving to be the most interesting staged here so far this season.

Walter Johnson ("The Big Train") and Al Schacht ("The Little Clown") were the rival pitchers, and much to every one's surprise Schacht held his own with his boss, even though he was opposing supposedly more powerful hitters. Each fanned two men, with Schacht walking three to Johnson's one. Four hits were allowed each team, Harry Rice putting the Yannigans in the lead by poling out a home run to deep right center on Johnson's second offering of the game.

Take Game Seriously Despite "Kidding."

Although there was much "kidding," with presentations of bunches of garlic, weeds, &c., at the plate, players of both teams took their baseball seriously. For four innings Harry Rice's homer stood up, but the regulars finally rallied in the fifth frame and knotted the count. A walk to Bluege, Spencer's single, which sent the runner to third, and Myer's fly, which was deep enough to allow Ossie to score after the catch, tied the count.

In addition to his homer, Harry Rice cracked out a single to win the batting honors. The fielding was good, each team turning in a timely double play, but it so happened that no difficult chances were offered. "The Killers" have challenged the regulars for another game and may be accommodated later on.

Hadley and Burke To Face Orioles.

The Baltimore Orioles visit here tomorrow for their fifth meeting with the Nationals. They beat Johnson's charges in the opening game, since which time the Nats have won five straight, including two from the International Leaguers, before being tied by the Orioles in Gulfport yesterday. As an allen victory tomorrow not only would end a Washington winning streak but also would put the Orioles on even terms, Manager Johnson is particularly anxious to win. He has put the job of stopping the Birds up to Pitchers Irving Hadley and Bobby Burke.

Russell Reed, Coach Patsy Gharrity's protege from Visconsin, proved to be too young and green to make an impression in his trial with the Nationals and he has been given a ticket home, being due to pull up stakes from here early tomorrow morning.

Should Biloxi be assigned the new volunteer soldiers' home, which Congress has willed is to be constructed somewhere in Mississippi, the Nationals, if they return here for training in the future, undoubtedly would benefit from the patronage of the former soldiers. Biloxi is anxiously awaiting word from the Veterans' Bureau at Washington to the effect that this historic Gulf Coast health resort has been allotted the new home.

An ideal site for the proposed home has been offered by the commissioners here. The spot, known as Naval Reserve Park, adjoins the Biloxi Stadium, has a frontage of 2 miles along historic Back Bay of Biloxi and is one of the show places of the South.

Dashiell Now Ready To Bid for Berth.

Wally Dashiell, who has been handicapped by a sore leg almost ever since he arrived here, reports himself ready to go now and will have to do some tall hustling to make up for lost time. While he has been necessarily under wraps, Jordan Baxter, his rival for the number two infield utility job, has been making plenty of progress. He cracked out four hits, including a triple and double, in Mobile Sunday, and came through for the Yannigans this morning with a lusty three-base clout.

Manager Johnson is particularly pleased with the manner in which his mound staff is rounding to form. Fred Marberry being the only one not advanced as far as he should be, but the Nat leader is quite disappointed at the weak stickwork shown by his batters in games played so far. "I'm not worrying," said Johnson tonight, "for I know that they can hit, but I admit I'll be feeling much better when they start doing it. I look for them to break loose most any time now."

Maryland and G. W. U. In Title Rifle Tourney

University of Maryland and George Washington University will compete for the national intercollegiate rifle team championship on Saturday, they have advised the National Rifle Association, which conducts the matches.

These teams will shoot on the United States Naval Academy range, Annapolis, Md. The other four ranges on which competing teams may fire are the University of West Virginia, Morgantown, W. Va.; University of Illinois, Champlain, Ill.; University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebr., and the Commonwealth Armory range, Boston, Mass. The course of fire will be ten shots prone, ten kneeling and ten standing for each man of a five-man team.

The United States Naval Academy won the 1930 team championship.

DOZENS OF POOR DRAW RICH RACE LOTTERY PRIZES

Millions Now Await Race Friday

Irish Luck Prevails as 8 of 466 Winners Are From Erin.

Capital Prize Worth $1,723,083; 4 Tickets Held in U. S.

By GEORGE M'DONOUGH.

DUBLIN, Ireland, March 24 (A.P.).—Horses in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes on the Grand National Steeplechase, the world's richest racing lottery, were drawn by dozens of poor at the Mansion House today.

Among the prize winners were a miner, an Italian confectioner, a scrubwoman and an unemployed riveter. They are assured of $5,739 each—the smallest prize which goes to the 466 persons drawing winning tickets. If one of them holds the horse that finishes first at Liverpool on Friday, he will win $1,723,083—the richest racing lottery on earth.

Americans and Canadians, some 30 of them, were among those whose dreams of fabulous wealth through the turn of the big lottery drum at Mansion House came nearer realization by holding winning tickets. However, none of the favorite horses in the grinding steeplechase went to any one on the other side of the Atlantic.

U. S. and Canadian Winners Listed.

Gregalach—Clayton C. Woods, 248 Carl street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Morekeen—John J. McCarthy, 4529 Spruce street, West Philadelphia.

Mount Etna—Mrs. Margaret English, 47 McKay avenue, East Orange, N. J.

Stash—C. F. Coats, 557 Liberty street, Spokane, Wash.

Great Span—John Bennett, Orchard Sanatorium, Hamilton, Ontario.

Lady Victoria (nonstarter)—J. Holmes, box 1043, Juneau, Alaska.

Irish luck held out in the drawing. Eight horses were drawn in Ireland. The hopes of nearly 4,000,000 other persons all around the world who bought tickets in the sweeps at $2.40 each went glimmering when the numbers were drawn. Those fortunate enough to win, lived in far corners of the earth—from County Mayo in Ireland, to China, America, Portugal and South Africa.

Millions Await Results Throughout World.

Around the world millions of persons—ticket holders and their families and friends—awaited the results of the fateful drawing. A week ago a Nottingham charwoman, Mrs. Ada Howitt, had her fortune read in a teacup. She would soon be wealthy, the leaves foretold. She collapsed today when she heard that she had drawn the horse South Hill.

John Altham, an unemployed riveter of Birkenhead, England, drew Blayview. The ticket was shared with his brother and two friends. Altham received the news at the labor exchange, where he as usual went to look for a job.

The tickets spelling fortune for men and women in far sections of the world were drawn from a huge metal drum. The subscriptions totaled $8,563,979, of which $5,743,620 is to be distributed to the holders of the lucky tickets. The rest goes for expenses and to the hospitals of the Irish Free State. The hospitals get 25 per cent of the total.

The prizes are worth, first, $1,723,083; second, $861,541, and third, $574,359. There are 83 other prizes for each of the horses named originally for the race, whether or not they start, including one on "the field," and 360 consolation prizes of $5,739 each.

Thousands Gather at Scene of Drawing.

Thousands gathered at the scene outside the Mansion House early, waiting from early dawn. Nurses clad in white uniforms arrived shortly after 9 a. m. There was a review of the whole staff of 1,200 persons that handled the millions of tickets.

The two horses owned by J. H. Whitney went to an Englishman and to a woman in Tientsin, China. The favorite, Whitney's Easter Hero, was drawn by George Berkley, 60, a master weighman at the Derwent Colliery in Anfield Plain, County Durham, England, where he has worked 47 years. Martin Grieves, a motor contractor, shared the ticket with him.

Capital Youth Starring At Stuyvesant School

Robert Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Henry, of Chevy Chase, is making a name for himself in athletics at Stuyvesant School, Warrenton, Va.

In the annual winter term sports field day he placed first in the basket ball shooting, second in the broad jump, with a mark of 7 feet 11 inches; second in bag punching, and defeated Robert Lyon, of Fairmont, W. Va., in a three-round boxing match.

He is a member of the boxing, football and baseball teams.

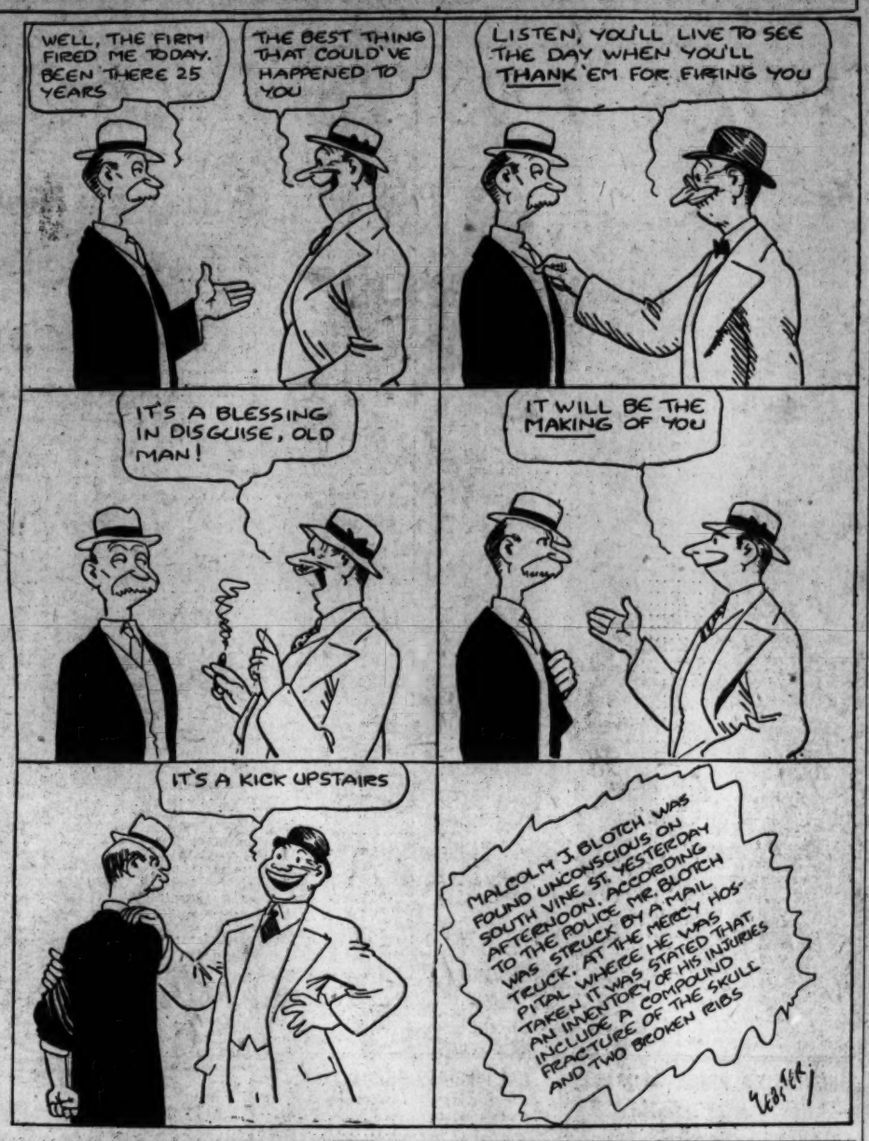
The Events Leading Up to the Tragedy —By H. T. Webster



Boots and Saddles

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

—St. John's Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

THE late E. H. (Snapper) Garrison, a steward in previous years at St. Johns Park, is remembered by the association in the program today by naming the feature race for the once famous jockey and racing official. The memorial race is at 5 furlongs, and has drawn a highly competitive field of eleven. All the fields are large today, 111 horses having been named for the card of 7 races. William V. Dwyer has denied the report that he would abandon St. Johns Park after the present season closes Saturday, for Hollywood, near Miami.

ZETA looks best in the Garrison Memorial, but only slightly so. PRINCETON probably will be favorite, and won his last out over Mineralogist by three lengths. It so happens that ETA also beat Mineralogist in her last race, and she is more consistent than PRINCETON. OLD KICKAPOO, winner of his last race, is very dangerous at 5 furlongs and should at least get third.

RED VEST should repeat in the first race, for 2-year-olds, and DARK THORN should again be second, the order of their finish last Friday. RIVER LEE is dangerous here.

CORSICAN may run back to his best races in the second, and if he does he will win easily. SUN RANGER has the class over the others. CHESTER should be in the money again. He might win.

VENAROCK is about due and finds an easier spot than he has yet been placed in the third race. JACK CRAIN is a sleeper and may wake up. GUFFLE should hold the others safe.

The fifth race has the largest field and is the most uncertain on the card. PANGOLIN showed the best recent form and may come through. COURONNE ran far below form last out, but has a chance. MASTER DURBAR may be best of the lot, but needs more racing. Pangolin was third to Zachary last week and Master Durbar a head away. This takes in about all of the horses that have shown anything recently.

FLYING WINGS is the class of the sixth race at a mile for 3-year-olds, but may not get in, because she is fifth on the eligible list. Next best is SILVER CANOPY. MISCHEVOUS should figure in the race. IMAGERY is dangerous.

HIGHLAND FLING is much the best in the seventh race. She beat Icarus last week and was second to Fairdale Monday. WISECRACK should improve. KAVANAUGH, winner last out, will probably get in the money in this.

STAR PINMEN BEGIN DUEL TONIGHT

Espey, Whalen Clash in First 5 Games at Columbia.

By JOHN V. HINKEL.

THE much-heralded match between Eddie Espey and Jack Whalen, two of the city's and Nation's standout duckpin bowlers, will start tonight at the Columbia drives, when the first five-game block of their special ten-game match will be rolled. Hostilities will begin at 8 o'clock. The final block will be staged next Saturday at the Arcadia.

Backing Whalen is John S. Blick, local duckpin czar, while Lew Hopfenmaier is supporting Espey. Several weeks ago these two men became engaged in an argument as to whether Espey or Whalen was the greatest pin artist. The present match is the direct result of that argument.

One would have to go a long ways to find two more consistent bowlers than Espey or Whalen. Each in his own particular way has so prominently identified himself with the game that today both are well known wherever duckpin rolling flourishes. Singularly enough, each has flashed to the front only within the past three years.

Espey's Average High in Five Leagues.

Espey, who is 18 years old, is considered one of the greatest league bowlers in the sport today. He performs in no less than five circuits and his lowest average pinfall in any league is 112. So far, he has smashed out a 118 average with Meyer Davis in the National Capital League; a 112 with the John Blicks in the District League; a 117 in the Columbia Heights League; a 117 in the Recreation League, and a 116 in the North of Washington League.

Besides holding the national junior title, which he copped last fall, Espey, with Paul Harrison, annexed the national doubles championship in the 1931 National Duckpin Bowling Congress tournament. As the star lead-off man of the National Pale Dry Juniors, he shot twelve consecutive 600 or better sets at the start of the campaign and since then rarely has gone under 600. Several months ago he totaled a 707 set at Hartford, Conn., against the Connecticut All-Stars.

Whalen National Singles Champ.

The 25-year-old Whalen earned a niche for himself in duckpin's hall of fame by winning both the $1,000 United States Sweepstakes last January and the national singles title in the recent N. D. B. C. tourney. His position as assistant manager of the Columbia drives has prevented him from engaging in league bowling to a great extent this season, his sole experience in this regard being in the District League, where he has become an outstanding star of the Boulevard Team.

In 1928 Whalen was ranked No 1 in local bowling circles, and No. 5 in the national ranking. Last year he was given the No. 1 berth in the national honorary list of pinmen with no league affiliations.

Virginia School Nine Seeking Game Here

The Highland Springs High School Baseball Team of Highland Springs, Va., would like to arrange a game with any local high or prep school to be played in Washington on Saturday morning, April 18.

Highland Springs is a class B school, most of its students being residents of Richmond.

Golf Tourney Starts At Petersburg Today

Petersburg, Va., March 24. — The first important golf event of the season will be held on the Crater Club course, in Prince George County, near this city, between linkmen of Petersburg and Hopewell. Qualifying will start tomorrow. The qualifying rounds will continue through April, and first matches are scheduled to run from April 2 to April 8. A number of prizes are to be awarded the winners of the tournament.

the Rochester terror, comes through, McGraw figures to stay in the thick of it.

Jewel Ens at Pittsburgh faces much the same proposition. He has some great ball players, but his pitching is open to improvement. The Pirates will be hard to keep out of first division.

Perhaps the most improved club in the National League is Boston. The addition of Worthington and Schulmerich, two slugging recruits, has rounded out a strong outfield, and the veteran Earl Sheely gives the club more power at first. Unfortunately, McKechnie's pitching is just fair.

There is little to be said either for the Phils or Reds. Both were wrecked by graduation last year, as the collegians would put it.

HANCOCK IN TOURNEY.

Lynchburg, Va., March 24.—Roland Hancock, golf professional at Oakwood Country Club here, left today for Pinehurst, N. C., to enter the North and South tourney to be played Thursday and Friday of this week.

G. U. ALLOWS BORDEAU IN RING MEET

Light Heavy Star to Fight for J. C. C. in Title Tourney.

STOCK in the Jewish Community Center's chances of holding a major share of the spotlight in the District A. A. U. boxing championships, to be decided this weekend at the Rockville High School, took a decided leap last night when it was announced by Georgetown University that it would permit the entrance of Leroy Bordeau in the tournament, which starts tomorrow night.

Bordeau, the chunky Hilltopper who carried the colors of the J. C. C. to a South Atlantic light heavyweight championship two years ago, was kept out of the tournament last year by a Hoya ruling which curtailed the activities of its boxers in all outside engagements.

With Bordeau in the tournament, the J. C. C. will enter the glove fest with three of its former champions, the others being Jocko Miller, ruler of the lightweight division, and Angie Tardugno, bantamweight.

Maj. Gen. McArthur Honorary Referee.

The final meeting of the committee in charge of the tournament will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Olmsted Grill.

Maj. Gen. Douglas McArthur, chief of staff, had accepted the post of honorary referee of the bouts. He will attend the fights, accompanied by his staff.

The refereeing will be handled by Denny Hughes and Spike Webb, the latter the coach of the boxing team at the United States Naval Academy for twelve years and boxing trainer for the last two Olympic teams.

Gold medals will be given to the winners of each event, with medals of silver going to the runners-up.

Tickets for the bouts go on sale today at Spalding's. Matches will be staged Thursday, Saturday and Monday nights. The admission is $1. The high school gymnasium will hold 1,000 fans.

Carolina Nine Captain Declared Ineligible

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 24 (A.P.).—The University of North Carolina athletic council today ruled Burgess Whitehead, captain and star shortstop of the baseball club, ineligible for further collegiate competition because of a professional contract he had signed with the Rochester (N.Y.) Internatoinal League Club.

The president of the Rochester Club wrote Coach Jim Ashemore that due to a misunderstanding with Whitehead the club did not consider it had a contract with the collegian.

The council, however, decided Whitehead had violated the letter of the Southern Conference eligibility rule.

Hunt, Latona Advance In Baltimore Tennis

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., March 24.—Closer competition is being uncovered daily in the Evening Sun Fifth Regiment net tourney, now zooming along toward the final stages at the Fifth Regiment Armory.

Gilbert Hunt, Eastern High School star of Washington, continued the good work today that has caused his name to come to the fore recently. He bombed his way through the fifth round in the boys' sector by defeating P. Sapperstein in straight sets, 6—3, 6—1.

Another Washingtonian, Antony Latona, passed safely through the fourth round for juniors by triumphing over A. Fahey, 6—0, 7—5. Latona will play H. Fribush tomorrow, while Frank Shore, of the Capital, is scheduled to oppose the winner of the A. Borleis-Henry Buchanan match.

D. C. FIGHTERS WIN.

Washington's representatives in the bouts at Pocomoke City returned to town today victorious, Ray Bowen having gained a six-round decision over Lou Haywood, of Baltimore, and Willie Essenger knocking out Joe Cowan in the first round.

Cards Rally in 8th To Beat Columbus.

Bradenton, Fla., March 24 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals scored a 6-to-5 victory over the Columbus, of the American Association in an exhibition game this afternoon. A two-run rally in the eighth inning, after two were out, gave the Red Birds the game. With two out Watkins walked and stole second. Then Frisch singled to tie the score. A hit by Collins and Anderson's wild throw of Hunt's roller, ended the game.

STOCKS BOLSTERED BY SHORT COVERING

Shares Appearing Recently Among Weaker Sections Make Gains.

New York, March 24 (A.P.).—Cross-currents of uncertainty rippled over the financial markets today.

Stocks closed higher because of short covering in the last hour. Wheat and corn steadied as compared with yesterday's acute weakness, but were lower most of the day. Bonds, disturbed by the prospect of new Government financing in connection with a Treasury deficit, eased.

Share trading on the stock exchange was without particular significance from the longer-term viewpoint and the day's sales of 1,900,000 shares were the smallest in six weeks. The market was heavy in the morning when grains were making new lows, recovered early in the afternoon and came to life under more active covering toward the close.

Worst Believed Past.

Shorts apparently believed the immediately pending dividend meetings by directors of several important companies, including Baltimore & Ohio and Westinghouse, might not be productive of as much bad news as expected, and that present prices represented a discount of the worst that could happen.

Stocks that had been weakest in recent markets came forward with the best gains. Westinghouse, Air Reduction, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, National Cash Register and National Distillers rose 2 to 3 points net. Rails, far from shying off at February's unfavorable earnings statement, were the first to firm and showed advances of 1 to 5 points. McKeesport Tin Plate and Newport Co. came to the fore with liberal gains while energetic Auburn outdid itself with a maximum rise of 23½ to 242½, closing at 240, up 21 points.

Less exciting shares about recovered yesterday's losses. There were fractional advances in U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Radio and North American, among others, most of which had sold off during the forenoon. American Can and American Telephone were stronger, 2 points higher. Utilities as a group were quiet.

News of Wheat.

Removal of Government support for the new wheat crop received more favorable than unfavorable comment in financial circles. The new July future at its lowest was a cent under yesterday's minimum, but the closing price was virtually unchanged. September was a little heavier, off ½ to ¾ net. Corn's net losses fell into the same range. Cotton stiffened after early selling had been absorbed and finished 4 points lower to 2 higher.

The large rise in member bank holdings of Government securities was regarded as temporary, reflecting participation in the Treasury overdraft. Other investments showed a small loss. Little could be said concerning the increase of nearly 11,000 cars in freight loadings for the week ended March 14, except that it was a move in the right direction. So far, freight traffic has failed to support with cold figures the much-discussed business improvement.

European exchanges were steady, although Brazilian Milreis sagged to a new 1931 low.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 24 (A.P.).—Despite a last-minute 6-cent jump in quotations on June delivery of wheat, the bulk of grain dealings today showed a lower price average.

The sudden rise in June wheat accompanied reports that starting April 1 Government-sponsored agencies would increase their selling price on old No. 2 hard wheat. Transactions in June wheat, however, were small, and later deliveries in which main activity centered underwent setbacks to fresh bottom-record levels.

Corn also outdid previous low figures and gave evidence of fresh bearish effects of Farm Board refusal to support 1931 crops at above a world competitive export basis.

Wheat closed irregular, ¾c lower to 5c higher, corn ⅝ to 1c down, oats ½ off to a shade up, and provisions at 10 to 17c decline.

Many brokers who have devoted themselves almost exclusively to the corn market for a number of weeks were back in the wheat pit today and wheat dealings were nearer normal as to volume and in other respects than for a long time past. Announcements that the Federal Farm Board would keep hands off in regard to the 1931 crop appeared to have stimulated a renewal of trade interest, and some wheat operators expressed belief that within a week they would be doing business again in the regular wheat pit, vacated some time ago when corn became more active, largely influencing the course of values were continued spreading operations between Chicago and Winnipeg to restore Chicago prices to a world parity, and resulting in downturns here.

Enlarged export offerings of wheat by Canada, Argentina and Russia were a bearish factor and so, too, was favorable weather in domestic wheat territory, especially the Northwest and Middle West. Another unsettling influence was weakness of corn, a result of closing of spreads between corn and wheat, making corn temporarily a target for bears. All deliveries of corn except March fell to below the season bottom-price record.

The fact that corn prices were still conspicuously high compared to other grains made it difficult to bring new buying into corn, shipping demand for corn, better yesterday, was again slow today. Oats were easy, affected by weakness of other cereals.

Provisions sympathized with grains, notwithstanding upturns in hog values.

GERMAN BONDS SAG ON IRREGULAR MART

Domestic Corporate Issues Also Develop Trend to Lower Prices.

New York, March 24 (A.P.).—The bond market was irregularly lower today. Declines were most frequent among foreign government obligations.

With few exceptions German corporate and governmental issues lost ground. Berlin City Electric 6½s of 1951, German Agricultural Bank 6s of July and of October 1960, the 5½s of the National Government, which were one of the most active issues of the whole list and Hamburg 6s, dropped about 1 point each from steady selling pressure. The recessions of most other German issues were fractional. The weakness was far from exclusive to the German obligations. Argentine series A 6s, and the 6s of May 1961, Australian 5s of 1955, both issues of Brazilian 6½s, Colombia 6s of October 1961 and Rio Grande Do Sul 8s and 7s, all receded. The section of this group was ascribed to recent reports of political unsettlement in Europe. Gains were few but Italian 7s reached a new 1931 high at 100½. United States Government obligations were lower on moderate sales.

Domestic corporate bonds developed a downward trend also but the movement was less marked among them. International Match 5s was one of the most active of all issues and lost a substantial fraction. Texas Corporation 5s was another active convertible obligation to close lower. Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s of 1949 and Warner Brothers Pictures 6s were active and closed higher. Most other convertible liens were quiet but firm.

The more active rail and industrial bonds were usually lower. Public utility obligations were firm on a moderate volume.

The State of West Virginia awarded $5,000,000 of 3¾ and 4½ per cent road bonds today to a syndicate headed by the Chase Securities Corporation at 100.0121 per cent of par. They are being offered to yield from 2.35 to 3.77 per cent.

LOADING OF FREIGHT INCREASES IN WEEK

Pennsylvania Road Expended $71,000,000 During 1930 on Equipment.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended March 14, latest reported period, totaled 734,262 cars, the car service division of the American Railway Association announced yesterday. This was an increase of 10,728 above the preceding week but a reduction of 147,046 cars below the corresponding week last year. It was also a reduction of 224,339 cars below the comparative week in 1929.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's investment in its road and equipment amounted last year to more than $1,250,000,000, it was disclosed in the general balance sheet of the railroad made public yesterday, giving the financial condition of the company as of December 31, 1930.

More than $71,000,000 was added to the railroad's investment in road and equipment last year. Despite disturbed business conditions and were the largest in many years. duced revenues, these expenditures

Contest Finals Announced.

Finals in the contest for members of the public speaking class of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, will be held tonight at the chapter rooms in the Becker Building, beginning at 8 o'clock. The winner will receive the silver trophy donated by Vice President Wilmer J. Waller, Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co.

Finalists are H. F. Kimball, Alfred W. Sherman and Miss Mildred C. Woodcock, American Security & Trust Co., and Aubrey O. Dooley, Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co. The subject on which they will speak is "The Banker as a Stabilizer of Business." Each speaker will be allowed eight minutes.

Judges of the finals are George O. Vass, vice president and cashier, Riggs National Bank, and secretary of the District of Columbia Bankers Association; Mrs. Anne Tillery Renshaw, dean of the Renshaw School of Exposition, and a member of the institute faculty; Judge James M. Proctor, District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Council at Augusta.

Among local bankers who contemplate attending the April meeting of the executive council of the American Bankers Association at Augusta, Ga., are President Francis G. Addison, jr., Security Savings & Commercial Bank; President Lanier P. McLachlen, McLachlen Banking Corporation; President Robert V. Fleming, Riggs National Bank; President George O. Walson, Liberty National Bank; President John Poole, Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co.; Vice President Howard Moran, American Security & Trust Co., E. E. Mountjoy, local representative of the American Bankers Association, and Manager Frank S. Hight, Willard Hotel, who is a bank director.

Thomas J. Groom, vice president and cashier, Bank of Commerce & Savings, who is chairman of the committee on standardized forms of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, has called a meeting of that committee for tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at association headquarters in the Becker Building.

It was announced yesterday that consolidated net income of United Aircraft & Transport Corporation for the year ended December 31 is $2,582,206.63, equivalent after preferred dividends, to $1.28 per share.

Curb Review

New York, March 24 (A.P.).—Curb shares eddied about uncertainly in another session of slow trading today.

Pools continued to display their favorites at rising prices, particularly during the afternoon, as prices turned upward on the big board. There was liquidation in spots, however, and gains and losses about balanced at the finish. Transfers totaled 586,100 shares.

Oils softened somewhat, evidently reflecting advance estimates indicating a sharp gain in crude output last week. Humble and Vacuum lost about a point and Cities Service slipped back a fraction. Oil Stocks, Ltd., dropped a point to a new low at 3½.

In the industrials, Aluminum Co. of America, a Mellon enterprise, marked the birthday of a prominent member of that family by shooting up 20 points to 224, the best price of the year, it closed at 219. Cord Corporation followed the gyrations of Auburn on the big board with 2-point rise. It holds a majority interest in Auburn. Mead Johnson, Bower Roller Bearing and Aviation Corporation of the Americas sold up about 2 points.

In the lower priced group, Van Camp Packing rose a fraction to a new top, evidently reflecting announcement that it had made a contract with a large chain store system. Agfa Ansco, Aero Underwriters, American Yvette and Pitney Bows also recorded the best prices of the year. Swift Internacional and Zonite lost about a point each.

Utilities were mixed and moved rather narrowly for that group. Electric Bond & Share closed up a fraction, American Superpower off a fraction. American & Foreign Power Warrants gained nearly a point, while Brazilian Traction lost about as much. Coppers were quiet, with Newmont off a point.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ARLINGTON TO BUILD APPROACH FOR SPAN

Temporary Lead to Bridge Will Serve Traffic Pending Road Construction.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Construction this year of a temporary approach road to the new Arlington Memorial Bridge, pending such time as Government requires to build the first two miles of the Lee boulevard, is included in the plans of the Arlington County Board of Supervisors, as announced by B. M. Hedrick, of Arlington District, following a conference between the Board of Supervisors and Col. Grant and other members of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission yesterday.

Mr. Hedrick indicated that the choice of the temporary approach to be constructed by the county lay between the extension of Washington street through Fort Myer Heights and the extension of Whipple street in Radinor Heights, which would form a connecting link with the bridge plaza and the present military road in Radinor Heights. The Whipple street extension would follow the right-of-way of the Lee boulevard.

Advocates of the Washington street project through Fort Myer Heights point out that the Washington street approach will serve the Pershing drive traffic coming through Fort Myer, and will also give the residents of the thinly populated sections of Clarendon, Ballston, Aurora Heights, Lyon Village, Cherrydale and Falls Church a direct access to the bridge.

In addition to memorial bridge approach the conference also took up the matter of the development of the water front along the Virginia shore of the Potomac River in the vicinity of Rosslyn. The water front, which up to the present time the Federal authorities in cooperation with the civic organizations of the county have succeeded in protecting from the encroachment of commercial development, still, under the terms of the compromise agreed upon by the board of supervisors and the representatives of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, be given over to the development of a municipal wharf to be owned and operated by the county.

Opposition to the permit sought by the Sun Oil Co. for a permit to erect a wharf was based principally on its interference for the George Washington Memorial parkway. Under the compromise reached between the county and Federal authorities it is contemplated that both the wharf and the parkway shall go forward.

The financing of the construction of the county wharf, Mr. Hedrick indicated, is to be accomplished through a county bond issue, the proceeds of which are to be used to pay Virginia's share of the cost of acquiring the adjacent lands for incorporation in the parkway.

Neither the construction of the wharf by the county or the contribution on the part of the county out of the proceeds of a bond issue of the State's share of the cost of the memorial parkway can be put into effect until enabling legislation is enacted by the General Assembly which does not meet until 1932. By that time, it is pointed out, the new form of county government will have gone into effect and an entirely new governing board of five members will have taken the place of the present board of three supervisors. The compromise reached at yesterday's conference will not be binding upon the new county government, a fact which very largely deprives agreement pertaining to the river front development of its significance.

William D. Medley was elected president of the Lyon Village Citizens Association at its annual meeting held last night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Carl on Granada terrace. He succeeds Robert F. Freer, who declined to have his name placed in nomination.

Other officers are I. C. Buchanan vice president; H. A. Dailey secretary; Louis C. Carl, treasurer; and Mrs. Ruth L. Medley, assistant secretary, members of the executive committee are in addition to the above named officer Monroe H. Stockett, and Arthur Clark.

The association went on record as favoring Washington street from the intersection of Wilson boulevard and Court street as an adequate approach to the new Arlington Memorial Bridge.

The association also joined with the other civic bodies of the lower end of the county in their effort to have the county board of supervisors take steps to provide a county road connection with the Mount Vernon boulevard which is now in course of construction by the Federal Government. Following the announcement that the supervisors are now planning to make a large outlay of funds for the widening of Frazier avenue, it was voted to ask that this action be reconsidered and that funds be used for the Mount Vernon boulevard connection.

The Arlington County Republican Club holds its second social rally this evening in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon. President J. Foster Hagan announces that it is the plan of the club to hold a number of like rallies prior to the opening of the campaign for county officers. The election will take place in November.

The program will include a number of solos by Marion Moreland, Anna Mendel and May Hall; recitation by Mrs. Elsie Gordon, and a number of musical selections by George F. D. Rollings. The committee in charge of the arrangements is headed by Joshua MacPherson, and includes B. M. Hedrick, George F. D. Rollings, John P. Agnew and Ray Cogswell.

Election of officers will be the principal business at the monthly meeting of Mary Washington Chapter, No. 50, Order of the Eastern Star, which will be held Friday evening in the Masonic Temple at Clarendon.

Miss Mary Anderson, head of the Woman's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, and Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, of Colorado, presidential commissioner of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission and past national president of the Federation of Woman's Clubs are announced as the principal speakers at the March meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County, which will be held today in the Calvary Methodist Protestant Church in Aurora Hills.

The business meeting will be preceded by a luncheon which will be served promptly at 12:30 o'clock.

Miss Anderson will speak of the advantages to be gained by possible changes in the Virginia laws, which will be of benefit to Virginia women in the business world. Mrs. Sherman will discuss the plans for the bicentennial celebration and bring to the women of Arlington County concrete suggestions as to what they may do in aiding the bicentennial commission in its plans to make the celebration next year the biggest event in history.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will hold its weekly luncheon meeting tomorrow at Windsor Arms, in Glebe road at 12 o'clock.

LEGION AUXILIARY'S PRESIDENT TO VISIT

Mrs. Hoyal to Be Present at Fredericksburg Session Called April 2.

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., March 24.—Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal, national president of the American Legion Auiliary, will arrive here April 2 to attend a called joint meeting of the first and eighth district committees. Mrs. Hoyal, who lives in Douglas, Ariz., has never attended a Virginia auxiliary session.

Mrs. B. M. Roszel, president of the Virginia Auxiliaries, past presidents and delegates from the eight units in the first and eighth districts will be present.

The local auxiliary and Post No. 55, American Legion, have planned to hold the business meeting in the Legion Hall at 11 a. m. The visitors will be entertained at luncheon in the Continental Tearoom, in the lower floor of the Masonic Lodge, No. 4, in which Washington was made a Mason. Mrs. Hoyal and Mrs. Roszel and members of the legion post, including M. M. Lewis, post commander, will speak during the luncheon.

In the afternoon members of Post No. 55 will take the visitors on a sight-seeing tour of the city. They will visit the home of Mary Washington as guests of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities; the Battlefield Museum, as guests of Dr. William Jeffries Chewning, and the tomb of Mary Washington. At 4 o'clock they will visit Kenmore, home of Col. Fielding Lewis and his wife, Betty Washington, sister of the first President.

1,500 Attend Sale At Thaw's Estate

Prices Paid Termed "Fair" as Farming Equipment and Live Stock Go.

Winchester, Va., March 24 (A.P.).—A crowd estimated at 1,500 persons gathered from several nearby States in addition to Virginia attended the sale of live stock and farming equipment held today at Kenilworth, the farm of Harry K. Thaw, near here. Prices paid were considered "fair."

Top prices included $79 for horses, $86 for Jersey cows, $35 for hogs, $14 for a Jersey bull calf and $50 for heifers. Many of those who attended took no part in the sale and a number of candidates for political offices mingled in the crowd.

Mr. Thaw announced that he will give up dirt farming, but will continue to breed police dogs and will sow the entire acreage of his farm in clover and alfalfa.

Hotel, Property Sold in Virginia

County Clerk Disposes of Stafford Courthouse Structure.

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., March 24.—The Virginia Hotel, at Stafford Courthouse, which was owned by James Ashby, clerk of the county court, has been sold to E. B. Constantine, former operator of Austin Farms Tourist Camp, on the Richmond-Washington highway, several miles north of the hostelry.

Although not made public, it is understood the terms of the transaction indicated a considerable rise in value of county real estate. The hotel property is being conducted at present by B. J. Hayden, under a lease from Mr. Ashby. The new owner will assume charge when the lease expires in the next three months and will inaugurate several improvements and renovations. Included in the sale was the site of a service station which adjoins the hotel.

Prince Georges Youth Shot Near Annapolis

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 24.—Roy Noskey, 18, Prince Georges County boy who came in January as a helper on the Alvin Pheimes farm at Arnolda, five miles from Annapolis, is in a serious condition in Emergency Hospital here as a result of a gunshot wound in the left side of his head, believed to have been self-inflicted.

Noskey was found in his room in the Pheimes household by his employer's wife early this afternoon. No motive for the act has been advanced.

THE ONCE OVER

AN INDUSTRIALIST ENTERTAINS HIS BOY ERIENDS.

("At times during their gatherings Mr. Ford entertains Edison and Firestone with feats of strength and dexterity."—News item.)

MR. FORD—Look! Want to see me chin myself?

Mr. Edison—Jim who?

Mr. Ford—I say, do you want to see me CHIN myself?

Mr. Edison (to Mr. Firestone)—What you do think about it, Harvey?

Mr. Firestone—Oh, let him chin himself if he wants to.

Mr. Ford—Here goes! (He chins himself on a tree branch.) There!

Mr. Edison—What does it prove, Henry?

Mr. Ford—I'm not trying to prove anything. I can do another good trick.

Mr. Edison—You say your brother is good and sick?

Mr. Ford—No, I say I've got another good trick. Would you like to see me do the split?

Mr. Firestone—It's a desire that has always been suppressed, Henry, so far as I am concerned.

Mr. Edison (to Mr. Firestone)—What's he say he wants to do, Harvey?

Mr. Firestone—He's going to do the split.

Mr. Edison—I don't care much for that, Henry. I'd rather see you stand on your head or something.

Mr. Ford—That's easy. Whoopee! (He stands on his head.) There! Can you two fellers do it?

Mr. Edison—Even if I could I wouldn't.

* * * *

MR. FIRESTONE—How about turning a cartwheel? Are you any good at that, Henry?

Mr. Edison—Oh, yes; that's something I've been wanting to ask you to do for years, but it always slipped my mind. Can you turn cartwheels?

Mr. Ford (somewhat disappointedly)—Didn't I ever turn any cartwheels for you boys?

Mr. Edison—Never. I've always felt slighted.

Mr. Firestone—Tom and I were saying only yesterday that we thought it very strange you had always held out on us in the matter of turning cartwheels.

Mr. Ford—I thought I'd done it for you. Well, here goes. Allez oop (He turns a cartwheel quite nimbly.) Not bad, eh?

Mr. Edison—Not bad. Not good.

Mr. Firestone—Can you turn back handsprings?

Mr. Edison—I've always wondered about that, Henry.

Mr. Ford—No, but I can touch my toes with my fingers 50 times.

Mr. Edison—How many times?

Mr. Ford—Oh, about 40.

Mr. Firestone—How many?

Mr. Ford—Twenty-five or thirty.

Mr. Edison—Do the stockholders know it?

Mr. Ford—No, I'm saving it so I can surprise 'em some day.

* * * *

MR. EDISON—What other tricks do you know, Hen?

Mr. Ford—I can lift a cannon with my teeth if have a cannon.

Mr. Edison—Harvey, go get a cannon.

Mr. Firestone—Loaded or unloaded?

Mr. Edison (with finality)—Loaded, by all means.

Medal Awarded For Valor of Dog

Virginia Hound Saves Life of Collie at Bottom of 40-Foot Shaft.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., March 24.—"Red," a coon dog belonging to A. A. Babcock, of Gladstone, this afternoon was awarded a Spratt dog hero medal at Sweet Briar College. The award was for saving the life of a collie dog at Gladstone a year ago.

"Red" fed the collie his own food for a week and when followed, the collie was located at the bottom of an abandoned 40 foot shaft, three miles from the dog's home.

The presentation was made by J. M. B. Lewis, president of Virginia Fox Hunters Association.

WELL WATER USED BY MOST VIRGINIANS

Survey Reveals 40 Per Cent of Population Served by Public Supplies.

Blacksburg, Va., March 24 (A.P.).—Most Virginians still obtain water from their own wells or springs, but this is because a majority live in small communities or on farms, an article in the April Technical Topics, issued monthly by the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, asserts.

There has been a decided increase in recent years in the number of persons served by public water supplies, the article continues. In 1900 only 20.3 per cent of the population was served by public supplies, while in 1930 nearly 40 per cent were so supplied.

Of even greater interest, according to the article, is the fact that at the beginning of the century, 81.8 per cent of the people served by public water supplies used water from untreated supplies, but by 1930, only 8.8 per cent received untreated water.

That there is a high correlation between the death rate from typhoid fever and the number of persons using untreated water was shown in a tabulation included with the article. It showed that in 1910 when 64.8 per cent of persons using public supply received untreated water there were 12,447 typhoid fever cases with 1,063 deaths, or 51.6 per 100,000 population. In 1920 when 18.8 per cent were using untreated water there were 2,809 estimated typhoid fever cases, with 260 deaths, or 11.2 per 100,000 population.

In 1929-30, when 8.8 per cent were using untreated water, there were 1,184 typhoid cases with 121 deaths, or 4.6 per 100,000 population.

Another table with the article showed the percentage of the population using untreated water, filtered water, filtered and chlorinated water, and water which had been chlorinated only. This information was given for 1900, 1920 and 1930. During 1930, 84,605 persons, or 3.5 per cent, were using untreated water; 45,040 persons, or 1.9 per cent, were using water which had been filtered only; 676,450 persons, or 28 per cent, were using water which had been filtered and chlorinated, and 158,097 persons, or 6.5 per cent, were using chlorinated water.

Dinwiddie County W.C.T.U. Convenes

Reports and Addresses Are Featured at Meeting in Petersburg.

Petersburg, Va., March 24.—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Dinwiddie County held its annual meeting today at High Street M. E. Church with a large attendance of delegates from various unions in the county.

The morning session was occupied in discussing State and national affairs with addresses by several delegates. In the afternoon reports were submitted and discussed. The convention was addressed by Mrs. Etta Brown, State director of medical temperance, and Mrs. E. P. Allgood, State director of evangelism, who spoke on the scope of work of both departments and plans for the exhibits at county fairs.

Steel Is Removed From Man's Brain

Virginian Doing 'Splendidly' Following Dangerous Skull Operation.

Bristol, Va., March 24 (A.P.).—Doctors tonight described as "splendid" the condition of Augustus Fair, 25, who yesterday was the subject of an operation for removal of a knife blade tip that had been in his skull and brain for a month.

Fair was stabbed in the left ear on February 22. The cut healed on the outside and it was not known until an X-ray picture was made on Saturday that the tip of the blade had remained in his head. When the piece of metal was removed it was found to be approximately an inch and a half in length. Most of it, which has lodged in the bone, was rusty, but a bright tip of a quarter of an inch showed where it had penetrated into the brain.

Strong physique of the patient makes attending physicians believe that he has an excellent chance of fighting off dangerous infections which might still develop in the form of meningitis or a brain abscess.

Herman C. Miller Dies.

Lynchburg, Va., March 24 (Special).—Herman C. Miller, 55, assistant treasurer of Craddock Terry Shoe Co., died early today at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. His body was brought home tonight. He lived here 25 years and was a steward of Court Street Methodist Church. His widow and a daughter survive.

POLICE NOMINATED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Only Two Members of Present Force on List Given by Sheriff.

Only two members of the present county police force are included in the list of ten names from which new appointments to the force will be made by the Prince Georges County commissioners, the two being Claude Reese and Frank Prince. The list was submitted to the commissioners by Sheriff W. C. Hopkins, and is made up of five Democrats and five Republicans.

Others on the list are Roger Oursler, a constable, Andrew Gasch, a constable, Leroy Hopkins, Harry Sweeney, a former sheriff; Bernard Beall, Frazier Butler, Harry Crozier, and L. E. Dutrow, a deputy sheriff.

No action has been taken toward the appointment of any of those, as the list was only given to the board of commissioners yesterday. The commissioners may ask Sheriff Hopkins to submit more names if they are unable to complete the force from those nominated by him. Not less than two and not more than six appointments are to be made under the present law.

Under the present law, the appointments are to be made for two years, although it may be possible for the commissioners to make them for a lesser period. Owing to the fact that the new police bill is expected to go into effect on June 1, it is possible that none of the names submitted may be selected, the job of giving police protection falling on the constables in each district until the first of June. If this is not done, it is likely the appointments will be made for the shorter period. The new police bill, however, has not yet been introduced in the Legislature and it may possibly fail to pass in the last minute rush.

A hearing will be held this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Retta D. Morris, in Hyattsville, in connection with a raid made on the home of Michael J. Sullivan in Cheverly yesterday morning, when six high school pupils were found. Three girls and four boys were taken, but no charges were placed against them.

No liquor was found in the house during the raid, which was made on complaints from neighbors. Mr. Sullivan was not at home at the time, although his son, Michael, Jr., was present. The girls gave their ages as 15, while the boys' ages ranged from 15 to 17. Mr. Sullivan said last night the girls were not in the house at the time of the raid and that his son was coming out when the officers arrived.

A mother was slightly burned about the hands and her 1-year-old son was barely saved from the flames when a furnace exploded in their home in Bladensburg yesterday, setting fire to the house. The home and furnishings were destroyed, with an estimated damage of $10,000.

Mrs. Elsie Arnold was burned on her hands when she tried to phone for fire apparatus after the explosion. The child, Leroy, who was ill with pneumonia, was saved by Dr. Thomas Latimer, who was treating the child at the time of the explosion.

Fire apparatus from Bladensburg, Mount Rainier, Cottage City, Brentwood and Hyattsville responded to the alarm.

The county commissioners yesterday appropriated $600 for erection of a fire lookout tower at Springfield, in the north section of the county. Anne Arundel County has given $400 to the structure, and persons whose property will be protected have raised $235. The remainder will be borne by the State.

An unusual claim was filed yesterday with the commissioners by Elzie Parker, who asks $250 because he had to dig ditches to divert a stream from his land. He says that work on a road near Brown's Station caused a small stream to flow across his tobacco crop and that he had to put in ditches to save the crop. The county's road work, he says, dammed up the stream and caused it to change its course. S. Marvin Peach is his attorney.

The commissioners decided yesterday that the county budget for the next year would be signed Monday morning at 11 o'clock. The county tax rate for the next year will not be known until the levy is made public.

Boykins E. Watson and George P. Adams were appointed to the Aquasco road committee in place of W. R. C. Connick and J. Burns Wilson, resigned. W. B. Penwick, H. S. Connick and C. O. Turner were appointed a board of examiners to report on the need for a new county road in that district. The proposed road will be about 300 yards long, into the Aquasco School.

Two hundred dollars will be taken from the county's bridge fund for filling at the approaches to the Rock Branch Bridge. The remainder will be taken from the road fund.

The commissioners authorized John Berberick, road supervisor, to spend not more than $500 for repairs to the Metzerott Road Bridge. Mr. Berberick appeared before the board and reported that the bridge was in bad condition.

A letter from Charles Christiansen complaining about the depredations of boys in the neighborhood was also received and turned over to county police for action. Christiansen said that a house in College Park belonging to him was being wrecked by boys, who were breaking windows and damaging the roof.

Alleging that Florence J. Andrews, his wife, moved the furniture out of their home while he was at work and left his two children by a previous marriage without protection, William A. Andres, of Fairmont Heights, yesterday filed suit for absolute divorce in the circuit court at Upper Marlboro.

The man's petition, filed through Attorney William I. Blake, of Washington, states that they married in Croome in 1927. In February, 1928, the woman deserted him, he claims, taking the furniture with her.

Missing Girl Is Sought By Father in Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

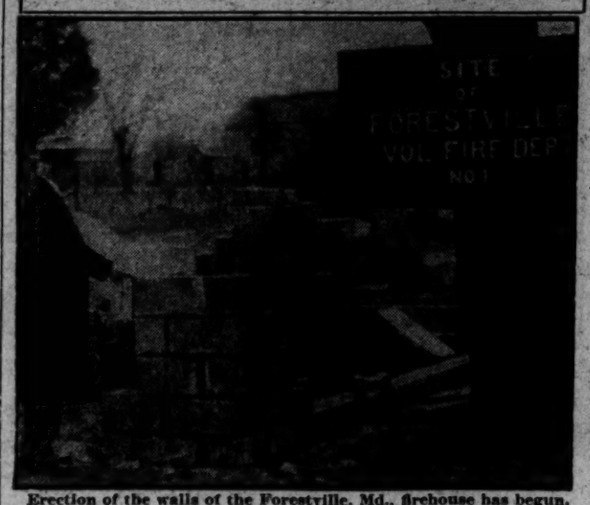
Danville, Va., March 24.—Pittsylvania police authorities today were asked to aid in the search for Ruby Lewis, 16, daughter of Wyatt Lewis, who lives 15 miles from Danville on the Martinsburg road, who has been missing since last Tuesday.

The girl was last seen by her family going to get milk at a house not far away. Later the milk bucket was found in the yard of a Negro cabin. She is reported to have been see the same afternoon talking to a man in an automobile.

Collision Hurts Maryland Couple.

Fayetteville, N. C., March 24 (A.P.).—Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Hoff, Hagerstown, Md.; Dr. P. V. Fleming and brother, R. L. Fleming, Harrisburg, Pa., were slightly injured in an automobile collision near here today.

FIRE HOUSE WALLS BEGUN



Erection of the walls of the Forestville, Md., firehouse has begun, although the corner stone has not been laid. Persons in the community bought the blocks of which the building will be constructed and gave them to the fire department, which was organized only a few months ago.

FOUR FROM CAPITAL HURT IN AUTO CRASH

One Man Seriously Injured; Driver Given Jail Term; Two Women Cut.

One Washington man was seriously injured and his three companions, all of this city, suffered minor hurts in a triple automobile crash on the Baltimore boulevard near Elk Ridge early yesterday morning, which sent thirteen persons to University Hospital in Baltimore.

James A. Thurman, 42 years old, independent investment broker, of the Cromwell Apartments, 1445 Spring road northwest, received serious hurts about the body and possible internal injuries.

The three companions, who received treatment and left the hospital, were Melvin R. Smith, 27 years old, proprietor of an automobile shop, of an Eighth street residence near G street southwest, who suffered deep lacerations about the nose, face and neck; Mrs. Louise Mayle, 23 years old, who suffered cuts and bruises, and Miss Helen Wierson, 24 years old, who suffered deep lacerations on the face and around the eyes. Both women live at a K street residence near First street northwest.

Smith Gets Jail Sentence.

Upon dismissal from the hospital, Smith was arrested and taken to the police station in Halethorpe, a short distance south of Baltimore close to the wreck scene. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail by Magistrate Richard Stapleton there, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The two women, riding with Smith and Thurman, were held by the magistrate on $500 bond each and sent to the Towson Jail pending the outcome of injuries by several persons in the crash.

The accident occurred when the machine, driven by Smith and Washington-bound from Baltimore, collided a few moments apart with two northbound automobiles occupied by Negroes journeying as a party from Aiken, S. C., to Jamaica, N. Y.

Crashed Into Two Cars.

Halethorpe station police said witnesses told them that the Washington machine veered sharply on the Patapsco River Bridge and struck the leading Negro car and then careened into the second on-coming automobile. Smith's car and the second Negro machine were badly damaged.

Two of the Negroes were seriously hurt. They were Walter Richardson, of Aiken, and Mary Bacon, of Bath, S. C.

Burlasque Seeks $5,000 Damages After Arrest

Suits for $5,000 damages have been filed in clerk's office at Arlington County against Henry Rinke, Second Precinct detective, and Frank Sacks, proprietor of the Rite-way Auto Top Co., by R. J. Burlasque through his attorney, Thomas W Phillips.

Attorney Phillips stated last night that the suits are the results of the search warrant claimed to have been sworn out by Detective Rinke which resulted in the arrest of Burlasque on a charge of larceny of a piece of slip-cover material. Burlasque was fined $19.25, including costs, in the Arlington County police court by Judge Thomas. An appeal has been taken.

$1,203 CONTRIBUTED TO AMBULANCE FUND

Alexandria Continues Drive With Half-Way Mark Nearly Reached.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The drive for funds to purchase an ambulance for the use of the rescue squad of the Alexandria Volunteer Fire Department, which is being conducted under auspices of Potomac Company, No. 2, has yielded, since the last report, $203, bringing the total to date to $1,203. The goal is $3,000. The firemen have placed the goal for this week at $297.

They request that those wishing to donate to this cause mail checks to Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., or to Samuel B. DeVaughan, chairman of the fund, before April 30.

The rescue squad, which was formed several months ago, has attended every fire and has done good work in caring for injured persons. The firemen announce that the use of the ambulance, when acquired, will be free to all.

Several days ago the statement was made that when a Chinese boy applied for entrance in the public school it was the first time such a thing had occurred. This has brought forth the fact that half a century ago the late Capt. Wood, who sailed from San Francisco, brought a Chinese boy back with him to live at his home here. The boy attended the public schools of this city. After reaching manhood he was employed by the Southern Railway Co. and died about twenty years ago.

James W. Warren and wife have sold to Oscar W. Groves and wife a house and lot, 304 South Fairfax street, and the deed of transfer has been placed in the office of the Corporation Court.

The Alexandria Hospital managers have issued the fifty-eighth annual report of that institution, showing receipts of $64,249.60 and disbursements of $63,877.33, leaving a balance of cash on hand as of January 31, 1931, of $372.27.

Nicholas Lincoln, known as "Nick the Iceman," one of the most popular characters in the city, who died Saturday night, may be buried in the potter's field, despite the fact that more than 300 persons who knew him visited Wheatley's Funeral Home on Monday to view his body, and as many more called yesterday, all apparently unaware that in his lifetime he had made money and cared so little for it except to help all that called upon him, that now all efforts to find any "estate" have failed. Unless some one comes forward to donate a grave in one of the cemeteries there will be an unmarked grave for a man who gave away his all in life.

Nick was a native of Russia and when he became naturalized several years ago the court assigned him the name of Lincoln.

Henry Brewood, of Washington, has given a lot at DeWitt and Raymond avenues, Potomac, as a site for a new church building for the Christian Church now located at Mount Vernon avenue and Glebe road. Ralph W. Frame accepted the gift on behalf of the congregation.

BILL TO MODERNIZE POLICE IS OFFERED

Prince Georges Asks for Change; Legislature Gets New Measures.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 24.—With the last call for presenting proposed new legislation at hand a number of introductions marked both the Senate and House sessions today.

Representatives from the Maryland areas adjacent to Washington, Prince Georges and Montgomery Counties, came in for their share of bills embodying local legislation, five emanating from the Prince Georges delegation in the House. Two measures were presented by Senator Robert G. Hilton.

The most important Prince Georges County bill was the new police bill, which raises the county force from four to eleven men and provides for a substation at Hyattsville and a station at Marlboro, both to be open 24 hours a day with at least one man always on duty.

The bill takes command of the force away from the sheriff and puts it under a chief directly responsible to the county commissioners, who appoint the members. In addition to the chief, there will be two sergeants.

Chief's Salary $2,100 Annually.

The chief will receive a salary of $2,100 per year with an allowance for auto upkeep and uniforms. Sergeants will receive $1,800 with the same allowance and the salary of other members will be $1,500, with an allowance. The commissioners may also decide what policemen shall operate motorcycles. The commissioners will continue to furnish the policemen's cars and will furnish the equipment of the headquarters and substation.

The delegation also joined in presenting the following other measures:

Authorizing the judges of the circuit court to appoint a stenographer for service to the grand jury, who while not so engaged would serve as the official stenographer to the State's attorney, as well as be subject to call for court service. The salary of the position is fixed at $1,200 a year.

Empowering the county commissioners to appoint a commission of five citizens of Eagle Harbor for terms of two years, to have control over all parks and public squares in that community.

Would Regulate Bonds.

Laying down regulations governing bonds and securities, accepted by police justices in crimnal cases, the idea being that sureties such as real estate should be free of encumbrances to the amount of the bond, and providing a penalty for police justices violating the act.

Kent R. Mullikin, chairman of the delegation, introduced by request a bill authorizing the Lincoln Memorial Cemetery Corporation to purchase 65 acres, the residue of a 165-acre tract of land near Suitland, for cemetery purposes. The property is known as the Joseph A. Baker tract.

The Montgomery County commissioners would be required to make a special levy to produce $1,000 annually for the general maintenance of the community house and development of surrounding grounds in subdivision 1 of Battery Park, Montgomery County, under the terms of a bill fathered by Senator Hilton.

Confirms Act of 1922.

The bill reenacts the act of 1922, which provided for the establishment of the community house. Under the law the funds are payable to the treasurer of the Citizens Association of Battery Park.

The other measure by Senator Hilton amends the Washington suburban sanitary district act, by providing that water to the extent of 100 gallons daily per inmate be provided gratis to charitable institutions, subject only to minimum charge for meter readings and the current rate if the supply exceeds the stipulated amount.

A bill asking for tax exemption on railroad property, due to the stringency of the times, fourth of the kind to be offered in the Maryland General Assembly, was presented in the Senate today jointly by Senators Bassoer, of Prince Georges County, and Webster, Calvert County.

Asked for Resort Line.

The measure is for the relief of the Chesapeake Beach Railroad, which operates between a resort of that name on Chesapeake Bay, and the Washington District line. Exemption for a two-year period is sought.

The other roads seeking exemption are the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Electric, now in receivership; the Emmittsburg Railroad and the Washington, Brandywine & Point Lookout Road. The bill in behalf of the W. B. & A. has already passed the Senate and is now in House committee. Introduced by Senator Frick, Baltimore City, the measure asked for a four-year exemption, but the Senate amended it by reducing the period to two.

Advocates of pending legislation for modification or to wipe Sunday laws from the statute books entirely found new hope today following the announcement by Gov Ritchie that he hoped the Legislaure would "find a way" to settle the issue, at least so far as giving Baltimore City home rule is concerned.

Proponents Given Hearing.

On the heels of this announcement, proponents of the bill by Speaker Francis A. Michel, of the House, were given a hearing before the Senate judicial proceedings committee. The Michel bill which is State-wide in scope on home rule for Baltimore City and towns having 6,000 or more population, passed the lower branch by a substantial majority.

Delegates of business and professional men, and representatives of various organizations in Baltimore had their say before the Senate group and strong pleas in behalf of abrogating the ancient Sunday laws were advanced.

Maryland Girl Is Hurt By Automobile Glass

Agnes Norris, 20, of Leonardtown, Md., was injured yesterday by flying glass when an automobile in which she was riding collided with a street car at Fourth street and Florida avenue northwest.

The car was operated by J. H. Hennage. She was taken to Garfield Hospital in a passing automobile and treated for lacerations to the forehead and face. She was later taken home.

Former Officer Accused of Theft.

Martinsburg, W. Va., March 24 (Special).—William H. Barber, former county traffic officer, was arrested here yesterday on a warrant charging him with the larceny of $57 from R. L. Manor, this city. Late today he had not been able to obtain bail and was still in custody.
